Solon Says Civil Rights Bill Can Win

Knowland Feels Jury Trial Can Be Eliminated

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R - Calif) expressed confidence today that supporters of the administration's civil rights bill can defeat efforts to provide for jury trials in the protection of voting rights.

But he conceded to newsmen that backers of the bill have a nip-and-tuck fight on their hands in trying to retain another section providing new powers for the attorney general to enforce other civil rights.

This latter section, Part 3 of the House-approved bill, has drawn the heaviest fire of Southern opponents. It covers civil rights in general, including racial desegregation of schools and other public places under decisions of the Supreme Court.

'Very Close'

Knowland, the Senate GOP leader, said that the vote on an amendment of Sens. Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-Vt) to strike out this part of the bill will be "very close."

He said senators who favor erasing Part 3 are about evenly balanced with those who don't. He added that a considerable number of senators would favor a substitute modifying this section of the bill, if one could be agreed on.

But Knowland said that many of these senators may vote to wipe out Part 3 if no substitute for it can be worked out.

Knowland announced late yesterday that he had dropped his efforts to work out a substitute after concluding that no agreement on language to soften the terms of Part 3 could be reached with Northern Democratic supporters of the bill and others.

Almost simultaneously, Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn), a spokesman for the Northern Democrats, announced that he would not offer a substitute that he and others had framed.

State Views

An Associated Press canvass found 64 Senators willing to state their views on the question of confining the enforcement powers to voting rights. Of these 40 favored such a limitation and 24 opposed. There are 95 senators and if all were present it would take 48 votes to pass any amendment.

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), leader of the Dixie forces, said he was "very hopeful" that the Senate

4 Persons Die In Mississippi Train-Car Crash

CLARKSDALE, Miss., July 20 (AP)—Four persons were killed today in a car-train crash at a crossing three miles south of here.

One victim, apparently the driver, was identified from papers in his wallet as Clinton Cain, 31, of 103 Third Ave., Joliet, Ill.

The other three were a woman and two young girls. All four were white.

The crash took place at a gravel road crossing at the rural community of Davenport as the Illinois Central passenger train, No. 24 or "Planter" was en route back to Memphis, Tenn., from its daily run to Greenville.

100 Feet Ahead

The engineer, W. G. Kinney of Memphis, said the car started across the track about 100 feet ahead of him and then appeared to stop or stall on the rails. The vehicle was dragged about one-third of a mile and almost cut in two.

There is no automatic warning signal at the crossing. Visibility is good at the site.

Officers said both the car and train were traveling north, the car on the gravel, which parralleis the track.

Petition Seeks Gravel's Ouster

BERNICE, La. July 20—UP—A petition calling for the recall of National Committeeman Camille Gravel Jr. is being circulated among members of the state's Democratic central committee, vice-chairman Jett M. Talbot said today.

The removal petition asks state chairman Rufus Hayes to call a special meeting of the committee for the express purpose of discharging Gravel and electing a Democrat who would represent the Louisiana Democratic party, Talbot said.

He signed the petition himself, he said, but couldn't say just how many others have signed.

REJOINS HUSBAND

Beauty Admits Second Marriage

BALTIMORE, July 20 (AP)—A raven-haired young mother who lost her national beauty crown when it was discovered she was married today admitted the marriage was her second.

Mrs. Mary Leona Gage Ennis, who won the Miss United States title with a grand deception, vowed: "I'm never going to tell another lie. Everything I tell you from now on will be the truth."

The 18-year-old beauty said of the first marriage, "It wasn't really a marriage at all." Mrs. Ennis said she was but 14 when she married an airman named Edward Thacker at a town in Oklahoma in November 1953. She couldn't recall the town and couldn't say where Thacker lives.

The marriage lasted only one day and was later annulled, she said. A girl friend talked her into it, Mrs. Ennis said.

Another Behind It

It also was a girl friend who masterminded the "miss" masquerade which took Leona to the Miss Universe contest in Long Beach, Calif.

When contest officials learned their Miss United States actually was a Mrs. they took back the crown and sent her home.

She flew in from the West Coast today to the embrace of Sgt. Gene Norris Ennis, the husband she had denied, and one of her two children, 2-year-old Nathan David.

After a flurry of excitement at the airport, she was hustled away for a change of clothing a quick rest and then to a downtown hotel for a press conference.

She handled the intensive questioning with poise and faltered

Jes' Ramblin'

In the hurly burly of life, we often overlook progress along certain lines, such as the many school buildings of modern type, the numerous new business ventures like motels - a word unknown a few years ago and now so numerous. In this progressive age we are no longer much surprised at the unusual and tremendous progress of churches all around us today.

Rev. A. T. Mitchell, dynamic, tireless pastor of Ridge Avenue Baptist Church in West Monroe, invited by the Monroe Civitan club last week, gave a highly informative talk to show what churches have done in the Twin City area in approximately 17 years. Today the leading churches of the Twin Cities are spreading out here and there. Today numerically the Methodists and Baptists seem to be in the lead, but Presbyterians are spreading out and the Episcopal churches are sponsoring mission churches in West Monroe, the college area, and South Monroe.

Catholic churches also are expanding in both cities and are still starting on further expansion.

Pipes No. 1 Finaled With Gas Distillate

By BILL COLEMAN
Staff Writer

The Arkansas - Louisiana Gas' Pipes No. 1 well in the Ouachita parish was finaled late yesterday afternoon with an estimated 10 to 12 million cubic feet of gas on a 19-64 choke. It came in with a roar that could be heard for half a mile as gas and water rushed into the burning pit at a pressure of 7,300 pounds.

The well is located in section 33, township 18 north, range 1 east in the Wildcat field of Ouachita parish, 15 miles west of Monroe, 1½ miles south of Calhoun and six miles north east of the Golson field, which produces oil from the Cadeville sand of the Cotton Valley, and 15 miles east of the Ruston field, a major north Louisiana Cotton Valley gas-distillate field.

The well was completed in the Ouachita sand of the Cotton Valley series from perforations at 9,121 to 9,124 feet where electric log showed three feet of sand.

Company officials felt confident that the well will be a good producer either of a gas-distillate or a high ratio oil.

The well was shut in at 5 p.m. with a well-head pressure of 6,000

Six Stabbed In Mixed Brawling

GLOUCESTER, N. J., July 20 (UP)—Six persons were stabbed early today in a free-for-all tavern brawl between whites and Negroes involving some 80 persons.

Police from three towns used nightsticks and fired their pistols in the air to quell the fight.

Eight persons were arrested on disorderly conduct charges and one other, Shelton Jordan, 31, a Negro, was charged with assault and battery.

Police said the brawl started when several Negroes, who worked in a manufacturing plant across the street from the tap-room and who were in the habit of eating lunch in the place, walked in Friday night.

Some of the white patrons resented their presence and a fight started, with the Negroes apparently getting the best of it, police said. The white patrons left, rounded up a gang and returned and fighting flared up again.

Gloucester Patrolman Ernest Uibel, acting desk sergeant, sent his night force of two men to the scene in answer to a call of a disturbance.

Within a few minutes, he received a radio report that the fighting was out of control. Uibel appealed for reinforcements from the nearby communities of Westville and Brooklawn and two additional policemen reported.

After the melee was finally broken up, the six injured were treated for stab wounds, cuts and bruises at Cooper Memorial hospital in nearby Camden.

CHAMPAGNE BUBBLES

NEW ORLEANS, July 20 (UP)—Nine bearded jet pilots hoisted glasses of chilled, bubbling champagne today after dropping the anchor of their homemade raft, the "Sonic Rebel", here at the end of their 434-mile voyage down the Mississippi river.

The pilot-crewmen, members of the 3505th pilot training wing at the Greenville Air Force Base, Miss., were happy to leave the unique river vessel constructed of telephone poles and empty oil drums which they built themselves on July Fourth.

Wanting a change of pace, the airmen got it while floating down the Mississippi river for a week at speeds ranging up to three miles an hour.

This Is It

Upon landing, Lt. Col. Marshall Smith of Waco, Tex., declared, "This is it. We made it. But we're not going to be in a rush to do it again."

"If we do anything again it'll be climb a mountain," Lt. Steve O'Brien of Los Angeles, Calif., said.

"Definitely," agreed Lt. Frank Simpson of the Bronx, N.Y.

The men, wearing the oldest clothes they owned, had not shaved since they departed Greenville, Miss. last Saturday. They reached the end of their Huck Finn voyage just three hours under seven days.

To stave off boredom the pilots said "we swam, fished and played the bongo drums to bring the natives out at night."

Beans, Beans, Beans

Lt. Col. W. O. Bellnoski of Willis, Tex., the raft's physician, reported there were no casualties.

"We only had one headache to cure—and that was my own."

During the night, three men stood watch while six slept.

Who thought up the idea of converting the telephone poles and 20 oil drums into a river raft?

TO KEEP TITLE

'Miss Universe' Under Age Limit

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 20 (AP)—Vivacious Glayds Zender, Peru's winning entry in the Miss Universe of 1958 contest, will keep the highly coveted title even though it was established today that she is not yet 18 years old.

The announcement that Miss Zender will retain the crown despite the fact that contest rules require entrants to be from 18 to 28 years of age was made by Lawrence Collins Jr., president of the sponsoring Long Beach International Beauty Congress.

The word came after a tense hour - long session with other beauty contest officials in a hotel room.

An embarrassing situation had developed meanwhile at the coronation ball on the Lafayette Hotel's first floor because Miss Peru was kept in her room on the third floor until the perspiring committee members reached their decision.

"We are going to accept Miss Peru as Miss Universe," said Collins. "We feel that her entry was made in good faith by herself and her family. Theirs is a leading industrial family in Peru."

Collins said the decision allowing Miss Peru to retain her crown was made after telephonic conferences with the Peruvian ambassador in Washington, Don Fernando Berckemeyer, and the Peruvian consul-general in Los Angeles.

The pagent chairman said there was a misunderstanding about Miss Zender's age.

He said that on the original application prepared in Peru her age was given as "18-anos"-18 years. This was on one side of the application. However, on the other side her birthdate was given as Oct. 19, 1939, a date that was confirmed today by her father. This makes her less than 18.

To further confuse the issue, an application which the father and daughter prepared after arriving here included a notation of her birthdate as "10-19-38."

Collins said he was authorized to quote the Peruvian ambassador in Washington, D.C., as saying:

"Anybody in Peru who is over

Clinton Case Goes To Jury Next Tuesday

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 20 (AP)—Defense lawyers expressed confidence today but shied away from predictions of a "grand slam" acquittal in the Clinton segregation trial.

The history-making case is expected to go to the all-white U. S. District Court jury Tuesday after both sides conclude their final arguments which begin Monday.

G. W. Williams of Baltimore, Md., veteran advocate of states' rights, in discussing the case with newsmen sounded a note of caution as to what the jury may do.

"This is Bible-belt country down here," he said, "and it is hard to say whether the jurors will follow the dictates of their Bible - belt consciences or their personal convictions against court-ordered integration."

Question Mark

One of the big question marks is whether the jury will be swayed by the attack on the Rev. Paul Turner, Clinton Baptist minister, during the racial disorders which swept Clinton, Tenn., 20 miles northwest of Knoxville, last Dec. 4.

Clyde Cook, 36, one of the remaining 11 defendants, has already been fined $50 for breach of peace and assault on Turner after the clergyman led six Negro pupils back to school through a jeering fist-waving mob. Cook has appealed.

Beyond Jurisdiction

The defense contends that Cook's offense properly lies within the realm of state or local courts and falls beyond the jurisdiction of the federal court.

Defense lawyers have further argued that Turner's role as a minister gave him no more excuse "than any other man" for getting into a fist fight with Cook.

Cook and nine other Clinton defendants are accused of conspiring with John Kasper, 27, Washington, D. C., White Citizens Council leader.

With Kasper, they are charged with criminal contempt for allegedly defying an injunction issued by U. S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor banning any act which might impede the court-ordered integration of Clinton's formerly all-white high school last fall.

Challenged Power

Throughout the trial, defense attorneys from six Southern states have challenged the power of a federal court to issue antiviolence decrees in segregation disputes and have accused the federal government of infringing on states' rights.

Also at stake in the trial, which may affect the whole course of integration in the South, are constitutional questions involving the right of free speech and assembly.

Defense lawyers argued yesterday that the federal injunctive power has created widespread "fear" among Southerners as to ALEXANDRIA, La., July 15 (AP)—Marvin Sharp, 22, of Rhinehart, La., died last night when an automobile left the road, struck an embankment and rebounded to the shoulder.

State police, who made the identification, said Sharp was riding with Bobby Phillips, 19, also of Rhinehart, when the accident occurred near Pollock.

Troopers booked Phillips for negligent homicide and driving without a license.

Beating Kills Georgia Tech Physics Prof

ATLANTA, July 20 (AP) — The death of a Georgia Tech associate professor today after a strange beating brought to four the number of persons slain in Atlanta in less than two weeks and led to a get tough order by Police Chief Herbert Jenkins.

He directed officers to round up all "known police characters, loafers and vagrants" in an all-out effort to solve three of the crimes. An Atlanta Negro has signed a statement admitting the other slaying.

Dr. William Knox Pursley, 32, a native of Clover, S. C., who taught optics in the physics department at Georgia Tech, died at Crawford Long Hospital some 25 hours after he was attacked and beaten by two youths.

He suffered a fractured skull and bruises and cuts on the body. A spokesman for the Fulton County coroner's office said an autopsy would be performed to determine the cause of death.

Assault Baffling

Detective Lt. R. F. Jordan, who is spearheading the investigation, called the assault baffling but said his men are working on the theory the associate professor was robbed.

"We were informed that Pursley usually carried a billfold," he said. "However, a rear pocket was ripped and we couldn't find a billfold. The same informant told us

HORROR LINGERS

Sheriff Releases Latest Cameron Disaster Count

LAKE CHARLES, La., July 20 (AP)—In the still lingering horror of Hurricane Audrey the cold accounting takes place. The dead and missing: over 500. The dollar loss: over 40 million.

Sheriff Henry Reid, in his latest report on the ravaged Cameron area, said 328 bodies had been recovered and 190 persons reported missing. The missing total probably is larger. Whole families may have drowned. Transient workers may have drowned. Unless their bodies turn up, they will not be reported.

There were other deaths outside of Cameron Parish. At least five died elsewhere in Louisiana. Texas reported 11 deaths, including nine who drowned when a boat sank offshore.

Crop Loss

The biggest money loss involved Louisiana crops. Sidney J. McCrory, Louisiana agriculture commissioner, estimated the state crop loss at 26 million dollars.

The General Adjustment Bureau, Inc., which handles insurance claims, said the June 27 hurricane brought 50,000 claims. This meant a total loss of 11 million dollars in insured property.

In the Cameron area, 600 buildings were destroyed. Also heavily damaged were the oil well rigs in the Gulf of Mexico. Some estimates place these damages between three and five million dollars.

McCrory also placed the state livestock loss at 35,000, valued at more than two million dollars.

Texas Losses

In Texas, hurricane Audrey did little farm and range damage. There was little harm to livestock and crops. The rice crop was not far enough advanced to be hurt.

But the Texas Department of Public Safety estimated property damage at six million dollars, with Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange receiving about one million dollars damage each. The General Adjustment Bureau said

Coroner To Probe New Confession

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 20 (UP)—Cuyahoga County Coroner Samuel R. Gerber, a key figure in the Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard murder case, said today he will go to Florida next week to question a convict who says he killed Marilyn Sheppard.

Gerber's decision was the first official move by Cuyahoga County officials, who prosecuted Dr. Sam, since the "confession" made in Deland, Fla., by Donald Joseph Wedler, 23.

Gerber also called upon Gov. C. William O'Neill to permit the state to be represented when Sheppard undergoes a lie-detector test in Columbus, probably next Tuesday. The test will be given by the unofficial court of last resort.

Will Go To Florida

The coroner indicated he will go to Florida Monday with one or two officers who were active in the investigation leading to Dr. Sam's conviction for the murder of his pregnant wife, Marilyn. She was beaten to death in her Bay Village, Ohio, home near Cleveland on July 4, 1954. Sheppard pleaded innocent but was sentenced to life in prison for the crime.

Gerber said he was "hopelessly confused" by developments in Florida, where a lie-detector test showed Wedler thought he was telling the truth when he said he believes he beat Mrs. Sheppard to death.

Gerber told the governor he felt officials responsible for handling the case should be represented

Wedler Locates Spot He Tossed Murder Weapon

DELAND, Fla., July 20 (UP)—Donald Joseph Wedler, self-confessed slayer of Marilyn Sheppard, today pinpointed the location of the angular pipe he said he used to bludgeon the Cleveland matron to death in 1954.

Wedler said he killed Mrs. Sheppard, ran out to the beach and threw the pipe "about 25 feet into the water."

The murder weapon has never been found.

Wedler made the statement, the first concerning the location of the weapon, to Erle Stanley Gardner in a two hour interview. The 23-year-old convict's confession of the Sheppard murder still has "discrepancies," Gardner said.

More Convinced

But he added that "I am becoming more and more convinced of the strong possibility that his (Wedler's) story is true..."

Gardner quoted Wedler as saying that he pawned a suitcase filled with his blood - soaked clothes at the ocean view tavern in Tampa shortly after arriving in Florida from Cleveland in July of 1954.

Gardner said Wedler is "completely calm at all times and in my opinion there is absolutely no

Most Louisiana State Graduate Students Native

BATON ROUGE, July 20, (UP)—About 82 per cent of the Louisiana State University graduate students in 1956-57 were from Louisiana, according to "graduate report," a quarterly publication of the graduate school said.

Some 1,360 were from Louisiana, 236 from other states and 60 from foreign countries, the July issue of the publication said.

It pointed out many of the out-of-state students will remain in Louisiana after they receive their degrees, and indicated the publication said that the Southern states import many of their best brains.

Every parish but Cameron, the most sparsely populated, were represented in the graduate school last year.

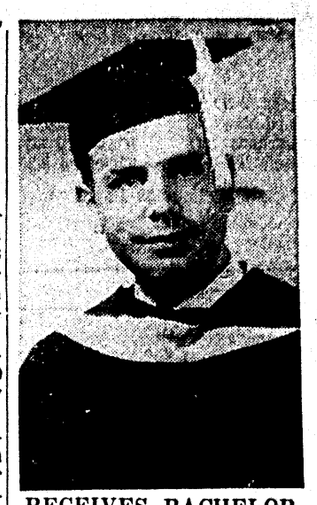
Baton Rouge Leads

The largest number came from East Baton Rouge, 545, and Orleans parish, 100.

The heavy enrollment here can be partially accounted for by the fact many residents from other parts of the state establish homes in Baton Rouge while at school, the report comments.

Other parishes which had large graduate enrollments this year included Tangipahoa, 63, Lafayette, 44, Calcasieu, 43, and Avoyelles, 34. Parishes which had 20 or more in the graduate school also included St. Landry, Rapides, Livingston, Ouachita, St. Tammany, Caddo and Lincoln.

Many of the parishes which have a low representation in the graduate school are those which send the largest numbers of under-graduates to LSU, the publication said.



RECEIVES BACHELOR DEGREE—Deral Preston Jordan who is a recent graduate of Southwestern Bible college in Waxahachie, Texas. A graduate of the Calhoun high school, Jordan's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Melvin C. Jordan of Downsville. He is now residing in Grand Prairie, Tex.

QUOTAS FULFILLED

Soviets Say Prosperity 'Busting Out All Over'

MOSCOW, July 20 (UP) — The Soviet government reported today that prosperity is busting out all over. It said its economic development plan for the first six months of this year was fulfilled by 104 per cent.

The results were so good, the Communist party newspaper Pravda said, they justified the recent firing of former Premier Georgi Malenkov and other top leaders from their party and government posts.

The central statistics department reported an 11 per cent increase in industrial output and an eight per cent increase in consumer goods, compared with the first six months of last year.

The most impressive growth was reported in the food insutry, which fulfilled the plan by 124 per cent. This lent encouragement to Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev's favorite scheme to catch up with American production of meat, milk and butter in the next few years.

The government said its plan was more than fulfilled by all branches of the concomy, "even the traditional laggards like the timber and fish industries."

The conomic report contained for the first time hard figures about production, instead of the usual vague percentages used in the past.

Among the items disclosed in the report were the facts that in the first six months of this year 25 million tons of steel, 200 million tons of cpal, 41 million tons of iron ore and 46 million tons of oil were produced.

The factories also turned out 244,000 vehicles, of which 55,000 were automobiles and the remainder trucks and buses.

In addition, the government organized 674 new state farms, built 3,000 new schools and nine million square meters of housing space—or 26 per cent more than in the same period last year.

Ekberg Objects To High Angle Neckline Shots

NEW YORK, July 20 (UP)—Actress Anita Ekberg, who posed for a series of nude photographs recent printed in a national magazine, today criticized photographers for taking angle shots that make her necklines look even lower than they are.

Miss Ekberg returned to the U. S. from Europe with her actor husband, Anthony Steel. They were greeted on the deck of the liner Augustus by a horde of photographers who leaped up on chairs to aim their cameras down on ample-bosomed Miss Ekberg's revealing neckline.

"A lot of my dresses look low cut. . .because when they take my pictures they stand up on chairs," she said. "I had a lot of trouble like that with photographers in Europe."

Miss Ekberg did not refer to the series of photos taken of her by an artist to use as models for a nude statue he made of her.

FEAR PROPAGANDA

State Department Objects To Moscow Youth Festival

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)—The State Department is throwing cold water on plans of American students to attend the Soviet-sponsored sixth International Youth Festival in Moscow July 28.

The department is afraid the young Americans — even with the best intentions — will find themselves involved in a propaganda show that will be turned against the United States and its allies.

There are no restrictions against U. S. citizens travelling to Russia. Thus, youths wishing to attend are free to do so if they have good records enabling them to obtain passports.

But any who have sought State Department advice have gotten nothing but discouragement.

A form letter sent in answer to about 100 inquiries says the department "regards the festival as an instrument of Communist propaganda." It says participation by Americans would "have the effect of lending respectability" to an event which has well served the Communist cause in the past.

"It would not be in the interests of the United States to have Americans participating in an activity sponsored by youth organizations committed to the support of the Soviet foreign policy, especially with the results of that policy for the people of Hungary," the letter adds.

Durbin Murder Trial To Open At Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, July 20 (AP)—Two Baton Rouge teen-agers go on trial Monday for murder in the slaying of a 30-year-old sewing center manager last December.

Herbert Ray Mears, 16, and William Rowan, 17, were arrested Jan. 5 and indicted on charges of murder—in the robbery-beating of Marion O. Durbin.

Durbin's beaten body was found in his locked car parked in a dead-end suburban Street Dec. 22.

The two admitted in police statements they had beaten Durbin and robbed him of $48, his rings and wrist watch.

New Ventures Log Oil Sands In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., July 20 (AP)—Second wells drilled in two recently discovered one-well oil fields have logged oil sands and operations continued toward contract depth.

The wells were Central Oil Co.'s Sullivan No. 1 in Simpson County's Martinville field and Shell Oil Co.'s Stanley No.1 in Wayne County's Diamond field.

The Simpson County well has reported to have logged about 10 feet of oil sand at 12,428-48 feet. The Wayne County well logged oil sands in the lower cretaceous zones.

Other oil and gas activity last week:

Rankin County

In Rankin County, Carter Oil Co. was below 12,800 feet in its Laughlin No. 1 near Piney Woods. No commercial oil shows have been logged in the Rodessa zones.

In eastern Rankin County, C. F. Martin was attempting to remove a stuck drill pipe from the wildcat Glenn Ragsdale No. 1 at 8,531 feet.

Larco Drilling Co. and Durbin Bond were below 10,100 feet in their re-opened Hinds County wildcat Lardin-Riley No. 1 to test the deeper zones.

The well was abandoned in 1956 at 510 feet. Operators plan to drill to 10,500 feet.

In Clarke County, Phillips Petroleum Co. was below 10,100 feet in the wildcat Ivy No. B-1. Contract depth is 11,000 feet to test the Smackover lime.

Gulf and Seaboard Oil Co. were below 13,500 feet in the Perry County wildcat J. W. Lott et al No. 1.

Officials Shrug Off Rebels' New Cuban Demands

HAVANA, July 20 (UP)—Government officials today shrugged off a seven-point rebel manifesto demanding formation of a provisional regime in Cuba.

Presidential palace sources said they "saw no reason" for an official statement on the manifesto issued by rebel leader Fidel Castro from his hideout in the rugged mountains of Orientes Province.

"Diario Nacional" was the only one of six major morning newspapers in Havana to publish the Castro document.

The manifesto was signed jointly by Castro and Raul Chibas and Felipe Pazos. It announced the formation of a "civic revolutionary front."

Dulles Expected To Give Good Report On Disarming

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is expected in his nationwide speech Monday night to give a "favorable report" on the current London disarmament talks and urge that negotiations be continued, informed sources said today.

Dulles will speak on both radio and television. The State Department said Friday that he would set forth the U.S. position on disarmament.

Officials said today they believe Dulles wants "to clear the air" on the issue and give the American people a lucid and objective picture of the enormously complicated disarmament situation. He will try to do so in simple terms everyone can understand.

At the same time he wants to shore up lagging British and French confidence in the disarmament negotiations. Officials said "our positions have been more sanguine than that of Britain and France."

Both the British and French delegations to the London talks have seen more openly pessimistic about chances for reaching a first step arms accord in the face of positions taken by Soviet delegate Valerin Zorin and U.S. delegate Harold E. Stassen.

Dulles also wants to impress upon the people the importance of the negotiations. He is said to believe that the complexity of the problem and the special disarmament lingo used in many reports of the talks has made the issue incomprehensible to most Americans.

Court Approves Mail, Express For Cargo Lines

NEW ORLEANS, July 20 (AP) — The U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals today approved granting temporary air mail and air express rights to four airlines that transport mostly cargo.

Eight passenger airlines had protested the granting of these rights by the Civil Aeronautics Board. But the appeals court upheld the CAB decision.

The CAB had granted air mail and air express certificates, on an experimental basis, to slick, Flying Tiger and Riddle Airlines and the American Air Export and Import Co.

Protest Ruling

But the passenger airlines, which also handle mail and express, protested that the law allowed cargo carriers to transport air freight but not air express. Air freight is cargo handled by the airline itself. Air express is cargo handled by the Railway Express Agency and turned over to the airline.

The court said that, although there may have been a difference in the type of cargo in air freight and air express at one time, they are similar today.

Vice President Joins Graham Behind Pulpit

NEW YORK, July 20 (UP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon joined evangelist Billy Graham behind a pulpit in Yankee Stadium tonight to appeal for a spiritual reawakening in America and the rest of the world.

Nixon, a Quaker, came here from Washington for what was to have been Baptist Graham's final sermon of his New York crusade for Christ. But the meeting turned instead into a rally elabrating a second extension of Graham's crusade.

Shortly after Graham opened his evangelistic campaign to "save" New York in Madison Square Garden May 15, Nixon disclosed that he would attend one of the meetings conducted by his evanglist friend.

Aga Khan Hopes To Resume His Harvard Study

ASWAN, Egypt, July 20 (UP) —Aga Khan IV, the 19-year-old spiritual leader of the world's 20 million Ismaili Moslems, said today he'd like to go back to Harvard this fall but doubts he can make it.

"I'd like to go back to Harvard," the young Khan said, recalling that as Prince Karim he was a junior there last year. Now that he is head of the Ismaili sect, he has too many other problems.

"I think I am going to be too busy to get back to Cambridge for the next two school years," he said. "I hope I can make it in the fall of 1959."

He made his remarks as he and his family prepared to leave Egypt following the burial Friday of his grandfather, the late Aga Khan III, who passed over his own sons—Aly Khan and Sadruddin—to name Karim his successor.

The late Aga Khan was placed in a temporary burial plot here at Aswan, pending completion of an elaborate mausoleum to which his body will be transferred later.

Bond Issue Endorsed

With the financial outlook of the city of Monroe brighter than at any time in many years and with no new taxes involved, it is expected that the $4,500,000 bond issue to be balloted on July 30 will be overwhelmingly approved by the voters.

Unanimous approval of the project has been given by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, following a review of the power situation in Monroe, in which it was explained that the expansion program would bring the plant's capacity up to 44,500 kilowatts.

For the first time in many years the city of Monroe, aided by the Utilities Commission, appears to be in a position to meet its obligations adequately. This means that the city will be able to go ahead with various types of expansion calculated to meet the needs of a fast-growing city.

In announcing the city budget recently, Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard disclosed that the Utilities Commission had made a pledge estimated at $615,600 and stated that this sum will be the greatest single item of income. He showed that this amount, plus about $90,000 worth of street lights and public utilities buildings, supplied by the commission meant a net saving of $705,000 for the fiscal year 1957-58. If money did not come from the sale of water and electricity by the city, the mayor said, "the people would have to dig down into their pockets to help defray Monroe's operating expenses.

Revenues from the normal receipts from the sale of water and electricity by the Utilities Commission will be applied to the bond retirement.

Money derived through the sale of bonds, provided the people approve the bond issue, will be used for improving facilities.

A modern 10,000 KVA gas turbine generator will be installed, increasing the capacity of the present plant from 34,500 to 44,500. The bond issue will be applied as follows: $1,900,000 for immediate plant generating equipment: $1,700,000 for power distribution system needs; $450,000 for water system distribution improvements; and $450,000 for debt service reserves, contingencies, engineering and expenses involved in the general revenue bond election.

A fast-growing city must expand its facilities constantly to meet the rapidly increasing need. No city can afford to allow itself to lag behind the needs of its expanding population, business and industry for, if it does, it will impede the very progress it desires.

The bond issue is being voted for the purpose of meeting Monroe's needs for expansion, it brings no new taxes, it meets the approval of the city's leading business and industrial leaders and we believe it will meet the approval of a great majority of the people of this city.

The publishers of the Monroe Morning World and the Monroe News-Star are wholeheartedly supporting the bond issue and they believe it deserves wholehearted support by all of Monroe's citizens.

U.S. Freedom In Danger

A coalition as dangerous to states' rights, individual rights and the American way of life as is the Zhukov-Khrushchev dictatorship to the freedom of the Russian people has been in the making in Washington within recent weeks.

This danger may not yet be past but it has been disclosed — disclosed to the president of the United States, to some members of congress who were previously uninformed, to the press of the north which had espoused interracialism and to the people of this country.

This danger is the so-called "civil rights" bill, which was designed and concocted to hand over to the whims of the United States supreme court, to the attorney general of the United States and to the armed forces every right possessed by the 48 states of the union and by the individual citizens of those states.

Attorney General Brownell, apparently without informing president Eisenhower, wrote the "civil rights" bill in such a way that it would have authorized the attorney general to intervene in all cases in which a violation of civil rights was claimed, regardless of whether or not there was proof was offered, and would have authorized federal trial, without a jury, of all such accused persons. It would have authorized the use of army and navy forces to compel compliance in any state with any edict that might be issued by a federally appointed "referee."

That bill is still being debated in the the United States senate. It may be defeated and, if not, undoubtedly will be amended so as to remove some of its onerous provisions, but if it is defeated it will be because of the vigorous fight conducted by southerners, led by Senator Russell of Georgia, and not by the efforts of any of the highest officials of this land.

Without informing the president, Brownell laid the groundwork for a Brownell-Warren-army coalition similar to that set up in Russia by Zhukov and Khrushchev and under which the states and individuals would have been powerless.

The U. S. attorney general is supposed to supply all necessary legal advice, particularly on legislation, to the chief executive.

There are many indications that the president, instead of being informed, has been grossly deceived, perhaps with deliberate intent, on provisions of the pending "civil rights" bill specifically invoking use of federal troops to enforce federal court injunctions in school integration or any other type of civil rights cases, whether racial or non-racial.

The president at least four times had publicly stated that the "civil rights" bill, as he understood it, was no more than legislative establishment of "simple justice" of the right of American citizens, to vote, regardless of their race, color or creed.

But in his press conference Wednesday Mr. Eisenhower said he now realizes that the bill invokes presidential use of armed forces to enforce civil rights injunctions, whether involving Negroes or whites, schools or anything else. Mr. Eisenhower also indicated clearly that he had no previous knowledge of this fact from his official advisers. He did this when he explained that some of his "lawyer friends"—presumably in private practice and not holding government posts—informed him that the power to use troops is specifically invoked in the bill.

Mr. Eisenhower apparently first got wind of the dangerous provisions in the measure from Senator Russell because it was not until the Georgia senator visited him that he realized what was in it. Yet he should have been fully informed of the provisions in the bill by Brownell or by his official advisers.

The President's position as to intimate knowledge of legislation is different from many others—such as the Senate and House Majority and Minority leaders. They are specialist in legislation and are supposed to know every detail of every measure coming before them.

Therefore it is almost impossible to understand how so many members of Congress in high posts either were fooled by the bill or disregarded insidious portions they knew about. It was easy to fool the President merely by the withholding of information from him by his adviser or advisers.

Of course, Brownell has stated his stand on such legislation previously, and he has never denied that he would not use federal force in school integration cases.

Brownell has repeatedly stated that it was the intent of the justice department, under this bill, to move into local areas with school integration injunction proceedings whenever local authorities—such as school boards—failed to move on their own initiative.

He said he wanted this authority specifically enacted into federal law because the usual procedure now is for federal authorities not to move in on localized issues unless requested to do so by local authorities. He wanted the rights of state authorities removed.

Brownell did not state, however, that the bill he offered specifically invoked use of federal troops, land or water, to enforce court injunctions, integration or otherwise.

President Eisenhower has said: "I want no more of that kind of power."

Commentators have recently remarked that the whole tone of the United States supreme court has changed since Warren became chief justice. Warren had strong yearnings for the presidency but it eluded him. Now his rulings, along with those of other "liberal" or radical members of the court, indicate a desire to rule by despotic ideology. A coalition of the supreme court, the attorney general and the armed forces, as contemplated under the "civil rights" bill, could implement the actuation of such a desire.

Clearly Mr. Eisenhower was deceived by some one. It might even be concluded that the deception amounted to a political doublecrossing from within his own family, for his now-revealed ignorance of a vital portion of such important legislation may damage his political and personal prestige.

The ambitious and politically-minded Chief Justice Warren and the ambitious and politically-minded Attorney General Brownell have gone a long way and are attempting to go further toward a state of totalitarianism for the United States.

PAUL HARVEY

Khrushchev Nips Leaders For Purges For Which He Was Primarily Guilty

Suppose you were a Russian subscriber.

In 1945 you would have read extravagant praise for Nikolai Voznesenski for his new book on the Soviet Economy.

He was a powerful and highly honored chief of Russia's economic planning.

In 1940 this paper would suddenly mention him no more.

If you should write a letter and ask the editor why you would get no reply.

In 1954 you would read that Nikolai Voznesenski had been shot to death as a traitor back in 1949 . . . but . . . that it was all a mistake.

And now — in 1954 — the four men who had him put to death were themselves being put to death "for framing Voznesenski."

In 1956, February, Khrushchev praised the dead economist as "a good Communist" and "an innocent victim."

Let's take a better example:

In January 1957 Khrushchev described Stalin as "A great Marxist."

In June of 1957 Khrushchev described Stalin as the bloody butcher of the Stalinist purges of the 1930's.

This is the same man talking about the same man in the same newspaper, changing his party line and trying to change your mind every few months.

If you are not thoroughly confused by now, suppose you had saved some old editions of your Moscow newspaper. Here is what you would find.

Present Dictator Khrushchev has fired, disgraced and probably will dispose of former Premiers Malenkov and Molotov and Kaganovich because they approved those Stalinist purges of the thirties.

But during those same thirties your December 1936 newspaper shows Khrushchev calling the purged persons "a pack of murderers and scoundrels." He said, "We are indebted to Comrade Stalin who so wisely called for increased vigilance."

Your newspaper of January 1937 quotes Khrushchev as saying, "We have gathered here in Red Square to express our approval of sentences given to the enemies of the people."

If Khrushchev does not bring Malenkov and Molotov and Kaganovich to trial it is only because he does not want them to make public the fact that he is as guilty as they of approving the purges of the thirties.

In fact, he was the prime organizer of the purges!

It's a dizzy whirl as the controlled press tries to shape the facts to the action instead of the other way around.

Again: Your January 1953 edition of Pravda would show Dr. M. S. Vovsi accused of "plotting to assassinate Soviet leaders by medical means."

Your July 1957 edition of the same paper would show Dr. M. S. Vovsi receiving the Order of Lenin for his "services to Soviet science."

Your 1939 editions would show Hitler is your enemy in January, your ally in March, and by June of 1941 he is your enemy again.

As this Morning World newspaper stands guard over the conduct of our city hall, our state capitol, thank God it isn't the other way around.

CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

Eisenhower Gets 32 Of 203 Requests Through Congress

WASHINGTON, July 20 (CQ)—The 85th Congress approaches the end of its first session with 15.8 per cent of President Eisenhower's legislative program adopted.

Congressional Quarterly's interim analysis of action on the President's 203 requests shows that 32 have gone through Congress successfully as of July 11.

Among the major requests still awaiting final action are Federal aid to education, liberalized immigration laws, postal rate increases, Alaska - Hawaii statehood membership in the Organization for Trade Cooperation, foreign aid and civil rights legislation.

The civil rights bill, one of the President's oft-repeated requests, currently has the Senate tied up in extensive debate that could lead to a filibuster that would block all other legislation. A filibuster would keep the Senate in session at least through August, maybe later, with the House recessing until a filibuster ends. Congress usually goes home around Aug. 1.

26 Per Cent in 1955

Congress generally gets off to a slow start in the first year of its two-year life, but the 13.8 approval percentage of July 11 is considerably lower than the 26 per cent approval score at about the same stage of the first session of the 84th Congress. Then another Democratic - controlled Congress had approved 52 of GOP President Eisenhower's 200 legislative requests. But the latest score is more than double the 6.6 per cent approval score registered by the current Congress last May 26.

Here is the status of the 203 legislative requests made by Mr. Eisenhower this year:

32 requests, or 15.8 per cent, have been sent to the President after approval.

4 requests, or 2 per cent, have passed both the House and Senate but have not cleared Senate-House conferences.

37, or 18.2 per cent, have passed either the House or Senate but not both.

22, or 10.8 per cent, have been reported from committee to the floor of either the House or Senate but have not come up for a vote.

29, or 14.3 per cent, have received committee hearings but have not been reported to the floor.

69, or 34 per cent, have received no action at all.

10, or 4.9 per cent, have received a setback at the hands of Congress, either by an unfavorable vote or rejection within the committee empowered to decide whether the measure should be sent to the floor.

President Eisenhower's major legislative requests already approved by Congress include the Mideast Doctrine, emergency drouth program, extension of existing corporate and income taxes, a housing bill and Senate approval of the International Atomic Energy Agency.

The President's foreign aid program got past the Senate almost unscathed but still faces final action in the House. The President has given qualified endorsement of the compromise school construction bill worked out in the House Education and Labor Committee. The Senate, however, has not even held hearings on the school bill.

Items Rejected

About the only major items on the President's program that have been rejected by Congress so far were authority to give foreign military aid permanently instead of coming back to Congress each year for permission, and higher interest rates on GI and college housing loans.

Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D., Texas) says the Senate will stay on the job after a filibuster ends. He also contends the 85th Congress is not a do-nothing Congress. Johnson July 10 said that "the record of this Senate thus far can stand comparison with any other Senate in modern times." But Rep. Timothy Sheehan (R., Ill.) says the so-called "do-nothing" Republican 80th Congress did more at the same stage of its first year than has been done this year.

Political claims aside, it is certain that it will require some rurious, last minute action to pull President Eisenhower's legislative "batting average" out of its worsening slump. His "batting average" in other years, as compiled by Congressional Quarterly:

California Expected To Be No. 1 State In 20 Years

SAN FRANCISCO — In far less than 20 years from now, California will be the No. One state in population in our nation.

California doesn't even have to continue her present pace of growth to replace New York in the No. One spot well before we enter the decade of the '70s.

As I am writing this, she's crossing the 14 million mark in population, up 29 per cent just since 1950. Population in the San Francisco Bay region is climbing at the rate of 10,400 a month; newcomers are pouring into the exploding Los Angeles area at the fabulous rate of 4,200 a week.

While the overall trek to the western states may be slowing a bit now — latest statistics hint that there is at least a temporary lull in the westward flight — the lure of California's climate, job and business opportunities, glitter, culture and nonsense remains as powerful as ever.

By 1975, even conservative projections place California's population at 26 million, 5 million above the projected population for New York. Although the odds are every projection for every state will be topped in coming years, the significant point is that it is California, not New York which is heading for the historic distinction of first place in population in the relatively near future.

It wasn't until World War I that the industrial age really came to California. Yet today she is the leader in the aircraft industry, is second only to Michigan in auto manufacturing, is a shipbuilding center, is home of the world's largest bank. In San Francisco, financial capital of the west, are the headquarters of 30 giant corporations with assets of well over $30 billion. Scattered through the state are major branches of hundreds of America's most important companies.

Every state in our union is growing now and every state will continue to share in our land's growth. As the Twentieth Century Fund puts it in a just-released report, "The United States has not merely climbed to a new plateau. It is ascending heights whose upper limit is not yet measurable and at an accelerated rate of speed."

But California's growth in industrial, commercial, agricultural, political and cultural importance will dwarf the growth of all bu' a handful of states — all of them, except Florida, in the far West.

And as she soars in population, her old residents and newcomers will demand millions more homes and tens of millions more of all the things that go into homes. The lower rate of homebuilding now is only creating an additional backlog of demand, a backlog which cannot help but put terrific pressure on homebuilders in the next decade.

As the state explodes in nearly every direction of industry and commerce, her needs for every type of public works will force the spending of record-smashing billions of dollars. Telegraphing what is ahead is the fact that political authorities in every key area of the state are right now spending huge sums on long-range planning for development of new sections and redevelopment of old ones, for rapid transit facilities, for highways, bridges, airports, schools, etc. And, of course, Californians will spend billions to get new, enlarged water supplies.

As she gains new millions of inhabitants, these people will become new markets and the markets in turn will lead to the opening of new centers of industry. In region after region, business groups are aggressively wooing new, diversified industries.

And as California booms economically, so, of course, will the state boom politically. With its bloc of electoral votes, she will become even more a maker and producer of presidents than she is now.

Career Of Late James Cox Lesson In Propaganda

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The career of former James M. Cox of Ohio who died this week at 87 offers the U. S. an object lesson, which is not to be swayed in its political views by the prejudices aroused by propaganda.

Cox was the worst defeated candidate for president in the nation's history up to 1936 when Franklin D. Roosevelt clobbered Alfred M. Landon, who received the electoral votes of but two states. Warren G. Harding in 1920 defeated Cox, his fellow Ohioan, by 7,000,000 votes in an election in which Cox, enquestionable the better man, was the victim of an issue on which the American people had become so prejudiced that the Democratic nominee was beaten, even before he was named by the national convention at San Francisco. He carried but eleven southern states, winning Kentucky but losing Tennessee.

That was 37 years ago and U.S. voting habits are less influenced by the type of campaign which kept this country out of the League of Nations and foredoomed Cox to defeat. He had three times been governor of Ohio, and that he should have been so overwhelmingly beaten by Harding, a political nonenity, who was nominated by the Republicans after better men had been shelved, illustrates the changes in American politics over a period of almost 40 years.

The propaganda against the League of Nations started even before President Woodrow Wilson in 1919 went to Paris in a personal effort to influence the drafting of the peace treaty and prevent future world wars. Actually, the Versailles treaty signed there was used by Germans as the excus for the rise of Hitler and his Nazi party. When Hitler scrapped the treaty 15 years later, World War II became inevitable.

The League of Nations was represented from the start as a political trap to inveigle the U. S. into European political affairs. Two million U. S. troops had just returned from Europe, and most of them had a poor opinion of all Europeans, especially the British and French. The propagandists, operating chierly from the middle west made apt use of that feeling.

Cox's passing recalls his conviction that had he been elected and had the U. S. adhered to the League of Nations, even with reservations, there would have been no World War II, which would have made this a much happier country today. At least, he exhibited his courage in endorsing U. S. membership in the League and pledging his support to the international views of Woodrow Wilson. And for years afterward, while the U. S. held grimly to its nationalist position, behind high tariff walls and rigid immigration restrictions, Cox and his newspapers continued to plug for the League and U. S. membership.

With the late Josephus Daniels of North Carolina, Wilson's Secretary of the Navy, Cox brought into the political limelight an unknown young New Yorker named Franklin D. Roosevelt, whom Daniels made Assistant Secretary of the Navy in World War I and Cox personally selected as his running mate for Vice President in 1920. Daniels in that year carried a message from Woodrow Wilson's bedside to the San Francisco convention, conveying the latter's wishes, which the convention followed.

Cox's principal opponent for the nomination which he won on the 44th ballot was Wilson's own son in law — William Gibbs McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury — but the ailing president had cause to be well satisfied with the choice of Cox.

Harding was nominated by the Republicans at Chicago after such outstand" candidates as General Leonard Wood, former Illinois governor Frank O. Lowden and California's Senator Hiram Johnson were adroitly sidetracked by as slick a group of political manipulators as ever controlled a convention, led by Harry M. Daugherty, later Attorney General, in Harding's cabinet. The only slip up in their plans came when an unknown Oregon delegate named Wallace McCamant, jumped up on a chair to nominate Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts as Vice President. The tired delegates named him by acclamation. The candidate of the Harding clique, Senator Irvine L. Lenroot of Wisconsin never got started.

Three years later, when Harding died suddenly, and the extent of the corruption in his weak-willed administration began to unfold, Coolidge quickly gained the confidence of the country and saved the Republicans from the beating they otherwise would probably have been in for.

In that period, the U. S. might have exerted the kind of influence for peace, before Communist intrigue attained its present foothold, which it now seeks to wield in the United Nations. It was the great good fortune of James Cox to live to see the day when he was convinced that his defeat had not been in vain.

"We don't know how we're going back (to Greenville) but it won't be on that raft," Smith said.

Tuxedos Now

Climaxing the end of their voyage, the crew members thoughtfully stowed away tuxedos in a water proof chest. Saturday night, after carefully trimming their beards, they invaded the French Quarter for a celebration after their days and nights upon the open water in which they floated and floated and floated.

The nautically - minded airmen agreed they will leave seafaring to the Navy from now on.

Knowland said that whatever happens to Part 3 of the bill, he thinks a jury trial amendment will be kept out of the separate section authorizing the attorney general to obtain federal court injunctions to protect voting rights.

Doubt Change

"The heavily predominant sentiment among Republicans and Democratic supporters of the bill," he said, "is to keep Section 4 (dealing with voting rights) in its present form. I doubt there will be any change in it."

Under the bill in its present form, persons accused of violating injunctions obtained by the government to enforce voting rights and civil rights generally could be jailed for contempt of court without a jury trial.

While Southern foes of the bill have been insistent on providing for jury trials, and have mustered support outside their own ranks, President Eisenhower said earlier this week that he was opposed to having a jury trial "interposed in contempt of court cases" growing out of violations of injunctions to secure voting rights.

In a filmed television interview, Sens. Douglas (D-Ill), Javits (R-NY) and McNamara (D-Mich), all strong supporters of the civil rights bill, spoke out against eliminating part 3 of the measure.

Protests

Protesting against talk of compromise, McNama said that what opponents of the bill are asking for is not compromise but "complete surrender."

Sen. Ellender (D-La) lashed out anew at the bill in a broadcast recorded for a New Orleans radio station (WWL) and said "there can be no compromise" on it.

"This legislation must not pass," Ellender said.

Ellender, however, agreed with Knowland that part 4 of the bill, providing for injunctions to protect voting rights, "will probably remain as it is," despite attempts to require jury trials.

Right To Vote

He said that no one can quarrel with the right to vote, but he asserted that present laws are adequate to protect this right and declared the administration bill "would do nothing more than reenact the ancient reconstruction election laws."

He said these laws had "proved so obnoxious that they were repealed by Congress in 1894."

Ellender also criticized what he called President Eisenhower's "wishy - washy attitude" toward the bill and said this "is just one more indication that it is men like Mr. Brownell who run the White House, not our elected chief executive."

Chief Author

He was referring to Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, whom southern senators have pictured as chief author of the bill.

"If this bill should pass," Ellender said, "and I pray it will not, I predict that Dwight D. Eisenhower will go down in history as the President who sat idly by as our constitution was torn to shreds at the insistance of political opportunists."

In vowing the bill must not pass, Ellender said that "senators from the South are prepared to discuss this measure for as long as proponents of the bill desire to keep it before the Senate." He added they were prepared to "stay here all year" if necessary.

Jes' Ramblin'

These are our personal observations, but Reverend Mitchell discussed chiefly his own Baptist denomination. He said there are today 23 Baptist churches with 10,400 members in Ouachita parish west of the river here, and 19 Baptist churches with 10,000 members in the parish east of the river.

In his talk he quiet modestly told of how an investment, made possible through a loan of $400, secured the site for Ridge Avenue Baptist church. Today in seven years, there are nearly 900 members and the property is valued at $250,000.

Incidentally when pressed for some figures he admitted that as many as 17 of the young men of promise in his church are now in the ministry, or ready to enter the ministry.

Reverend Mitchell paid compliment to the News-Star—World through the years as a great supporter of churches and to the press generally he accorded recognition for its broad policy.

Chief Katherine Gettinger, chief of the Federal Children's bureau in New York City, declares that juvenile delinquency must be conquered or it will conquer us.

She further commends those communities that are operating well - equipped homes for delinquents. This idea is new but is fast growing and is, she says, a step forward. She completely disapproves of placing young boys and girls in cells with hardened criminals.

Monroe now has one of the first in this state. It was secured by the unending work of organizations like the Pilot Club and the building is now up and ready for use. This club had its weekly dinner there the past week and was impressed with the very complete even expensive, equipment that is provided.

The club as a special outlet, has taken over this project as the leading one of the club this year.

Only two more weeks now remain in which municipal playgrounds will be in operation. During past week more than 4,900 were in attendance, the largest number for the entire season so far.

pounds. The gas-distillate and oil will be run into the two 500 barrel tanks already set up on the site after it runs through the separators.

Drillstem tests

Throughout the progress of the well four drillstem tests were made. The first test was in June 24, in the middle of the Travis Peak from 7,189 to 7,205 with tool open 50 minutes. The well flowed an estimated 1½ million cubic feet of gas per day on a ¼ inch choke with 900 pounds flowing pressure. A second middle Travis Peak test was run on the 26th of June between 7,447 and 7,458 feet with the tool open one hour and with 1,000 feet water cushion. The flow of gas was measured at the rate of 800,000 cubic feet per day with a top hole pressure of 525 pounds on a ¼ inch choke.

A test of the lower Travis Peak zone on June 29, at 8,629 to 8,627 feet with 2,000 feet of water cushion, the well flowed at rate of 750,000 cubic feet daily on a ¼ inch choke with 395 pounds of top hole pressure. A drillstem test at 9,080 to 9,241 feet with tool open seven minutes and 4,000 feet water cushion, the well recovered 1,450 feet of distillate with bottom hole pressure of 7,837 pounds and final flowing pressure of 2,800 pounds.

Drilling Depth

The well was drilled to 9,152 feet and a 5-inch liner set from 8,952 to 9,152 feet, carrying well seven feet into the producing formation believed to be the "D" sand of the Cotton Valley series.

With a 7-inch casing set to 9,038, the well blew out June 30 while coring between 9,108 and 9,121 feet. The weight of the mud was raised to 18 pounds to control the pressure and was kept at this weight until it was washed out yesterday afternoon.

The well ran into the tanks for a short test last night and company officials said it would be a day or two before all results would be known.

A 15,000 pound test "Christmas Tree," the type used in deep well and off-shore drilling where pressures are excessive, was set up at the wellhead.

Two spherical shaped separators were set up at the site, one 24-inch and one 41-inch. Both were equipped with the latest type safety devices both for the protection of the personnel and the well. The smaller unit carries a working pressure of 1,200 pounds and the second one is a low pressure unit set for 125 pounds.

The well was completed by the J. R. Roberts Drilling Company of Shreveport in 92 days, officials said.

the insured property that was lost totalled $1,500,000.

Breaking down the Louisiana crop loss, McCrory said the rice damage was four million dollars; cotton, $2,500,000; corn, three million dollars; sugar cane, more than one million dollars; yams, $400 000 and truck crops, vegetables and pecans, $750,000.

Livestock

He said 30,000 of the lost livestock had come from Cameron Parish while 5,000 were from Vermillion Parish.

He said the Louisiana Civil Defense and private citizens had donated 115,000 bales of hay to Vermillion Parish and 20,000 bales to Cameron Parish to feed surviving livestock.

McCrory said 18 parishes received crop losses: Cameron, Calcasieu, St. Martin, St. James, Lafayette, Avoyelles, Assumption, Evangeline, Iberville, Rapides, Point Coupee, Vermilion, Jefferson Davis, Iberia, Beauregard, St. Landry, Allen and Acadia.

Meanwhile, the Red Cross was predicted that actual rebuilding will start at Cameron within six weeks. W. D. Dibrell, disaster director in the area, said Red Cross staff work on rehabilitation applications should be completed by that time.

Beauty Admits Second Marriage

only briefly when asked if it were true she had been married once before.

Mrs. Ennis hesitated, and then said: "I think we have all made mistakes in the past. I think we should try to live for the future an dthat's what I'm trying to do. Then she explained the earlier marriage.

Not Worth It

Expressing regret at the way in which she was ushered into national prominence, she said: "If I had told the truth I wouldn't have had to go through all this. Believe you me, it wasn't worth it."

She opened to public view a breach between her and the sponsors of the Miss Maryland pageant a Baltimore modeling agency.

Mrs. Ennis said she told William J. Adams, manager of the agency, she was married after winning the Maryland contest. He told her to "forget it," she said. Adams, who has denied this, was not present at the conference although Miss Loren Walters, the onetime Follies beauty who directs the agency, was on hand.

When the report of her marriage began circulating at Long Beach, Mrs. Ennis said, the girl friend who accompanied her, Mrs. Barbara Mewshaw, called Adams.

She quoted him as telling Barbara, "I will take care of things. You just win the Miss Universe title. . . ."

Her 28-year-old airman husband sat beside her on a sofa throughout the interview, alternately holding her hand, patting her shoulder and gently prompting her.

He said Mary Leona was only 13 when he met her while she was working in a coffee shop in a Wichita Falls, Tex., hotel. "She was quite a woman at 13, to, believe me," he said.

Mrs. Ennis said she has received about four movie offers, an offer of $200 a week for an engagement at a Las Vegas hotel, and a $1,000 bid for an appearance on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town," TV show. She said all offers were being considered, but none had been accepted.

When she reached the door of the airliner at Friendship International Airport after landing, Mrs. Ennis appeared startled. But she regained composure quickly after being embraced by her husband and son halfway down the ramp.

17 years and 6 months is considered to be 18."

Collins said he agreed that her being less than 18 would normally preclude her by U.S. standards from selection as Miss Universe.

"But this is an international pageant," he said. He added that he was convinced the Zender family had acted in good faith in the matter.

The girl who ran second to Miss Universe, Miss Brazil, Terezinha Goncalves Morango, was asked during the turmoil and before the decision was made, how she felt about the then possibility that she might succeed to the Miss Universe title.

"I am prepared for anything that might happen," she said through an interpreter. "I have mixed emotions."

This was the second furor over contest rules in connection with a top contender. Mrs. Mary Leona Gage Ennis won the Miss United States title and was queen for a day, but was quickly stripped of the honor when it was found she had been married before—twice in fact—and has two children.

Miss Zender's father earlier reached an agreement with contest officials and sponsors to let his daughter take part in the personal appearances that normally go with the Miss Universe title—so long as she is properly chaperoned.

when Sheppard undergoes the lie detector test. He also said the state should give Sheppard and his relatives a test, once the court completes its examination of Dr. Sam.

Governor O'Neill said the state would be in charge when Sheppard is questioned. He said Warden Ralph W. Alvis of Ohio Penitentiary would decide who, in addition to members of the court, can sit in on the test.

The governor also promised there would be no delay in making results of the lie-detector test public.

Erle Stanley Gardner, who conducts the court of last resort, said in Florida that he would not be surprised at any results the test set for next Tuesday produces.

Dr. Stephen Sheppard, brother of the convicted Dr. Sam, immediately accepted Gerber's challenge, said he would be glad to take a lie-detector test given by county officials.

Immediately after results of Wedler's lie - detector test were announced, Dr. Sam for the first time asked that he undergo a lie detector test. The governor promptly granted his request.

Wedler's story was similar in some details to Sheppard's story. Cleveland authorities, however, were quick to point out a number of descrepancies.

Young Mother, Polio Victim 3 Years, Dies

SHREVEPORT, La., July 20 (AP)—A young mother afflicted with bulbar polio for three and one-half years died today at her home where she had been in an iron lung for 16 months.

Mrs. Kay Owens Wagley, 30, spent two years in a hospital. Then she returned to her home, which had been equipped with a respirator.

It was not learned immediately whether death was due directly to polio or to another disease.

While in the iron lung, Mrs. Wagley learned to type and paint with her toes.

She was the mother of two daughters aged five and four.

Both of the attackers were described as about 19 or 20. One wore a green plaid shirt and khaki trousers, the other a blue shirt and blue jeans. They were said to have left in a green, late-

Meany To Appear Before Probers

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)—Republican members of the Senate Rackets Committee prepared a series of questions today for AFL-CIO President George Meany. They want to know whether the big labor organization's ethical practices code protects the public or just union treasuries.

The questions are to be fired at Meany Monday when the labor leader is scheduled to make his first appearance before the committee on improper practices in labor and management. The committee has been holding hearings on reports that officials of the United Textile Workers Union misused union funds.

It has been told that Anthony Valente, president of the union and Lloyd Klenert, its secretary-treasurer, used $57,000 in 1952 as down payments on plush homes in a nearby Maryland suburb, putting up their own money only when their union was seeking organizing funds from various sources, including Meany, then secretary-treasurer of the AFL.

Meany Called

Chairman John L. McClennan (D-Ark.) called Meany to testify on that specific case. Counsel Robert F. Kennedy said Meany will be asked to outline the steps he took after he got wind of some of the Klenert and Valente transactions.

Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S. D.) told newsmen he plans to question Meany more generally on the application of the AFL—CIO ethical practices code adopted last winter in what was interpreted as a drive to force a clean-up in some union affiliates.

Sen. Barry M. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) said he has some similar questions. He has served notice he will ask Meany whether the code "means anything or is merely a smokescreen."

Centers On Code

Mundt said the questioning "will revolve around the operation of the ethical practices code and whether it is applied generally across the board to all witnesses taking the Fifth Amendment on matters involving corruption and communism — or whether it is used just to punish labor leaders who do not maintain honest financial relations with their members."

"Is it in the public interest or just to protect the union itself from pirates who get into the union and misuse funds?" asked Mundt.

'WOULD AID ENEMY'

President Backs Foreign Trials

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)—President Eisenhower warned today that Congress "would gravely threaten our security, alienate our friends and give aid" to our enemies by forbidding trials in foreign courts of U. S. servicemen stationed overseas.

"I can think of no recent legislative proposal which would so threaten the essential security of the United States," he said in a letter to House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr.

The White House, in making the letter public, said Martin had requested a special plea from the President against congressional proposals to overturn "status of forces agreements." These agreements recognize the right of foreign courts to try U. S. troops overseas for off-duty and exceptional on-duty offenses.

The President said the "ultimate effect" of such legislation would be to force the United States to pull back to this country all of its troops now stationed abroad.

"No longer does anyone suggest that we can safely withdraw behind the boundaries of "fortress America," he said.

Proposals to upset the agreements were an outgrowth of the case involving GI William S. Girard. The United States has turned Girard over for trial in a Japanese court for killing a Japanese woman who was scavenging for scrap metal on a U. S. military firing range.

The U. S. Supreme Court has upheld the President's right to negotiate status of forces agreements with foreign nations to govern such cases.

Resolution Bottled Up

Eisenhower wrote Martin that "passage of any legislation by the Congress (to overturn such agreements) would gravely threaten our security, alienate our friends and give aid and comfort to those who want to destroy our way of life."

He referred specifically to a proposed joint congressional resolution calling on the President to renegotiate the agreements and protect American troops from all foreign trials. This resolution is at present bottled up in the House Rules Committee.

NO FLASH FLOODING

By UNITED PRESS

A gully-washing, seldom-seen rain of 2.1 inches fell Saturday afternon at Alpine, Texas after teasing showers played over most of the state, breaking a monotonous heat wave for some areas.

Newsman Charlie Hunter at Alpine said the heavy rai. there produced no flash flooding and no highways were under water. The city, the gateway to the rugged Big Bend in deep West Texas, has only averaged about six inches of rain per year for the last 10 years.

Hunter said good rains were also reported at Marfa and Fort Davis. Good rains fell Friday in the Fort Stockton area.

Radio Reports

The weather bureau said Saturday afternoon that radar reports showed scattered showers and thundershowers in an area bounded by Corsicana, Wills Point, Nocona and Mineral Wells. It was the intensity of showers varied from light to heavy and there was little movement to the rain information.

Longview had .71 of an inch of rain Friday with unofficial totals of 1.75 reported in the vicinity of the Gregg County airport.

DDust Devil

Combinations of hot and cooling atmosphere produced a "dust devil" five miles northeast of Amon Carter Field. A "dust devil" is a giant whirlwind which resembles a tornado but lacks the strength of one. It usually only scatters leaves and stirs up dust.

Temperatures soared into the 100s in many areas of the state.

The weather bureau saw little change in conditions for Sunday. Generally the forecasts called for widely scattered isolated afternoon and evening thundershowers and little change in temperatures.

Oklahoma Holds Negro For Arson On Schoolhouse

OKEMAH, Okla., July 20 (AP)—A 64 - year - old Negro deacon was charged here with second-degree arson in what officers describe as Oklahoma's first "flare-up" since a Supreme Court mandate started segregation crumbling in state schoolrooms two years ago.

Eli Watkins was accused of burning to the ground a frame Negro schoolhouse that stood only about 100 yards from his farmhouse, 2½ miles east of Paden. He was charged with trying to force integration.

Two state officials said today to their knowledge this is the first criminal act in Oklahoma attributed to the integration movement. They are O. K. Bivins, head of the State Crime Bureau, and E. H. McDonald, assistant superintendent of public instruction.

Intergration Spreads

Integration has spread quietly and orderly through many districts of this so-called border state since the Supreme Court mandate was handed down in May 1955. Oklahoma now has 178 integrated high schools, 90 integrated junior high schools and 172 elementary schools with white and Negro pupils.

The July 6 school-burning incident involving the mild ,elderly Negro farmer is strange because of the concerted effort by his Negro neighbors to delay integration.

The three-room schoolhouse also had served for many years as the meeting place for the 60-odd members of St. John's Baptist church of which Watkins was a deacon.

Sheriff E. L. Jeter said Watkins told him he wanted Negro children in the district to be integrated with white children at Paden. Watkins has no children.

The Negro deacon admitted he wanted the school closed because he feels there are not enough studnts to warrant paying the teacher's salary.

"I'm a taxpayer and we support these schools," he explained.

Denies Force

But he denied trying to force integration, saying: "I was born down in Texas and I ain't trying to push them. If they want them all right, if the don't that's all right, too."

Watkins also denied to reporters that he burned the schoolhouse.

"I took it on myself," he said, in reference to the confession. "But my hand to God, I didn't do it."

If the burning was an attempt to abolish the school, it failed. The Negro parents have said they do not want to send their children to white schools at this time.

The Rev. J. W. Tomlin, who lives a half mile from Watkins, said a small, ramshackle house on his farm is being "fixed up" and school will open for the 22 Negro pupils tomorrow.

EARTHLY SERMON

WEWOKA, Okla. (AP) — The Rev. Harvey Scott of the Church of Christ was delivering a Sunday sermon when he was interrupted by a mere mundane message:

"Calling Car No. 11. Calling Car No. 11."

A check showed that a quirk caused the church public address system to pick up police calls.

Engine companies 101 and 133 were dispatched to the blaze at 5:52 p.m. Firemen who battled the flames for more than one hour said that the stock was damaged by smoke, and that the owner carried no insurance on the building. Pipeline Leak Between Cities Under Control

DALLAS, July 20 (UP) — The Dallas County sheriff's department said late today that a leak in an eight-inch gasoline pipeline between Fort Worth and Dallas has been brought under control.

The break in The Texas Company line was caused when a dragline dug too deeply and ripped open the line. Gasoline spurted six to eight feet high before pressure was eased.

The scene was southeast of the interesection of Myers and Hunter Ferrel Roads south of Irving. There was no evacuation of the area but traffic was halted in the immediate area for a while.

The sheriff's office said, however, that they were withdrawing from the scene and leaving the oil company to repair its leak.

Each year citizens of the United State read approximately 18 billion, 500 million newspapers.

Man Arrested On 2 Charges

Monroe police found a new type "weapon" to list on the charge sheet early yesterday morning. Dennis Holland, 22, Negro of 912 Adams street was charged with aggravated battery and assault with a dangerous weapon—a shoe.

Holland and John Willie Lewis, Negro, of West Monroe got into an argument, and Holland allegedly knocked Lewis down and kicked him, police said. Holland was arrested at the corner of Fourteenth and Washington streets and placed in the city jail at 1 a.m.

Police also arrested Lillie Bee Ross, 22, Negro of 215 Eighth street on a warrant for simple escape. She had previously been arrested for aggravated battery with a knife. She was taken into custody at 3 a.m. yesterday at the Willie T cafe and also charged with disturbing the peace.

AT NORTHEAST STATE

2 More Residence Halls For Men To Be Erected

Two additional residence halls for men will be built at Northeast State, President Lewis C. Slater announced yesterday.

The buildings will be constructed at 1103 College Avenue on a lot which the college purchsaed from Mrs. H. K. Touchstone.

Both residence halls will be built with Federal funds at an approximate $600,000 cost.

D. Curtis Smith, local architect, has been approved as architect for the building projects, according to a contract signed by Leon Gary, president of the State Board of Education, and Gov. Earl K. Long.

One building will face the West and the other North or South. The halls will be constructed in positions on the lot so that the two-story residence, which formerly was occupied by the Touchstone family, will remain intact.

Ready In September

The dormitories will be ready for occupancy in September of 1958, according to present plans, President Slater said.

These two residences for men will provide accomodations for about 275 students.

Designs for both buildings will be similar to the residence halls on the college campus opposite College Avenue.

The halls will be two-story buildings, constructed of light yellow brick and each containing about 60 bedrooms. Additional plans call for a spacious living room, quarters for proctors, and a utility room.

One of the national fraternities at Northeast wil ocupy the white brick structure which was the Touchstone residence at the time the college bought the property.

Parking space for residents of these three buildings will be provided on the main campus just opposite the College Avenue property. The space wil be sufficient and convenient for occupants of the two residence halls for women and one for men which already are completed.

Tech Building Program Gets State Board Okay

RUSTON (Special) —Four building projects soon will be started at Louisiana Tech, following the recent acceptance of construction bids by the State Board of Education, President R. L. Ropp announced today.

An extension to the Irene Tolliver Dining Hall, to be completed within 120 days, will be constructed by the Wohlfeld Construction Company of Dallas, whose bid was $211,759.

Three dormitories, one for women and two for men, will be built by J. M. Brown of Shreveport at a cost of $1,048,892. They are expected to be ready for occupancy by the fall of 1958.

These projects will be financed by revenue - producing bonds of $1,575,000 handlled through the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency. Income from the dining hall and the three additional dormitories will be used to repay the federal loan for their construction.

The women's dormitory will accomodate 178 occupants and the two for men will provide for a total of 300 students. The men's halls, which will be connected, will be located across the driveway from Richardson and Cottingham dormitories. The girls' dormitory will be built near Dudley Hall, women's dormitory just completed.

Included in the revenue - producing bond program also is a $750,000 Student Union building. A loan for this building has been approved by the government agency and the State Boar d of Education. Bids will be sought in the near future for erecting the center and construction may get under way within the next few months, President Ropp said.

Ike Rules Out Zhukov Visit To America

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration has decided against inviting Soviet Marshal Georgi Zhukov to visit the United States, officials said today.

President Eisenhower, in off-the-cuff remarks at his news conference Wednesday, said an exchange of visits between Zhukov and Secretary of Defense Wilson might be helpful.

But officials said he never meant to imply that there was any plan actually to invite Zhukov. They expressed surprise at the wide ripples of excitement stirred by Eisenhower's words. In the House yesterday, some Republican members called Zhukov the "butcher of Budapest" and warned against inviting him.

Officials here did not rule out might pick up the ball and formally invite Zhukov's American counterpart, Secretary Wilson to visit Russia.

HOMEWARD BOUND—John L. Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Murray, 1011 Cypress, West Monroe, will return home soon following an 18-month tour of duty with the U. S. Navy in Japan. The quartermaster third class has been stationed aboard the USS Platt.

REPORTS BI-RACIAL GROUP

Mississippi Only State With Falling Negro Vote

ATLANTA, July 20 (AP)—The biracial Southern Regional Council reported today that of 11 Southern States, "only in Mississippi did Negro (voter) registration level off, or perhaps decline, in the past four years."

In an analysis of an extensive survey conducted last fall, it listed the Southwide figure at 1,238,000, a gain of 229,400 since 1952.

But, it hastened to add, "The current figure represents only about 25 per cent of the 4,980,000 Negroes of voting age in the region, as compared with 60 per cent registration among eligible white Southerners."

Bi - Racial

The council is made up of white and Negro leaders in various fields seeking "equal opportunity for all." It has headquarters in Atlanta where it maintains a research and educational staff under the direction of Harold C. Fleming.

It has been largely supported in recent years by grants from the Ford Foundation's Fund for the Republic.

It observed that its newest release on Negro registration has added timeliness because of wide debate over the Negro's access to the ballot brought on by civil rights bills in Congress.

On Mississippi, the report said:

Latest Miss. Figures

"The latest estimate of Negro registrants was made in 1955; 20,000 is the figure generally agreed upon for that year, about the same as two years earlier. Gov. J. P. Coleman, however, estimated Negro registration in 1954 at 22,000. Some observers feel that the number has remained static at best, and others believe there has been a sharp drop."

The council credited Texas with the South's largest Negro registration, 214,000, and Louisiana with the highest percentage of the total 18. Georgia was put second in registration with 163,389 and Louisiana, third, with 161,410.

WITH KHRUSHCHEV

French Communist Flies To Russian Conference

PARIS, July 20 (AP)—Jacques Duclos, iron-fisted Stalinist secretary of the French Communist party, flew to Moscow today for conferences with Soviet boss Nikita Khrushchev.

The Duclos parley is one of a series Khrushchev has been having with European Communist leaders since he disposed of V. M. Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Kaganovich in a Kremlin coup.

French Communist sources say Khrushchev has expressed "lively satisfaction" with the results of the talks he has held so far, especially with two tops aids of Yugoslavia's President Tito. The Yugoslavs have made it plain they did not share this feeling, however.

Also Attended

The Paris newspaper France-Soir said in a dispatch from Belgrade that Poland's party chief, Wladyslaw Gomulka, and Hungarian Premier Janos Kadar were also in Moscow for talks with Khrushchev. The Polish embassy here said it had no such information and declared Gomulka, said to be vacationing in the Carpathian Mountains, must be in Warsaw Monday for celebrations of the 13th anniversary of establishment of the Communist regime.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman in Budapest declined comment on Kadar's whereabouts, but he also has been reported on vacation since early in July.

Stress Need

The Communist newspaper L'Humanite carried a dispatch from its Moscow correspondent today saying the purpose of the talks was to stress the need for noninterference by one Communist country in another's affairs and to raise living standards.

That is the line Khrushchev has been taking and which he accused the demoted party leaders of violating.

French sources who make it their business to keep an eye on local Communist doings said Duclos may not have an easy time in Moscow. They say dissident factions within the party here have written a memorandum to Khrushchev accusing Duclos of supporting the Molotov-Malenkov-Kaganovich line and opposing the Soviet first secretary. Whether Duclos will return to Paris with a new approach and continued prestige or just to resign his post on Kremlin orders was a subject being debated.

Reds Put Drydock In Mediterranean

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 20 (UP)—A hughe Soviet floating drydock passed into the Mediterranean from the Black Sea today, apparently as part of a Soviet Mediterranean naval buildup.

It was the second big Soviet drydock to be sent down the Turkish Straits to the Mediterranean in a month and coincided with the passage of a number of naval vessels, including a modern cruiser and three destroyers, from the relatively secluded Black Sea to the strategic Mediterranean.

Destination of the drydock was believed to be Albania.

Observers said it was towed by two tugs and seemed to be large enough to accommodate vessels up to 3,000 tons.

Albania Soviet Satellite

"It clearly indicates naval construction work by the Russians in the Mediterranean," a Turkish shipping source said.

The Russians are reported to have a major submarine base at Sasenor, an island off the Albanian coast.

Tiny Albania is the only Soviet satellite on the Mediterranean, which always has been considered a Western naval preserve. There is no way to prevent the Soviets from maneuvering on the Mediterranean, however, since it is international water.

Activity Picked Up

Soviet naval activity in the Mediterranean intensified last month just as the U. S. Sixth Fleet and naval elements of other Western nations began NATO maneuvers. A Soviet cruiser and three destroyers came in from the Black Sea. Apparently from the Soviet vessel. It is not listed in the 1957 edition of the authoritative naval base at Sevastopol.

The cruiser was identified as the Mikhail Kuzutov, a brand - new vessel. It is not listed in the 1957 edition of the authoritative naval almanac, Jane's Fighting Ships.

Three Soviet submarines, two of them long-range models and one a smaller coastal sub, entered the Mediterranean via the Straits of Gibraltar early this summer. At least two were turned over to Egypt, and there have been reports that even these still are manned by Russian crews.

FOR ANNUAL MEET

State Farm Bureau Delegates Converging On Alexandria

The early arrivals were presidents of the 59 parish organizations or their representatives, who compose the Farm Bureau Resolutions Committee. Their deliberations, which begin at 10 a.m. Sunday, will consume the first day of the four-day event.

Final recommendations of the Resolutions Committee will not be completed until tomorrow. The proposals then will be referred Wednesday to the 131 voting delegates elected from the parishes, and if adopted, will guide the 25,000-member farm organization for the coming year.

Resolutions already adopted by parish Farm Bureaus and sent to the state convention for consideration include measures calling for re-enactment of the Right To Work Law, demands that unions be subject to anti - trust legislation, requests for a stronger trespassing law in the state, and a statement in opposition to present proposals for the Overton Canal.

Resolutions presented today will be turned over to one of four subcommittees, each headed by a Louisiana Farm Bureau officer. The subcommittees and their chairmen are: International Affairs, Paul Ransom of Monroe; National Affairs, Malcolm S. Dougherty of Jackson; Farm Program, James Graugnard of St. James; and State and Local Affairs, D. B. Means, Jr. of Gloster.

An open meeting of the committee will be held tomorrow at which time any Farm Bureau member may present a resolution for consideration by the committee. Monday's program will be concluded by a banquet featuring the state finals in the Farm Bureau Talent Find and speeches by John C. Lynn of Washington, D.C. and Dave Mieher of Jackson, Mississippi. Lynn is legislative director of American Farm Bureau Federation, and Mieher is executive vice president of Southern Farm Bureau Life Insurance Company.

One of the convention highlights will be an address Tuesday morning by Charles B. Shuman of Sullivan, Illinois, president of the million-and-a-half member American Farm Bureau Federation. He will discuss his organization's role in deciding American agricultural policy, using the theme, "Let a farmer decide what's best for a farmer."

The program Tuesday also will feature 10 separate conferences to suggest programs for the 10 major agricultural commodities in Louisiana. Meetings are scheduled on cotton, rice, sugar cane, dairying, livestock, truck crops (including sweet potatoes), beekeeping, fishing and trapping, forestry and poultry. Each commodity group will present its recommendations to the voting delegates for consideration Wednesday.

Also on the agenda Tuesday are two youth contests sponsored by the Women's Committee. That morning, the best young agricultural speakers in the state will compete for an expense-paid trip to Chicago. That night, the Louisiana Farm Bureau Queen will be chosen to represent the organization at all state fairs and festivals. Current queen is Margaret Richardson of Haynesville in Claiborne Parish.

Official action of the voting delegates Wednesday morning will climax the convention. Before adopting policies for the coming year, the delegates will elect the Louisiana Farm Bureau officers and board of directors, and will hear reports from L. L. Lovell, president, and R. J. Badeaux, organization director. Lovell, a Cheneyville farmer, is serving his first term as president.

NAMES COMMITTEE

Ike Works On Program To Give States Power

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)—President Eisenhower took another step today toward getting work started on a program for returning to the states some of the vast powers now exercised by the federal government.

He named a seven-man committee of federal officials, including three cabinet members, to work with a 10-member committee of state governors on the problem.

The committee of governors was named earlier by Illinois Gov. William G. Stratton, chairman of the executive committee of the National Governors' Conference.

Study Group

Eisenhower said he hoped the study group—to be known as the joint federal-state action committee — will begin work "as soon as necessary arrangements have been made."

The President, an advocate of the states assuming more of the governmental responsibilities now centered in Washington, proposed creation of the joint committee June 24 at the governors annual meeting at Williamsburg, Va.

He said today the committee should:

—"Designate those functions which the states are ready and willing to assume and finance that are now performed or financed wholly or in part by the federal government.

—"Recommend the federal and state revenue adjustments required to enable the states to assume such functions.

—"Identify the functions and responsibilities likely to require state or federal attention in the future and to recommend the level of state effort, or federal effort, or both, that will be needed to assure effective action."

TO BE TORN DOWN

Theater Disagreement Involves Sir Winston

LONDON, July 20 (UP)—Should the century-old St. James' Theater be torn down and be replaced by a modern office building.

No, say statesman Winston Churchill and members of the theatrical world. Yes, says the owner of the site.

But, if Churchill, actress Vivien Leigh, her husband Sir Laurence Olivier, and a host of lesser movie, stage and television personalities have their way, the old St. James will stay intact.

Protest March

Sir Winston sent his blessings and a promise of money to the demonstrators, who tied up London's busiest traffic streets in the west end theatrical district today.

Miss Leigh climbed a soapbox and said Churchill sent his best wishes for success, had pledged $1,400 to a preservation fund, but wryly chided them for their tactics. With a laugh, Miss Leigh said:

"Sir Winston also commented: 'As a parliamentarian, I cannot approve of your disorderly methods.'"

These methods included an impromptu protest a week ago by Miss Leigh in the staid old House of Lords, which shocked the occupants into muttering "tch, tch," and got her thrown out.

Major Battle Seen In Luzon Mountain Area

MANILA, July 20 (UP)—The government sent a 24,000-man force backed by planes into the mountains of Luzon today in an all-out offensive against the Communist Huk rebels.

A major battle appeared to be shaping up. Intelligence reports the Huks, under the leadership of Dr. Jesus Lava, were organizing for a last-ditch stand in the rugged mountains of Quezon province in eastern Luzon.

Twenty battalions of government troops snaked through central and southern Luzon to close in on Huk concentrations. Their orders were to give no quarter to the Huks.

Naval patrol vessels steamed along the coast to bolster the infantry with gunfire and to prevent Huks from escaping to nearby islands.

The Philippine Constabulary Chief, Brig. Gen. Manuel F Cabal ordered the attack to start when a 30-day grace period expired. Although some 2,000 Huks and other outlaws took advantage of the amnesty period to surrender, the main body of rebels ignored it.

In Russia, It's The Party That Counts

By TOM WHITNEY
AP Foreign News Anayist

One important thing to understand about Soviet politics is that the Communist party is the real government of the country — and the nominal government merely a subordinate arm of the party.

That's why Nikita Khrushchev, the first secretary of the central committee of the party, is head man and Nikolai Bulganin, the premier, his underling.

For westerners, the position of the Communist party in the Soviet Union is not easy to grasp—because though it calls itself a political party it is in fact a machine for maintaining an absolute dictatorship. It's the real seat of power in the U. S. S. R. and, though it permits a government executive apparatus to exist alongside its own executive apparatus, it runs the whole show.

Guides All Activity

Even a Soviet chess club or group of radio amateurs operates only under party guidance exercised through one or another of its arms of authority.

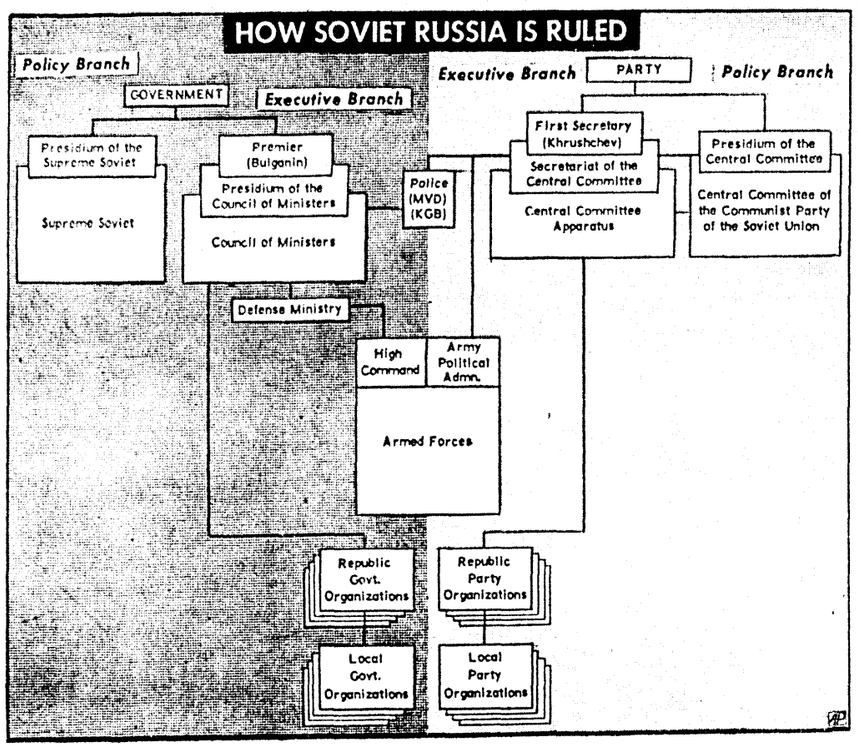
The executive arm of the Soviet Communist party is known as the secretariat of the central committee. Its chief executive is the first secretary — Khrushchev at the present time. It operates the organization known as the "apparatus of the central committee" which has vast numbers of officials who, though they are little in the limelight, are among the most powerful men of the nation.

The secretariat gives the orders to the party chiefs in the Soviet provinces who are in fact governors, each responsible for virtually everything that goes on in his territory, including all local government activity.

The policy formation organ and legislature of the party is known as the central committee. This consists of 133 full members and 122 alternate or candidate members. In Stalin's time this was a rubber stamp body. Nowadays it has actual vital importance as what amounts to a party legislature, convened at least twice each year to adopt policy decisions on the most important matters such as the recent ouster of Molotov, Malenkov, Kaganovich and Dmitri Shepilov. Heated debates take place in it.

The presidium of the central committee is a smaller committee of the central committee, consisting presently of 15 full members and 9 alternates. It was once called the Politburo (policy bureau). It is often referred to as the "ruling body of the Soviet Union." There is some measure of truth in this. Actually, however, both the secretariat and the central committee as a whole carry as much weight and sometimes more.

The government executive apparatus parallels the party executive apparatus but at all steps is inferior to it. It is headed by the Premier (Bulganin), the chairman of the council of ministers. Under him is the presidium of the council of ministers. The council of ministers can promulgate decrees. But important decrees are usually issued jointly in the name of the council of ministers and central committee of the party, which means that in fact the presidium of the central committee has passed them and the presidium of the council of ministers, consisting almost entirely of members of the central committee presidium, has rubber stamped them.



In all this the Soviet legislature, the supreme Soviet — officially under terms of the constitution the highest organ in the land — plays an insignificant role. Its presidium rubber stamps laws and appointments sent to it by the party presidium. Its chairman, Marshal Voroshilov, nominally Soviet president, spends his time hanging medals and decorations on the recipients.

Army Least Dominated

In this picture of Soviet government the army and the police occupy special positions. The armed forces including the army are subordinate to the minister of defense, currently Marshal Zhukov, who is a member of the council of ministers and also a full member of the presidium of the central committee. The army is more free of direct party domination than almost any other organization in the country. It also has all the weapons in the country. This means that in a time of crisis the army could — if its leaders, particularly Marshal Zhukov, deemed it necessary — act independently of the party. This makes it a powerful political force — potentially.

The police under Stalin was kept generally free of party domination. Stalin used it as a personal weapon. Now, however, the police, though nominally subject to the government apparatus, in fact takes its directions from the secretariat of the party. The police, however, has lost much of the former power it possessed under executed Lavrenty Beria.

Soil Bank Subsidy Program Shows Efficiency Rate Of 46 Per Cent

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—The controversial soil bank subsidy program shows an efficiency rate of about 46 per cent in the matter of reducing the nation's overproducing crop acreage.

The soil bank program was authorized by congress last year with major provisions set to expire with 1959 crops. It directed the agriculture department to offer payments to farmers who planted less than their assigned allotments of cotton, wheat, corn, rice, and tobacco.

With crop land producing more than could be sold at government-supported prices, surpluses were piling up in the hands of the department. The objective of the soil bank was to help bring about a cut in farm production to a point where supplies balanced output.

Taking the crop acreage in 1955 as the base — that being the last year prior to inauguration of the soil retirement program, the new measure will get a net reduction of about 13 million acres this year.

Year before last farmers harvested about 333 million acres of various crops. The government's recent crop report estimated that about 320 million acres will be harvested this year.

But farmers had signed agreements to retire 28 million acres from production. For doing this they were offered payments ranging from an average of $18 an acre for wheat, $37 for corn, $50 for cotton, $64 for rice and $220 for tobacco to much smaller amounts for retiring lands from other crop uses.

The government's total obligation for this year is about 700 million dollars, or an average of about $25 an acre for the idled land.

But for every acre farmers took out of production under the soil bank, they added slightly more than half an acre of other lands to the production of crops. This added land — much of it having been pastures, meadows and the like — was not put to the big surplus crops but to others.

However, from the standpoint of reducing the size of the farm plant the government is paying an average of about $53 an acre.

Farmers cut this year's corn average about 7,241,000 acres or 9 per cent from 1955; wheat about 4,124,000 acres or 8.7 per cent; cotton about 2,124,000 acres or 16 per cent; rice about 478,000 acres or 26 per cent; and tobacco about 366,000 acres or 24 per cent.

But these decreases have been offset in part by increases in a number of other crops not covered by the soil bank or by the production controls that govern wheat, corn, cotton, rice, peanuts and tobacco.

These increases include 3,030,000 acres or 16 per cent for soybeans; grain sorghums, 4,805,000 acres or nearly 25 per cent; barley, 400,000 acres or nearly 3 per cent; flaxseed, 454,000 acres or about 9 per cent; and lesser amounts of acreages for a large number of minor crops.

Production estimates for these various crops indicate there is a possibility that some headway may be made this year in reducing surpluses of cotton and wheat. But the corn oversupply situation may not be improved because of the prospective increase in production of competitive livestock feed grains, such as sorghum grains, oats and barley.

There also is a possibility that an increase in soybean plantings may toss this crop into the surplus troubled group.

The future of the soil bank will be determined by its accomplishments this year. On this both the administration and Congress are agreed.

But how will its failure or success be judged. If it is judged on this bases of the net over-all reduction in acreage, it faces trouble.

If it is judged on the basis of production volume, the result might be a little different.

The department's latest production report forecast over-all crop production this year at about 6.7 per cent below the record high volume produced in 1955, the last year prior to the soil bank.

Thus, this report indicated that with a 4 per cent drop in total harvested acreage, the production would be down 6.7 per cent.

But whether this production forecast will be borne out at harvest time is a question. The department attributed much of the prospective decline in volume to adverse weather this spring and early summer. In many important producing areas, excessive rains and floods hampered planting and progress of crops.

The bidding:

Opening lead: King of spades.

Declarer in today's hand had to be devout. Like the Notre Dame quarter back in the early days of this century, outmanned by his opposition, he had to rely on a punt and a prayer. He punted accurately, offered his prayer, and left the rest to providence.

His leap to five diamonds may seem rather daring, but his tactics meet with our approval. A free raise promises a good hand, and he hoped partner's values were not concentrated in hearts. Observe that the aggressive bid shut the opposition out of finding a reasonably good sacrifice bid in hearts.

West opened the king of spades, and prospects did not appear bright for declarer, who faced the loss of two spades and a club. Then, too, if West held a six card spade suit, dummy's ace would be ruffed away at the outset. But declarer got by this hazard when East followed suit.

Success of the contract was going to depend either on dropping the queen of clubs (a rather remote possibility) or on being able to force a favorable lead. If the queen of clubs were doubleton, then nature itself would take care of declarer. If West had the queen of clubs, there was no balm in Gilead, for he would cash the queen and two spades. But if East has the club queen, declarer could tie the noose around his neck by forcing him into a suicidal lead.

The first part of his campaign involved clearing the North hand of hearts. After winning the opening lead, a heart was ruffed in the closed hand. Declarer then reentered dummy again with the queen of trumps and ruffed the last heart. Then came the attempt to drop the queen of clubs, but the queen remained firm. The remaining club was led. East was in and had the unpleasant choice of leading a heart or a club, which permitted declarer to ruff in dummy as he discarded one of the losing spades from his hand.

Former School Superintendent Finds Life Worth Living As Truck Driver

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Truck driver Charles Wehrer is bespectacled and bald and not particularly muscular. His language is precise and there's a scholarly air about him.

Until a few months ago, Charles Wehrer was a school teacher.

It took him more than a decade to work his way up to a salary of $6,600 a year. That's the amount he drew as superintendent-principal-teacher and substitute school bus driver at Shandon, Calif.

His job entailed such a multiplicity of duties that his health suffered and his physician recommended that he try something else.

Wehrer, recalling his experience as a trucking pool unit commander in the Air Force in Italy, walked into the office of Republic Van and Storage Co.

He was put to work — at a starting salary of $6,500.

Beyond that, his job holds prospects of annual earnings between $7,500 and $9,000, the average pay range for cross-country van drivers. Some top men, those owning their own tractors, make as much as $18,000.

Wehrer in his 10 years of teaching, never made more than $5,000 a year until his Shandon appointment. Now he doesn't know whether he'll ever go back to the classroom again.

Gave Up Doctorate Studies

He's keeping a hand in, just in case, by teaching an adult evening school class. But he's given up studying for his doctorate.

"I'm not ashamed of what I'm doing," he said. "I'm not afraid of some callouses on my hands or a few sore muscles. It's just that I don't want my kids—my former students—to think that I've let them down, that I betrayed my first calling, which is that of a teacher."

Financially, it seems clear that driving a truck offers a more promising future.

The fact hasn't escaped the notice of other teachers who read about Wehrer in a newspaper account. Within a short time after the article was published, his employer was deluged with about 2,000 inquiries from teachers and their families, company officials said.

Most of them, they added, were looking for summer jobs, but between 15 and 20 per cent sought a permanent switch. They wanted to verify the truckers' pay scales and find out how long it would take them to learn the business.

BRIGHT-EYED SENIORS

Oldsters On Broadway Are Busiest Players

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—A lot of the busiest players on Broadway are the gray-haired but bright-eyed seniors of show business.

Theater sometimes seems the special realm of hearts young and gay—but lots of old folks are also at home in the spotlight's glare.

Nine veterans, average age 75, have been busy in recent months on main stem stages. Another score or more in their late 60s rank among the most frequently cast players on Broadway.

Melodrama

They enact melodrama, as does Estelle Winwood, 74; romp in farce, as Ethel Griffies, 79; heighten drama, as Finlay Currie, 78. They even join musical comedy—Viola Roache, 71, is in the standout smash, "My Fair Lady."

Most, for some unexplained reason, hail from the British Isles.

Leading the vintage vanguard in recent activities were Sir Lewis Casson, 81, and his wife, Dame Sybil Thorndike, 74, as stars of Graham Greene's mystic melodrama "The Potting Shed."

Another elder performer, 79-year-old May Hallatt came back to these shores to play in "Separate Tables," after a 54-year action-packed career in other climes.

63 Years

Miss Hallatt began acting 63 years ago, but that's a mark eclipsed by Ethel Griffies, also 79. Miss Griffies got on stage for the first tie at the age of 3.

Symbolizing the trouping spirit of the vast majority of players of her generation, Miss Griffies blithely went on cross-country tour of "The Matchmaker" when its long New York run ended.

A similar trouping enthusiast is Stratford-born Halliwell Hobbes, 79. After a season on Broadway, Hobbes frequently goes off for a summer of stock.

Consider also Charles Carson, 71, who made his American debut only a few months ago in "The Apple Cart," enacting a role for which Bernard Shaw personally chose him 30 years ago. Carson remained for the road tour.

Then there is Estelle Winwood, 74, whose most recent stint was in "Speaking of Murder," and who over the past half-dozen seasons has created several notable roles, including a breathtaking performance in "The Mad Woman of Chaillot."

Before he was named to the U.S. Supreme Court in 1939, Justice William O. Douglas was chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Mrs. G. B. Wilson, 1614 South Sixth, who is fifth vice - president of the Louisiana P-TA, will preside at the afternoon session on Tuesday, August 6, when there will be a discussion on "Our Weaknesses" and Our Strength in the P-TA Legislative Program.

Mrs. W. S. Vincent, 3800 Harrison Avenue, past president of the Louisiana P-TA, will be a member of the panel which will conduct the discussion. With her will be Lawrence Higgins of Baton Rouge moderator and Mrs. Paul Waddell of Shreveport.

Mrs. Vincent also will participate in the presentation of the legislative action program for the organization at the Wednesday morning, August 7, session. She is a member of the legislative policies committee.

Some 150 to 200 P-TA members from over the state will attend the workshop in Pleasant Hall, and learn the "how and why of legislation," the conference theme.

Mrs. Edmund Conger of Shreveport, general workshop chairman said the purpose of the conference is to inform the membership on legislative process so that each member will be better able to put into operation, "with the utmost effectiveness, the P-TA object of securing adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth.

Congress Asks For Curb On Oil Imports

By CHARLES HASLET

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)— A chorus swelled in Congress this week for action at once by the Eisenhower administration to curb oil imports.

"People are going broke by the week," Sen Yarborough (D-Tex) said. "Something should be done without longer deliberations."

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan) said "the situation is so critical" that legislative action will have to be taken if executive action is not effective.

"If oil imports have reached a point at which they damage the Texas oil industry—and they certainly have—then those imports are too high from the standpoint of our national security," Sen. Johnson (D-Tex) told the Senate.

Sen. Barrett (R-Wyo), in another Senate speech, said "It will be incumbent upon the President" to act if the problem is not settled on a voluntary basis before the end of July.

These were a few of the pleas sounded by congressmen from oil producing states. Most said any voluntary plan to reduce imports would be futile, apparently fearing that a special cabinet committee, now studying the problem, might recommend such a plan rather than a presidential order cutting imports.

Secretary of Commerce Weeks, chairman of the committee, said he hoped the committee could report before Aug. 1.

"We are working as fast as we can," Weeks told a Senate commerce subcommittee.

That brought from Yarborough: "We are not asking you to work. All our people want is action. Just stop the imports. Just write that order. It is by presidential order that imports are allowed, by executive proclamation."

The Texan said that in the Southwest "the great oil producing sections are in depression now because of these terrific foreign imports."

Swedish Swimmers Not Really Nudists

STOCKHOLM, July 20 (UP) — A Stockholm newspaper took a good look at Swedish swimmers today and decided that only 39 per cent of them like to swim in the nude.

Despite a popular belief abroad that practically all Swedes like to swim in the nude altogether, a survey showed 37 per cent insist on some form of bathing suit, brief or otherwise. Twelve per cent said they were "uncertain."

The other 22 per cent, the survey said "don't go swimming at all."

Thomas A. Edison was once sent home from school because his teacher considered him "too backward."

DEFENDS STAND

Statement Is Released By Camille Gravel, Jr.

"Some of my political opponents have, with evil design, maliciously and deliberately attempted to deceive the members of the state central committee and the Democrats of Louisiana as to my views on race problems and my position as Democratic national committeeman. They falsely charge that I "embraced and espoused racial integration" and that I "promote mixing of the races." I have never advocated or proposed "integration" of the races" in any shape, form or fashion and I challenge anyone to prove the contrary. I have declared that, in my opinion, compulsory segregation is wrong. At the same time I recognized the massive problems which confront us in Louisiana when I further stated that because of the economic, social and emotional aspects involved, any attempt to desegregate the schools in Louisiana might prove "disastrous.,, Certainly, those statements do not make me an integrationist."

"I am not a member or supporter of the N. A. A. C. P., the White Citizen's Council, the A. D. A., the Southern Gentlemen, the Communist party or the Ku Klux Klan. I am a moderate, loyal, realistic Louisiana Democrat anxious to see that our great party continues to champion the multiple causes of its members. I believe in uniform recognition of human rights and feel that the privileges of minority groups should be fully respected.

"Willie Rainach and his adherents know that only the national committee has authority to remove me as national committeeman for Louisiana. Rainach's real purpose is to run for governor in 1960 and attempt to destroy the Democratic party in Louisiana. He is no Democrat. He did not support the party's nominees in 1952 nor in 1956. Rainach uses the segregation issue as an excuse to injure those who do not share his violent race prejudices. To the best of my knowledge, his every act has been in opposition to and not in support of the Democratic party.

"I have been criticized for supporting the Democratic party's platform and especially those provisions which endorse the right of all qualified persons to vote, regardless of race. No other charge has been made against me.

"The right to vote is a fundamental right in a democracy and is fully guaranteed by the Constitution of the State of Louisiana. It is un-democratic to deprive any citizen of the right to vote because of his race. As an individual and as Democratic national committeeman for Louisiana I support the Democratic party's platform. As a Louisianian I favor legislation which would protect the right of every American citizen to vote regardless of race or creed, subject to reasonable uniform requirements. The action taken by Willie Rainach and some of the Citizen's Councils which deprived thousands of colored people of their constitutional right to vote is condemned by all fair minded people. If radicals can prevent one group or class of people from voting then it is time for alarm. Others, perhaps because of religious or political belief, may lose their right of suffrage.

"I hope for and advocate a moderate, intelligent, cautious and reasonable approach to all matters involving relationship between the races with full consideration being given to the enduring tenet "that all men are created equal and endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights among which are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.' "

AT WORKSHOP HERE

Solution To Problems In Industry Pinpointed

Social relations problems in industry and methods of solving them were emphasized by William McDowell at last week's final program of the Social Studies workshop sponsored by Northeast State.

McDowell, training supervisor of Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation, pointed to the necessity of industry's maintaining good relationship with customers, government, and employees.

The former teacher of social studies underscored three social relations problems in industry: communications, lack of identification of the worker with the group, and interdepartmental difficulties due to size and specialization.

Keeping employees informed regarding changes in production can become a major communication difficulty, McDowell said. Distortion of statements frequently increases problems.

The worker may fail to identify himself with the group. He may be unable to see how his job relates to others.

Large industries, with their corresponding number of departments, make more demands for solution of social relation problems, the speaker pointed out.

Division of labor into departments calls for a system of supervision, McDowell explained. The supervisor's duty is to integrate goals of management with employees.

The speaker showed advantages of the following methods used by industry to maintain good social relations: listening, group meetings and discussions, participation, and interviewing.

Success or failure, he said, may depend upon how well a person listens to directions.

Some industries emphasize discussion meetings where employees feel free to express opinions of policies.

Numerous companies permit workers to share in the decision as to what will be done with money which is made. They also may participate by offering suggestions as to ways of making money. The suggestion is considered by a management-employee committee, then the worker shares in profits if the idea proves a financial success.

McDowell termed the interview as one of the best methods by which the supervisor can understand employees. It may provide a flow of information which can prove valuable in bringing about good relationships.

The chemist, physicist, or other scientist may readily secure a position in industry, the speaker asserted, but if he hopes to hold the job it will be wise for him to be good in social relations.

President's Planes Not Needless Luxury, Press Secretary Contends

By PATRICIA WIGGINS

WASHINNGTON, July 20 (UP)—White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said today President Eisenhower's fleet of airplanes is "part of the transportation system of the White House" and not a "needless luxury."

Hagerty and a reporter—Peter Kumpa of the Baltimore Sun—had a somewhat heated exchange over Eisenhower's two twin-engined aero Commander planes and two helicopters.

Eisenhower also has another plane—the four-engined Colombine III.

Jumpa recalled that Eisenhower gave up the presidential yacht Williamsburg in 1953 because it was a "needless luxury." He asked Hagerty if the aircraft might be called the same.

Hagerty Retorts

"No," the White House press secretary replied crisply. "Of course not. They are part of the transportation system of the White House."

The reporter asked whether that explanation would apply to Eisenhower's trips to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm—where the President went today for the weekend. Hagerty replied the aero Commanders also have been used for "small, quick business trips" in areas unable to handle a big plane.

He added that the helicopters have been used once—in Eisenhower's Operation Alert evacuation from the White House last Friday.

When the reporter asked whether the aero Commanders have been used mostly for "business or pleasure," Hagerty shot back: "You look it up, we make it public every time they're used."

Kumpa again mentioned Eisenhower's use of "the planes" for trips to the farm. Hagerty harply suggested that "you'd better get the facts straight and get them darn straight."

LOUISIANA'S HEBERT FACE BRAVES KEEP LOOP LEAD;

Lionel Upsets Burkemo, 3-1; Whitt Beaten

DAYTON, Ohio, July 20 (UP)—Hatchet-faced Dow Finsterwald and chubby Lionel Hebert, a pair of long-hitting longshots, conquered par and pressure to stroke their way into the finals of the PGA golf championship today.

Finsterwald, a 27-year-old battling Buckeye from Athens, Ohio, survived a hole-in-one hot streak by young Don Whitt to down his 26-year-old rival from Alameda, Calif., 2 up in the 93-degree heat which blanketed Miami Valley golf club.

And Hebert, a 29-year-old former LSU trumpet player from Lafayette, La., twice fought from behind a 2 down deficit to score an upset 3 and 1 victory over former champion Wally Burkemo of Franklin, Mich.

They were tense, hard-fought matches under a blazing sun for a berth in tomorrow's 36-hole finals as the wiry Finsterwald kept Whitt from completing one of the most sensational comebacks in PGA history and Hebert avenged his big brother, Jay, who was knocked out in the quarter-finals by the blond Burkemo.

Finsterwald had to rally his psychological forces, too, because he had started out as if to annihilate Whitt by taking a 5 up lead at the end of 10 holes in the morning round.

But then Whitt, a barber's son who specializes in close shaves, sparked an eight iron shot into the cup on the 145-yard 13th hole for the first ace of his career. This gave him the "big lift" and he proceeded to win five of those last six morning holes—three of them with birdies—to even the match as each carded a three under par 68.

Twice as they started the afternoon 18 holes Whitt, the slender, black-haired "baby" of the tournament, forged into a 1 up lead. But each time Finsterwald fought back to even it up and finally it was Whitt who cracked with an out of bounds double bogey on the 30th hole which put Dandy Dow up to stay.

The handsome, poker-faced Hebert also had a battle on his hands. He trailed Burkemo, the 1953 champion and a finalist in three of the last six years, 1 down at the end of the morning round with a par 71 to blond Wally's 70. But Burkemo's putter betrayed him on the afternoon round with two three-putt greens and the miss of a crucial five-footer telling the story.

Although Burkemo was a heavy favorite, Hebert started right after him with a birdie on the very first hole which put him 1 up and signalled what was in store. Bulldog Wally squared it on the second with a 20-foot birdie putt and then went 1 up on the third as Hebert bogeyed by three-putting.

Burkemo, known as "Little Sarge" because of his purple heart war record, went 2 up on the fourth with a 10-foot birdie putt but dropped one on the 162-yard eighth when Hebert rapped a five iron to within six feet for a winning birdie. They made the turn that way, Burkemo 1 up with a one under par 35 against a 36.

The two chunky shotmakers matched shot for shot until the 16th where Burkemo sprayed his drive for a bogey which evened the match. But bulldog Wally, one of the game's greatest match players, went 1 up at the 18th as Hebert bogeyed by driving the rough.

The imperturbable Hebert went 2 down on the 19th, as they started the afternoon round, by calling a penalty shot on himself because the ball moved as he addressed his putt. He got one back by dropping a 12-foot birdie putt on the 22nd hole and squared it on the 23rd when Burkemo was short with his approach for a bogey. Then Hebert forged into his 2 up lead at the turn as Burkemo three-putted both the 24th and 27th holes.

Grim-faced Wally cut his deficit to 1 down on the 28th by spinning in a 10-foot birdie putt but then went 2 down again by missing a five-footer to bogey the 32nd. They halved the next two and Hebert put it away for keeps on the 170-yard 35th by slapping a five iron tee shot to within one foot of the hole for a birdie which closed it out, 3 and 1.

Finsterwald, in the money in 56 straight tournaments, appeared in for a walkover as he piled up his quick, fat lead against Whitt. He began by winning the 510-yard first hole, banging a three wood second to the green for a birdie four. Dow then went 2 up at the seventh by approaching to within six inches for a birdie and 3 up on the 162-yard eighth by hitting his tee shot to within two feet. Whitt went 4 down as they made the turn, trapping his tee shot for a bogey.

Starting back it looked even darker for Whitt as he bogeyed the 10th with a short approach to go 5 down.

Then, on the 145-yard 13th, he whipped an eight iron shot to the carpet which hit just past the pin and backspun into the cup for an ace. That gave him the impetus for a dazzling drive.

TENSION AND INTENTION AT PGA TOURNEY —Naked eye frequently misses fleeting expressions of golfer Walter Burkemo, known as dead-pan player. Sequence of views show him contemplating the fairway, straining to get yardage, studying the lie ahead after the shot, and finally, moving up to make an approach. These happened on the first hole of PGA play at Dayton, O., yesterday. When it was all over Burkemo had been upset by long-shot Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La. (AP Wirephoto)

Stirling Moss Wins Grand Prix With A Vanwall

AINTREE, England, July 20 (AP) — Stirling Moss of Britain, driving a British built vanwall, won the European Grand Prix today after engine trouble forced world champion Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina out about halfway through the 270 - mile grind.

It was the first time a British driver ever had driven a British made car to victory in Britain's major race.

Luigi Musso of Italy, was second and Mike Hawthorn, another Briton, was third. Each drove a Ferrari.

Moss was timed in 3 hours, 6 minutes, 37.8 seconds. The 27-year-old daredevil broke the lap record four times en route his triumph. The record now stands at 90.6 miles an hour.

Only eight of the starting 18 cars finished. None of the four officially entered Maserati machines completed the grind. Other finishers were: Maurice Trintingnant of France, Ferrari; Roy Salvadori of Britain, Cooper; Bob Gerard of Britain, Cooper - Bristol; Stuart Lewis Evans of Britain, Vanwall; Ivor Bues of Britain, privately owned Maserati.

WYNN WINS FOR INDIANS

CLEVELAND, July 20 (UP)—Bob Avila's single with the bases full in the eighth inning against Tom Byrne, today enabled the Cleveland Indians to end the New York Yankees' five-game winning streak, 4-2.

Don Kaiser replaced Chico Carrasquel and was racked for three straight hits in the eighth, and the tremendous home run spree they've been on since the All-Star game when Duke Snider hit the 300th homer of his career today and Randy Jackson contributed another in a 7-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

It was the ninth victory in 10 starts for the Dodgers since the All-Star game and in those 10 games they have slugged 18 homers. Snider has hit eight. Today's win also was the Dodgers' 10 in 11 games with the Cubs this season.

Don Kaiser won his eighth game although he needed help from Clem Labine in the final 2 1-3 innings. Dave Hillman wound up the loser when he was literally knocked out of the box in the first inning after a line drive single by Gil Hodges split the nail on the middle finger of his pitching hand.

Don Kaiser replaced Hillman and was racked for three straight hits as the Dodgers got off to a 4-1 lead. Hillman had walked Snider and given up the single to Hodges before he left the game. Sandy Amoros and Gino Cimoli greeted Kaiser with consecutive doubles and Jackson singled home the fourth run.

Round Table Easily Cops Western Run

Jockey Willie Shoemaker went to the whip only three times, each a light smack more to rouse than urge the 3-year-old Round Table and coasted in without difficulty.

The time for the mile and one-quarter was 2:00 3-5.

He returned $2.30, $2.50 and $2.10. Irisher paid $13 and $3.80, and Joe Price $2.50.

Misses Suggs, Wright Fire 69 To Lead Homestead Golf

HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 20 (UP)—Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., and Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., today shot a sparkling third-round 69 to take the 54-hole lead in the 72-hole $7,500 Homestead four-ball women's golf tournament with a score of 210.

Going into the final round of play Sunday over the 6,375-yard par-74 Cascade course, Misses Suggs and Wright hold a five-stroke lead over their nearest rivals.

Tied for second were the teams of Beverly Hanson, Indio, Calif., and Kathy Cornelius, Lake Worth, Fla., last year's winners; and the half-way leaders, Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, and Marilynn Smith, Wichita, Kan.

A 68, six-under-women's-par and the tournament's lowest round, bolted the Hanson-Cornelius team into contention after the Crocker-Smith team had posted a 75, largely because of a triple-bogie seven on the difficult 400-yard par-four 14th hole.

One-under-par-37 going out, Miss Hanson and Mrs. Cornelius caught fire starting at the par three 11th hole. There they began a birdie run that saw them pick up five in the next six holes.

In their bid for the $1,500 first prize, Misses Suggs and Wright did not go over par on a single hole. Miss Suggs got birdies at the 196-yard par three fourth hole with a 10-foot putt and sank another of five feet at the 411-yard par five nine.

In third place was the team of Gloria Armstrong, Oakland, Calif., and Vonnie Colby, Hollywood, Fla., who added a 74 to their 143 and a total of 217.

Brazil Defeats Canada To Lead In Davis Play

MONTREAL, July 20 (UP) — Brazil beat Canada in doubles today to take a 2-1 lead in their five-match Davis Cup first-round series which will be decided in two singles matches tomorrow.

Carlos Fernandez and Armando Vieira of Brazil defeated Canada's Don Fontana and Paul Willey 8-6, 6-2, 7-9, 6-4, in the hard-fought contest.

Ruston Plays Monroe At 3 In Postponed Contest

Monroe faces Ruston at 3 this afternoon at Legion Stadium in the final Fifth District American Legion Junior baseball playoff game originally scheduled for last night. Rain forced postponement of the clash.

Lewis Kincaid will be on the mound for the McCain - Richards team against Ruston's Charles Fuller. Both boys have done excellent hurling during the playoffs, Fuller in starting roles and Kincaid in relief.

Manager Ted Gullatt can call on Hood or Malone, regular second baseman, in case Fuller gets into trouble. Fuller threw against Monroe in the first game of the series and Hood was the starter in the second clash. Malone finished both of the games.

Kincaid had a 4-1 record over the regular season for Manager Ralph Sims' Monroe squad. He pitched in the first playoff game against Ruston in relief and saved the second game for Jim Altick with good relief work. He's a righthander as is Fuller.

Ruston, sponsored by the T. L. James Company, gained the playoff finals by beating West Monroe in a two out of three semi-final series. Monroe swept two straight from Columbia in their march to the finals.

The first game of the current series was taken by Ruston, 7-2, at Ruston last Wednesday night. The next night Monroe evened the score with a 4-3 win in Monroe.

No Fractures Are Suffered By Fernandez

PHILADELPHIA, July 20 (AP)—X-rays of shortstop Chico Fernandez' jaw disclosed no fracture but the Philadelphia Phillies infielder will be hospitalized at least until Monday, the club announced today.

Fernandez was hurt in last night's game against Cincinnati when he collided with teammate Chuck Harmon as both tried for a fly ball in the fifth inning of the game won by the Redlegs 7-2.

Dr. Thomas McTear, club physician, said Fernandez suffered a mild concussion and painful facial bruises.

Harmon came out of the collision with a spike wound on the right leg and a sore neck. The outfielder said he doesn't remember making contact with Fernandez' face and believe the shortstop may have been hit in the face by the ball off the bat of Redleg catcher Smoky Burgess.

Manager Mayo Smith plans to use utility infielder Roy Smalley at shortstop. Smalley replaced Fernandez last night and slammed a home run, his first hit of the season in 11 at bats.

The injury was the third to strike the pennant embattled Phillies in the past week. Catcher Stan Lopata is sidelined with a twisted knee. Outfielder Rip Repulski, who strained muscles in his groin against Milwaukee Thursday night, returned to the lineup today.

BUMP ALHAMBRA

Leather Button Cops Arlington Futurity Purse

CHICAGO, July 20 (AP)—Alhambra, after scoring an apparent 4½ length victory in $150,075 Arlington Futurity today was disqualified and the triumph went to Leather Button.

At the end of the race, Jockey Bill Hartack, aboard Sir Ruler, lodged claim of foul against jockey Doug Dodson who was riding Olymar. Olymar was an entry, along with Alhambra, by owner Fred W. Hooper.

Stewards, after deliberating and looking at pictures for about 15 minutes, allowed the claim of interference at the 1-16th police against Dodson. Under state racing regulations, every horse in a race who has the same owner is automatically disqualified and placed fourth.

Leather Button, owned by Rockoore farms, paid $20.60, $9.60, and $6.40. Rellim S. W. returned $11.80 and $8.60 and Sir Ruler, Hartack's Mount, was $4.60 to show.

Halfway down the stretch, Al Mabsoot drew even with Monteval and moved into a half length lead. But Montaval still had a good deal of run left and fought back under Palmer's urging to get up in the final strides.

Back in the pack was High Veldt, owned by Queen Elizabeth, who attended along with the Queen Mother and Princess Elizabeth.

The victory was worth $64,652 to Strassburger, whose home is Norristown, Pa., although he has lived in Paris for many years.

Montaval, a Norseman colt out of Ballynash, went off a lightly supported 20-1 after finishing a poor third in the Clipse Stakes last Saturday. Odds on Al Mabsoot and Tribord were 100-7 each.

Montaval Claims British Race For American Owner

ASCOT, England, July 20 (AP) — French - bred Montaval, owned by Pennsylvania publisher Ralph Strassburger, outbattled the Aly Kha's Al Mabsoot in a thrilling stretch run today to win the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth stakes.

Heavy rains which began several hours before postime caused Crepello, the odds - on - favorite and Epsom Derby winner, to be scratched. But the muddy going failed to detract from as close a finish as this storied race of a mile and a half has ever produced.

Billy Muffett To Start Texas All-Star Game

DALLAS, July 20 (AP)—Billy Muffett and Murray Wall, a couple of high winning righthanders, are expected to be the starting pitchers Wednesday night in the seventeenth Texas League All-Star Game.

Muffett, who has won 13 games for Houston this season, is due to get the call for the All-Stars, an aggregation collected from seven clubs. Wall, who has posted 15 triumphs, should be the starter for Dallas, the league leader which got the host spot because it was lopping the circuit July 17—and still is by a wide margin.

Del Bissonette, one time Brooklyn Dodger first baseman, was a pitcher at the University of New Hampshire.

President's Planes Not Needless Luxury, Press Secretary Contends

By PATRICIA WIGGINS

WASHINNGTON, July 20 (UP)—White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said today President Eisenhower's fleet of airplanes is "part of the transportation system of the White House" and not a "needless luxury."

Hagerty and a reporter—Peter Kumpa of the Baltimore Sun—had a somewhat heated exchange over Eisenhower's two twin-engined aero Commander planes and two helicopters.

Eisenhower also has another plane—the four-engined Colombine III.

Jumpa recalled that Eisenhower gave up the presidential yacht Williamsburg in 1953 because it was a "needless luxury." He asked Hagerty if the aircraft might be called the same.

Hagerty Retorts

"No," the White House press secretary replied crisply. "Of course not. They are part of the transportation system of the White House."

The reporter asked whether that explanation would apply to Eisenhower's trips to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm—where the President went today for the weekend. Hagerty replied the aero Commanders also have been used for "small, quick business trips" in areas unable to handle a big plane.

He added that the helicopters have been used once—in Eisenhower's Operation Alert evacuation from the White House last Friday.

When the reporter asked whether the aero Commanders have been used mostly for "business or pleasure," Hagerty shot back: "You look it up, we make it public every time they're used."

Kumpa again mentioned Eisenhower's use of "the planes" for trips to the farm. Hagerty harply suggested that "you'd better get the facts straight and get them darn straight."

LOUISIANA'S HEBERT FACES FINSTERWALD FOR PGA TITLE; BRAVES KEEP LOOP LEAD; HIGHLAND 4-BALL ENDING TODAY

Lionel Upsets Burkemo, 3-1; Whitt Beaten

DAYTON, Ohio, July 20 (UP)—Hatchet-faced Dow Finsterwald and chubby Lionel Hebert, a pair of long-hitting longshots, conquered par and pressure to stroke their way into the finals of the PGA golf championship today.

Finsterwald, a 27-year-old battling Buckeye from Athens, Ohio, survived a hole-in-one hot streak by young Don Whitt to down his 26-year-old rival from Alameda, Calif., 2 up in the 93-degree heat which blanketed Miami Valley golf club.

And Hebert, a 29-year-old former LSU trumpet player from Lafayette, La., twice fought from behind a 2 down deficit to score an upset 3 and 1 victory over former champion Wally Burkemo of Franklin, Mich.

They were tense, hard-fought matches under a blazing sun for a berth in tomorrow's 36-hole finals as the wiry Finsterwald kept Whitt from completing one of the most sensational comebacks in PGA history and Hebert avenged his big brother, Jay, who was knocked out in the quarter-finals by the blond Burkemo.

Finsterwald had to rally his psychological forces, too, because he had started out as if to annihilate Whitt by taking a 5 up lead at the end of 10 holes in the morning round.

But then Whitt, a barber's son who specializes in close shaves, sparked an eight iron shot into the cup on the 145-yard 13th hole for the first ace of his career. This gave him the "big lift" and he proceeded to win five of those last six morning holes—three of them with birdies—to even the match as each carded a three under par 68.

Twice as they started the afternoon 18 holes Whitt, the slender, black-haired "baby" of the tournament, forged into a 1 up lead. But each time Finsterwald fought back to even it up and finally it was Whitt who cracked with an out of bounds double bogey on the 30th hole which put Dandy Dow up to stay.

The handsome, poker-faced Hebert also had a battle on his hands. He trailed Burkemo, the 1953 champion and a finalist in three of the last six years, 1 down at the end of the morning round with a par 71 to blond Wally's 70. But Burkemo's putter betrayed him on the afternoon round with two three-putt greens and the miss of a crucial five-footer telling the story.

Although Burkemo was a heavy favorite, Hebert started right after him with a birdie on the very first hole which put him 1 up and signalled what was in store. Bulldog Wally squared it on the second with a 20-foot birdie putt and then went 1 up on the third as Hebert bogeyed by three-putting.

Burkemo, known as "Little Sarge" because of his purple heart war record, went 2 up on the fourth with a 10-foot birdie putt but dropped one on the 162-yard eighth when Hebert rapped a five iron to within six feet for a winning birdie. They made the turn that way, Burkemo 1 up with a one under par 35 against a 36.

The two chunky shotmakers matched shot for shot until the 16th where Burkemo sprayed his drive for a bogey which evened the match. But bulldog Wally, one of the game's greatest match players, went 1 up at the 18th as Hebert bogeyed by driving the rough.

The imperturbable Hebert went 2 down on the 19th, as they started the afternoon round, by calling a penalty shot on himself because the ball moved as he addressed his putt. He got one back by dropping a 12-foot birdie putt on the 22nd hole and squared it on the 23rd when Burkemo was short with his approach for a bogey. Then Hebert forged into his 2 up lead at the turn as Burkemo three-putted both the 24th and 27th holes.

Grim-faced Wally cut his deficit to 1 down on the 28th by spinning in a 10-foot birdie putt but then went 2 down again by missing a five-footer to bogey the 32nd. They halved the next two and Hebert put it away for keeps on the 170-yard 35th by slapping a five iron tee shot to within one foot of the hole for a birdie which closed it out, 3 and 1.

Finsterwald, in the money in 56 straight tournaments, appeared in for a walkover as he piled up his quick, fat lead against Whitt. He began by winning the 510-yard first hole, banging a three wood second to the green for a birdie four. Dow then went 2 up at the seventh by approaching to within six inches for a birdie and 3 up on the 162-yard eighth by hitting his tee shot to within two feet. Whitt went 4 down as they made the turn, trapping his tee shot for a bogey.

Starting back it looked even darker for Whitt as he bogeyed the 10th with a short approach to go 5 down.

Then, on the 145-yard 13th, he whipped an eight iron shot to the carpet which hit just past the pin and backspun into the cup for an ace. That gave him the impetus for a dazzling drive.

TENSION AND INTENTION AT PGA TOURNEY—Naked eye frequently misses fleeting expressions of golfer Walter Burkemo, known as dead-pan player. Sequence of views show him contemplating the fairway, straining to get yardage, studying the lie ahead after the shot, and finally, moving up to make an approach. These happened on the first hole of PGA play at Dayton, O., yesterday. When it was all over Burkemo had been upset by long-shot Lionel Hebert of Lafayette, La. (AP Wirephoto)

Round Table Easily Cops Western Run

Jockey Willie Shoemaker went to the whip only three times, each a light smack more to rouse than urge the 3-year-old Round Table and coasted in without difficulty.

The time for the mile and one-quarter was 2:00 3-5.

He returned $2.30, $2.50 and $2.10. Irisher paid $13 and $3.80, and Joe Price $2.50.

Misses Suggs, Wright Fire 69 To Lead Homestead Golf

HOT SPRINGS, Va., July 20 (UP)—Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., and Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., today shot a sparkling third-round 69 to take the 54-hole lead in the 72-hole $7,500 Homestead four-ball women's golf tournament with a score of 210.

Going into the final round of play Sunday over the 6,375-yard par-74 Cascade course, Misses Suggs and Wright hold a five-stroke lead over their nearest rivals.

Tied for second were the teams of Beverly Hanson, Indio, Calif., and Kathy Cornelius, Lake Worth, Fla., last year's winners; and the half-way leaders, Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, and Marilynn Smith, Wichita, Kan.

A 68, six-under-women's-par and the tournament's lowest round, bolted the Hanson-Cornelius team into contention after the Crocker-Smith team had posted a 75, largely because of a triple-bogie seven on the difficult 400-yard par-four 14th hole.

One-under-par-37 going out, Miss Hanson and Mrs. Cornelius caught fire starting at the par three 11th hole. There they began a birdie run that saw them pick up five in the next six holes.

In their bid for the $1,500 first prize, Misses Suggs and Wright did not go over par on a single hole. Miss Suggs got birdies at the 196-yard par three fourth hole with a 10-foot putt and sank another of five feet at the 411-yard par five nine.

In third place was the team of Gloria Armstrong, Oakland, Calif., and Vonnie Colby, Hollywood, Fla., who added a 74 to their 143 and a total of 217.

Brazil Defeats Canada To Lead In Davis Play

MONTREAL, July 20 (UP) — Brazil beat Canada in doubles today to take a 2-1 lead in their five-match Davis Cup first-round series which will be decided in two singles matches tomorrow.

Carlos Fernandez and Armando Vieira of Brazil defeated Canada's Don Fontana and Paul Willey 8-6, 6-2, 7-9, 6-4, in the hard-fought contest.

Replacements Deliver Key Blows In Win

NEW YORK, July 20 (UP)—The injury-riddled Milwaukee Braves frittered away a five-run lead in the eighth inning today but bounced back to defeat the New York Giants, 7-5, on Wes Covington's second homer of the game with one on in the ninth.

It was the fifth straight triumph for the Braves, who clung to their precarious National League lead.

DeMerit's single in the second inning produced his first major league run batted in a three-run, four-hit splurge that drove Giant starter Ruben Gomez out of the box. Crandall hit a bases-empty homer into the upper left field stands in the third against Mike McCormick, and Covington hit his first of two homers in the seventh against Al Worthington.

AINTREE, England, July 20 (AP) — Stirling Moss of Britain, driving a British built vanwall, won the European Grand Prix today after engine trouble forced world champion Juan Manuel Fangio of Argentina out about halfway through the 270 - mile grind.

It was the first time a British driver ever had driven a British made car to victory in Britain's major race.

Luigi Musso of Italy, was second and Mike Hawthorn, another Briton, was third. Each drove a Ferrari.

Moss was timed in 3 hours, 6 minutes, 37.8 seconds. The 27-year-old daredevil broke the lap record four times en route his triumph. The record now stands at 90.6 miles an hour.

Only eight of the starting 18 cars finished. None of the four officially entered Maserati machines completed the grind. Other finishers were: Maurice Trintingnant of France, Ferrari; Roy Salvadori of Britain, Cooper; Bob Gerard of Britain, Cooper - Bristol; Stuart Lewis Evans of Britain, Vanwall; Ivor Bues of Britain, privately owned Maserati.

SOVIET CENSUS

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's census takers have scheduled a trial run on the 1959 national census in August of this year.

A test count of the inhabitants of individual districts in Moscow, Leningrad, Novosibirsk, Stalino and other areas is set for Aug. 1. Lessons learned in these local operations will be incorporated in preparations for the big count planned for January, 1959.

Ruston Plays Monroe At 3 In Postponed Contest

Monroe faces Ruston at 3 this afternoon at Legion Stadium in the final Fifth District American Legion Junior baseball playoff game originally scheduled for last night. Rain forced postponement of the clash.

Lewis Kincaid will be on the mound for the McCain - Richards team against Ruston's Charles Fuller. Both boys have done excellent hurling during the playoffs, Fuller in starting roles and Kincaid in relief.

Manager Ted Gullatt can call on Hood or Malone, regular second baseman, in case Fuller gets into trouble. Fuller threw against Monroe in the first game of the series and Hood was the starter in the second clash. Malone finished both of the games.

Kincaid had a 4-1 record over the regular season for Manager Ralph Sims' Monroe squad. He pitched in the first playoff game against Ruston in relief and saved the second game for Jim Altick with good relief work. He's a righthander as is Fuller.

Ruston, sponsored by the T. L. James Company, gained the playoff finals by beating West Monroe in a two out of three semi-final series. Monroe swept two straight from Columbia in their march to the finals.

The first game of the current series was taken by Ruston, 7-2, at Ruston last Wednesday night. The next night Monroe evened the score with a 4-3 win in Monroe.

No Fractures Are Suffered By Fernandez

PHILADELPHIA, July 20 (AP)—X-rays of shortstop Chico Fernandez' jaw disclosed no fracture but the Philadelphia Phillies infielder will be hospitalized at least until Monday, the club announced today.

Fernandez was hurt in last night's game against Cincinnati when he collided with teammate Chuck Harmon as both tried for a fly ball in the fifth inning of the game won by the Redlegs 7-2.

Dr. Thomas McTear, club physician, said Fernandez suffered a mild concussion and painful facial bruises.

Harmon came out of the collision with a spike wound on the right leg and a sore neck. The outfielder said he doesn't remember making contact with Fernandez' face and believe the shortstop may have been hit in the face by the ball off the bat of Redleg catcher Smoky Burgess.

Manager Mayo Smith plans to use utility infielder Roy Smalley at shortstop. Smalley replaced Fernandez last night and slammed a home run, his first hit of the season in 11 at bats.

The injury was the third to strike the pennant embattled Phillies in the past week. Catcher Stan Lopata is sidelined with a twisted knee. Outfielder Rip Repulski, who strained muscles in his groin against Milwaukee Thursday night, returned to the lineup today.

Montaval Claims British Race For American Owner

ASCOT, England, July 20 (AP) — French - bred Montaval, owned by Pennsylvania publisher Ralph Strassburger, outbattled the Aly Kha's Al Mabsoot in a thrilling stretch run today to win the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth stakes.

Heavy rains which began several hours before postime caused Crepello, the odds - on - favorite and Epsom Derby winner, to be scratched. But the muddy going failed to detract from as close a finish as this storied race of a mile and a half has ever produced.

Halfway down the stretch, Al Mabsoot drew even with Montaval and moved into a half length lead. But Montaval still had a good deal of run left and fought back under Palmer's urging to get up in the final strides.

Back in the pack was High Veldt, owned by Queen Elizabeth, who attended along with the Queen Mother and Princess Elizabeth.

The victory was worth $64,652 to Strassburger, whose home is Norristown, Pa., although he has lived in Paris for many years.

Montaval, a Norseman colt out of Ballynash, went off a lightly supported 20-1 after finishing a poor third in the Clipse Stakes last Saturday. Odds on Al Mabsoot and Tribord were 100-7 each.

BUMP ALHAMBRA

Leather Button Cops Arlington Futurity Purse

CHICAGO, July 20 (AP)—Alhambra, after scoring an apparent 4½ length victory in $150,075 Arlington Futurity today was disqualified and the triumph went to Leather Button.

At the end of the race, Jockey Bill Hartack, aboard Sir Ruler, lodged claim of foul against jockey Doug Dodson who was riding Olymar. Olymar was an entry, along with Alhambra, by owner Fred W. Hooper.

Stewards, after deliberating and looking at pictures for about 15 minutes, allowed the claim of interference at the 1-16th police against Dodson. Under state racing regulations, every horse in a race who has the same owner is automatically disqualified and placed fourth.

Leather Button, owned by Rockoore farms, paid $20.60, $9.60, and $6.40. Rellim S. W. returned $11.80 and $8.60 and Sir Ruler, Hartack's Mount, was $4.60 to show.

Billy Muffett To Start Texas All-Star Game

DALLAS, July 20 (AP)—Billy Muffett and Murray Wall, a couple of high winning righthanders, are expected to be the starting pitchers Wednesday night in the seventeenth Texas League All-Star Game.

Muffett, who has won 13 games for Houston this season, is due to get the call for the All-Stars, an aggregation collected from seven clubs. Wall, who has posted 15 triumphs, should be the starter for Dallas, the league leader which got the host spot because it was topping the circuit July 17—and still is by a wide margin.

Del Bissonette, one time Brooklyn Dodger first baseman, was a pitcher at the University of New Hampshire.

SNIDER HITS HIS 300TH

Dodgers Continue Homer Spree In Beating Bruins

BROOKLYN, JJuly 20 (UP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers extended the tremendous home run spree they've been on since the All-Star game when Duke Snider hit the 300th homer of his career today and Randy Jackson contributed another in a 7-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

It was the ninth victory in 10 starts for the Dodgers since the All-Star game and in those 10 games they have slugged 18 homers. Snider has hit eight. Today's win also was the Dodgers' 10 in 11 games with the Cubs this season.

Don Rrysdale won his eighth game although he needed help from Clem Labine in the final 2 1-3 innings. Dave Hillman wound up the loser when he was literally knocked out of the box in the first inning after a line drive single by Gil Hodges split the nail on the middle finger of his pitching hand.

Don Kaiser replaced Hillman and was racked for three straight hits as the Dodgers got off to a 4-1 lead. Hillman had walked Snider and given up the single to Hodges before he left the game. Sandy Amoros and Gino Cimoli greeted Kaiser with consecutive doubles and Jackson singled home the fourth run.

Gonzales Wins Pro Tennis Tourney As Lew Hoad Falls

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., July 20 (AP)—Swarthy Pancho Gonzales won Jack Kramer's Tournament of Champions today when he crushed Pancho Segura, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, while blister-fingered Tony Trabert was trouncing Lew Hoad, 6-4, 10-12, 6-2, 3-6, 6-3.

Gonzales now is undefeated in four matches, while Hoad, the $125,000 bonus baby of the pro troupe, has a 2-2 mark, so Pancho collects the $2,500 top prize money. This situation also posed a king-sized headache for promoter Kramer, who had hoped to have the two go through undefeated and meet for the title tomorrow.

In order to break even in the venture, Kramer will need an almost - full house tomorrow. A crowd of about 5,000 sat in the plus-90 degree heat of the West Side Tennis Club today. That made the total attendance about 18,000 to date.

Cardinals' 18-Hit Attack Tumbles Pittsburgh, 9-4

PITTSBURGH, July 20 (UP) — Del Ennis drove in four runs and Eddie Kasko accounted for two more to pace an 18-hit attack for the St. Louis Cardinals in a 9-4 victory today over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

With Alvin Dark and Wally Moon on base in the third inning, Ennis slammed his 14th homer of the year that marked the exit of Bob Friend, who suffered his 12th defeat.

In the first inning, Ennis bunted home Stan Musial for the second of two unearned runs in the frame.

Nelson King relieved Friend and the Cardinals scored once again on a single to Ken Boyer who stole second and a single to Kasko. The Cardinal's first run in the first inning came when Dark reached first on Frank Thomas' error and then scored on Musial's triple off the right field wall.

The Pirates, who banged out a total of 13 hits, were beaten by their former teammate Murry Dickson who left the game in the seventh inning because of a sore arm. The 41-year-old righthander allowed 11 hits and three runs, but notched his fifth victory.

OVER THE ROPES

Russian Style Wrestling Royal On Tap At Kallio's

They'll be flying through the air with the greatest of ease Monday night at Kallio's Arena but nobody knows where they'll land when six burly wrestlers engage in a wrestling royal—Russian style.

If you're unacquainted with the bolshevik style wrestle royals, it means eliminating your opponent, not by pinning him for a 3-count, but throwing him out of the ring —over the top rope. Needless to say, there's a slight possibility somebody might get hurt but it's all in good clean fun.

Bill Barney, Frank Hurley, Phil Brummett, George Curtis, Mr. X and Nelson Royal are the boys who'll provide the action for the match, reputed to be the first of its kind in the state of Louisiana.

Promoter Gus Kallio states that the first row of seats at the arena will be set further back in order to protect fans from flying grapplers. Even so, ringside patrons are requested to be on their guard lest they find a 250 lb. wrestler deposited in their laps.

Loy Scarborough will attempt to keep order during this pier 6 affair, which will have no time limit. They'll battle til only two wrestlers remain inside the ring.

The unfortunate pair that get thrown out first will wrestle a 15 minute limit preliminary match at the conclusion of the wrestle royal. They're to receive no pay for their trouble.

The next two men to come sailing over the ropes will wrestle in the semi-final event, an hour limit, two falls to win the affair. The lucky gents who remain in the ring at the end will provide the entertainment in the night's final event, this one over a 90 minute or less route with two falls needed to win.

Local fans have been getting a taste of this sort of thing for the last few weeks. Hurley and Curtis became well acquainted with ringside spectators during their championship bouts of several weeks ago.

Last week, Nelson Royal made two trips into the audience, courtesy of Mr. X. He managed to crawl back on the mat before the bout deteriorated into a brawl and was stopped.

In the past wrestlers performing here have had to worry not only about hitting the floor when they fly out of the ring but about fans hitting them. Guys like Mr. X, Hurley and Brummett are not the most popular fellows in town and lots of local fans would like nothing better than to break a chair over their heads.

With this in mind, Kallio announces that there will be policemen on duty at the arena to protect the fans from the wrestlers and the wrestlers from the fans. Kallio also says no persons under 16 years of age will be permitted to sit in ringside seats.

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

When we gave out last Sunday with the duck hunting regulations being put into effect by the International Paper Company on its properties in Wham Brake, we stirred up a lot of the waterfowl boys who find Black Bayou Lakes of Ouachita parish so popular for their duck hunting pleasure.

Black Bayou Lake regulations were put into practice a few years ago, and from Allen T. Givens, manager, Columbian Carbon Company, we are provided with the rules governing these waters to meet the popular demand of the waterfowl crowd—at least those not too familiar with Black Bayou's rules—as an addition to their list of Wham laws published last week.

The Columbian Carbon Company published its pamphlet of rules in October, 1955, and, in part, the pamphlet says:

Black Bayou Lake is located almost entirely within township 19 north, range 4 east, Ouachita parish and as so located is owned almost entirely by Columbian Carbon Company.

For many years Columbian Carbon, as a contribution to the community, has permitted free access and enjoyment of the lake to the general public and to sportsmen in particular. It is the desire of the company to continue this service to the public as long as possible.

Certain developments brought about by congestion forced the company to pay more attention to the lake than was earlier the custom. Such developments made it advisable to set out certain rules and regulations.

During the summer of 1954 notice was posted that blinds built after that date should be 300 yeards from the nearest existing blind. Feeling this was a hardship on the sportsmen, the company a year later, in August, 1955, set the minimum distance between blinds at 200 yards.

The rules forbid attachment of any blinds to any growing tree. No construction of any kind, blinds or otherwise, will be permitted that will damage in any way growing trees. No trees of any kind are to be cut.

Many blinds built prior to the 1954 and 1955 regulation dates do not meet the distance requirements. These blinds are permitted to remain in place. However, should the company receive complaints from any blind owner, and such complaints being substantiated, the blind which is the newest will be destroyed by the company.

In order to evidence ownership of a blind, some work or other action designating active ownership such as brushing or other construction must be performed by the owner prior to the current hunting season. In the event such evidence of ownership is lacking during any current season, the ownership of the blind is forfeited and upon the company's option such blind may be destroyed.

On or before the beginning of the official duck hunting season each blind owner shall show by a sign or evidence in writing the name and address of the owner and the date the blind was built, and whether or not by the present owner. Such sign or notice should be placed inside the blind if not locked or in the best protected place.

3-Run Zernial Homer Slams Baltimore, 6-5

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 20 (UP)— Pinch hiter Gus Zernial hit a three-run homer in the ninth today as the Kansas City Athletics downed the Baltimore Orioles 6-5.

Zernial's blow came off reliefer George Zuverink to climax an uphill fight which produced four runs and three hits in the final inning.

Connie Johnson had allowed but three hits until the decisive ninth. He had held the A's hitless for the first five innings.

Tom Morgan, who pitched only the ninth inning, took the victory, his fifth on 11 decisions. Kansas City starter Arnold Portocarrero was in trouble in virtually every frame and gave way in the sixth after walking two in a row with only one out.

Reliefer Glen Cox gave up a single to Al Pilarcik that scored one run and was lifted with the count 0-3 on Willie Miranda. Jack Urban followed Cox but went out for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Phils Defeat Reds On Lopata's Blow

PHILADELPHIA, July 20 (UP)—Stan Lopata's pinch-hit three-run homer with one out in the ninth inning gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 7-5 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs here today.

Hitting for Solly Hemus, Lopata stepped into a 1-1 pitch and drove it into the left field stands to end a four game losing streak that saw the Phils drop from first to fifth place in the National League.

Pinch - hitter Charlie Harmon had singled with one out and Richie Ashburn had walked. Cincinnati manager Birdie Tebbets called time out as Lopata came up to bat and it appeared he would call in a righthander.

However, he decided to stay with Don Gross, who had replaced starter Hal Jeffcoat in the third. Lopata took a ball and then missed the next pitch for a strike. He dropped the third pitch out of the park.

The win went to Dick Farrell for his fourth win against two losses. The loss was Gross' sixth against four wins.

Ashburn's leadoff double and Ed Bouchee's single gave the Phils a run in the first and they added another in the second on Roy Smalley's triple and starter Jim Hearn's sacrifice fly.

Larry Beck Wins Junior Golf Tourney

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—Larry Beck, a 17-year-old North Carolinian with the aplomb of a tournament veteran, today routed Dave Leon of Arizona 6 and 5 for the national junior amateur golf championship.

Leon, also 17, lasted just one hole before fading against Beck's 3-under par assault on Manor Country Club's wooded course.

Beck, son of a Kinston, N. C. pro, won five straight holes, beginning with the second.

He did not yield a hole until the 10th, when Leon, of Tucson, Ariz., delivered one of the most sensational shots of the four-day U. S. Golf Assn. event for boys under 18.

On the edge of the green in two after hooking his drive onto an adjoining fairway, Leon rammed in a putt that rolled and cuved 65 feet.

Leon was 14 over for 109 holes. Beck breezed into the finals with a 6 and 5 morning victory over M. C. (Sonny) Methvin of Little Rock, Ark.

Leon pulled out of a three-hole lag after the first nine to beat Richie Casabella, 16 of Louisville, Ky., 1 up on the 18th.

Giants Nearer Move West

By MILTON RICHMAN

NEW YORK, July 20 (UP)—Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco told Horace Stoneham today his city is ready to roll out the red carpet for the New York Giants with an official financial proposal "within the first two weeks of August."

Christopher's statement of welcome suited Stoneham perfectly and the Giants' president reiterated his intention of moving his club to San Francisco in time for the start of the 1958 major league season.

"I assured Mr. Stoneham our official proposal now is being prepared and would be submitted to him by the 15th of August, Christopher said.

Although the San Francisco mayor said he did not feel the time was "proper" now to discuss the terms of the proposal his city will offer the Giants for their stadium rental fee, he hinted strongly that it would probably be approximately seven per cent of the net gate receipts per year.

"We understand that the Cleveland club pays seven per cent for their use of Municipal Stadium in that city and that appears to be a very fair figure," Christopher said.

Stoneham also agreed that seven per cent was a fair figure during a press conference at the Polo Grounds last Thursday and hinted that he would be in favor of accepting that figure. Their agreement practically eliminated the final apparent obstacle in the path of the franchise shift.

WYNN WINS FOR INDIANS

CLEVELAND, July 20 (UP)—Bob Avila's single with the bases full in the eighth inning against Tom Byrne, today enabled the Cleveland Indians to end the New York Yankees' five-game winning streak, 4-2.

Byrne walked Chico Carrasquel with one out in the eighth, and the Yank infield then missed a double play when Tony Kubek was off second base on a force throw from Bobby Richardson. Jim Hegan was purposely passed and Early Wynn also walked, loading the bases. Avila then lined his single to center, scoring Carrasquel and Hegan.

Wynn gained his 13th victory to tie Billy Pierce of the White Sox for the distinction of leading the majors in victories.

Bobby Shantz started against Wynn, and he was removed in the fifth after the Indians had scored twice in the fourth. Dick Williams doubled, so did Rocky Colavito, and Roger Maris singled for the first two tallies. When Shantz walked a man and hit another in the fifth, he was replaced by Byrne, who lost his fourth game.

WILLIAMS GETS ONLY HIT

Donovan Tosses 1-Hitter As Chicago Beats Red Sox

CHICAGO, July 20 (UP)—Dick Donovan tossed a one-hitter at Boston today to lead the Chicago White Sox to a 4-0 victory over the Red Sox. Only Boston batter to hit safely was Ted Williams with a fourth inning single.

Donovan, a right hander whose record now is 9-3, faced only two men more than the necessary minimum of 27. He allowed only one man to reach second base Jackie Jensen, who stole second after being hit by a pitched ball in the second inning.

Williams' single, a clean blow to right, came after one was out. Mickey Vernon followed by grounding into a double play to end the inning.

Donovan then retired the next six men in order but walked Frank Malzone to start the seventh. The inning ended when Williams flied out and Vernon again grounded into a double play.

Williams' hit marked the 11th straight game in which he has hit safely. He now is batting .571 for the 10-game current Boston road trip, getting 16 hits for 28 times at bat.

Chicago got its first run off starter and loser Dave Sisler in the first inning when Jim Landis led off with a triple. Sisler walked the next two men and Larry Doby sent Landis home on a infield grounder.

Homers Help Senators Top Detroit, 4-3

DETROIT, July 20 (UP)—The home run bugaboo beat Frank Lary again today as Jim Lemon and Roy Sievers smashed homers to pace the Washington Senators to a 4-3 victory over the Detroit Tigers.

The home runs, the 13th and 14th given up by Lary this season, provided three of the Washington runs. The Senators pushed over the winning run in the seventh on Herb Plews' sacrifice fly. Lou Berberet doubled to open the inning but was caught in a rundown on Rocky Bridges' tap to Lary. Bridges reached second. Lary walked the next two batters before Harry Byrd came in to pitch. Pinch-hitter Plews then hit his game-winning sacrifice fly.

Herb Flam Leads Favorites Into Clay Court Net Finals

CHICAGO, July 20 (AP)—Defending champion Herb Flam today led top-seeded players of both the men's and women's divisions into tomorrow's finals of the national clay courts tennis tournament.

In muggy, 95-degree weather Flam, No. 1 seeded star from Beverly Hills, Calif., easily turned back his semi-final foe, 6th seeded Bill Quillian, a lanky Army private from Ft. Rucker, Ala., in straight sets, 6-3, 6-1, 6-4.

Flam's final round opponent tomorrow will be No. 2 seeded Vic Seixas, of Philadelphia, who today outlasted 3rd seeded Bernard Bartzen of Dallas, Tex., 8-6, 4-6, 1-6, 6-1, 6-4, in a 2-hour and 20 minute struggle.

The women's semifinals also went according to form as Wimbledon champion Althea Gibson of New York and No. 2 seeded Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., scored decivise victories.

Miss Gibson toyed with No. 4-seeded Lois Felix of Meriden, Conn., for a 9-7, 6-2 triumph. Miss Hard had little trouble squelching Karol Fageros of Miami, Fla., 6-3, 6-2.

The Yanks and Dodgers had six wins and three losses apiece in the second half. The Giants had a 4-4 mark with one tie, and the Indians were 1-7 with one tie.

In the first half the Yanks won 13, lost 3, and tied one. The Dodgers were 11-6-1, the Giants 6-11-1, and the Indians 3-13-2.

Although the Yanks are a top team they were the victims of the league's only no-hit no-run game of the season, a piece of neat mound work by the Dodgers' Bobby McKay.

McKay also was the league batting champion with a .553 average as he collected 26 hits in 47 times at bat. Runner-up is R. Lovelady with .490 in 24 for 49. Stegal is the only other better-than-.400-hitter with .405.

Meriam Bailey Takes Western Amateur Crown

OMAHA, July 20 (AP) — Meriam Bailey, the calm stubborn National Collegiate Champion, won the Women's Western Amateur Golf Tournament today with a 2 and 1 victory over Ann Casey Johnstone, the Mason City, Iowa, veteran.

The 20 year old Northwestern University co-ed, three up at the end of 18 holes, saw her lead dwindle to one hole at 27, but she refused to flinch down through the stretch.

The dramatic match ended on the 35th hole where Mrs. Johnstone, 34 year old mother of a 5-year old daughter, muffed a four foot putt. The collegiate champion from Evanston, Ill., who had chipped to 18 inches out from 80 feet away dropped her putt for a par 4 and the championship.

OUTDOORS

By DION HENDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

You can let this leak out if you want to: Practically any outdoor canvass shows that the American interest in living the rugged life for fun is growing, you might say, intense in tents.

This is no secret to state and national park managers, to conservation official, highway police or the in-laws who used to drop in casually every Sunday for a free meal.

American families clearly are going back to the woods, a week or a weekend at a time.

Just how many have taken up campaing, either as a hobby in itself or as an adjunct to fishing, boating and other outdoor activities is open to educated guesses. And the best educated in the matter decline to guess openly, because the number would sound outlandish. The public park and forests, for instance, record more visitors in a year than there are people in these United States.

The reasons for the camping boom are no easier to pin down than the reasons for the rest of the postwar surge in outdoor activity.

Economics might have something to do with it — money saved from plush lodgings can be spent for boats, cameras, and such. But you'll find the big businessman bragging about the vacation on which he camped with the wife and kids for five bucks a day. And you'll see camp outfits that cost as much as a suburban sized Taj Mahal.

Comfort isn't the key, either, for you'll see city slickers — who at home would break their lease if the temperature reached beyond the 72-74 bracket — soaking their shirts with honest sweat at midday as they chop wood to keep from freezing at nightfall.

And the solution isn't wholly in the rediscovered feeling that a normal bright human being can, with a little forethought, provide for kith and kin — and vice versa —without a full complement of 20th century, neon-lighted, electronically guided gadgets.

However, several of these factors contribute to the decision. It's fun for the members of a modern family — and perhaps the more coddled they are at home, the more fun it is — to do things for themselves. Basic things, like cutting wood, building fires, cooking three - course meals in the same frying pan.

And, let's face it, any hobby where economy is a virtue is one that has a certain appeal for the young pater familias who has to watch his pennies as well as for his neighbor who is obviously just a nickel-nurser.

Basically, the family planning a foray into the outdoors has a simple and a straightforward a problem as the ancestor who ousted a bear from a cave to provide the initial solution. Since public parks are notably short on caves, and nearly as short on bears, the prospective camper has to consider first a shelter and in quick succession a bed and a way to prepare food.

Fired by enthusiasm, most new campers will improvise for the first experiment in tents, sleeping bags, cots, portable stoves and the like. Improvisation, or at least moderation, is urged in all such cases, because there are more recipes for satisfactory camping outfits than there are for Irish stew, and each will be defended stoutly by its proprietor.

After the essentials are provided for in basic equipment, you're on your own. Most of the disappointments—come now, there must be some—among new campers must come from a wet tent, a cold bed or an empty tummy.

It's good to emulate — up to a point — the woodsman whose craft requires only a knife and a match to survive indefinitely in the wilderness. It can be done, and it's good to know how it can be done, but it's no fun.

However, if anyone insists, you can hardly be any more miserable any cheaper.

The next time you take the family on an outing and the car breaks down, the tent leaks, a resident skunk gets caught in the lunch bucket and your wife comes down with mumps, take a deep breath and regard the wonders of nature.

And reflect with whatever sense of tragic regret you can summon for the occasion, that you could have done this in your own backyard with far less trouble.

For not the least of the wonders of nature is the fact that man, purportedly a reasoning mammal, can spend his frantic days finding out so little about so much that is so close to him.

Practically anyone can tell you for instance, what the first space traveler might expect to find on Mars if one ever gets there. But breathes there a man among ten thousand who can tell you what you could expect to find under a wet rock in the garden?

Go on, own up. We are a generation whose children can describe in detail the imaginary insides of a theoretical rocket ship, but who knoweth naught in their hearts about the inner workings of a wild community which they can ignore but from which they can't resign.

If you're one of those who can spot a slug beneath that wet rock and tell the little ones that he carries a small hump of his back in memory of the age when he dwelt in the great seas, you can stop here.

But if you know more about atomic energy than you do about say, angleworms — well, let's look at an angleworm for example.

Before you get supercilious now and observe loftly that everyone knows about worms, let it be noted that everyone doesn't. Some 8,000 kinds of annelids (worms, wise guy) have been described by biologists, and it might even be safe to say that no one knows everything about worms.

Take that nightcrawler, now. Photophobic. As shy of unexpected light as a husband who overstayed with a sick friend. The worm doesn't need to see the light, but then, neither does the husband.

However, if you try matching your own physical equipment against a nightcrawler, you're in for a bad spell. The worm has a glob of nerve tissue at the head end, just like people. On worms, you can tell which is the head by watching how they go. They go mostly in one direction.

There is an enlargement of the gullet that could pass for a throat, and a gizzard which has the combination of teeth and stomach whipped, in a way, because the upkeep on it is less.

This, by the way, is the equipment that makes worms important to people, since it takes miscellaneous humus and debris in one end and delivers a fine pulverized topsoil on the other. A secondary attribute is the fact worms taste good to fish.

Nightcrawlers lead kind of a double life. Each such worm is a boy worm, which would lead to a very dull nightlife except each worm is a girl worm too. They don't have much to do with one another, however. It takes another worm to whip up a romance, either way.

That nightcrawler, you'll notice, has a band of muscle around its —excuse the expression — waist. It's called the clitellum, and it works off to form kind of a cocoon in which little worms hatch out.

But when it comes to tails, nightcrawlers don't know when to stop. Anyone can tell you that a worm cut in two will grow into two worms. Like much such information, that's a half truth. Literally. If a worm is cut in two, the head will grow a new tail.

So will the tail. That leaves the tail end with two tails and no roundelay, may be what makes head, so it can't eat.

And that, in the words of an old them so mean.

Senior Tennis Contender Dies After Contest

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Phil Hanna, second-ranked senior tennis player in the country and a television and radio singer, collapsed and died today after losing a semifinal round match in the Eastern Senior Clay Court championships.

Hanna, 47, won the senior national crown in 1955, his first year in this 45-year-old and over division. He lost today in an upset to 46-year-old Ronald E. Fieulleteau of New York.

Hanna lived in Jackson Heights, Queens. A tenor, he was heard on NBC radio and TV programs.

Tom Courtney Wins 880 In London Track

LONDON, July 20 (UP)— The most thrilling race of the 1956 Olympic games in Australia was re-run at White City Stadium today with America's rugged Tom Courtney once again defeating British all-comers record of 1:47.7 for 880 yards.

Courtney, the bull-shouldered former Fordham University star from Livingston, N.J., beat Johnson by five yards in leading a "New York" team to a 94-61 triumph over "London" in the two-day track and field carnival.

At Melbourne last December Johnson passed Courtney in the home stretch of the 880-meter run only to have the U.S. star stage an amazing comeback to win by 18 inches in Olympic record time.

Courtney's clocking for the half-mile today was only two-tenths of a second slower than the accepted world record of 1:47.5 held by Lon Spurrier of California and only ninth-tenths slower than his own 1:46.8 performance last May 24 which is awaiting official recognition.

Johnson's second-place time of 1:48.5 established a new British national record. In third place was Tommy Carroll, the brilliant Fordham prep schoolboy runner from New York, in 1:52.7.

A crowd of 30,000 watched American stars dominate today's program by adding 13 victories to the 11 they scored yesterday. Thirteen of the wins were in the New York - London competition and the rest in invitation events.

However, the spectators found today's show anti-clamatic after Derek Ibbotson's world mile record of 3:57.2 yesterday. Ibbotson was off competing in a minor meet at Newcastle, where he loafed to a two-mile victory in 8:59.4. Meanwhile, the mile run here today was won by Britain's P. R. Clark in a routine 4:03.5 with Burr Grimm of Maryland third in 4:07.7 and Ike Matza of New York University fourth in 4:27.

Solution of Yesterday's Puzzle

Artful Columbus Cop Very Quick On Draw

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Thugs in this city are beginning to learn that the robbery squad of the Columbus Police Department has the assistance of a young patrolman who is quick on the draw.

Patrolman William M. Needles, 30, isn't any world beater at unlimbering his service revolver, but the "bad guys" are finding out that's he's a whiz with pencil and charcoal.

Needles is a police artist and he has developed a knack of drawing fast and remarkably accurate pictures of criminals from word-of-mouth descriptions furnished by witnesses.

Needles started this kind of sketching in 1953 with remarkably good fortune. His first two sketches resulted in arrests.

The second attempt of the young police artist was particularly noteworthy. Just two hours after Needles' sketch appeared in a Columbus newspaper, a youthful gunman who had robbed a number of places was in police custody. The accuracy of the sketch was attested to by the fact a newspaper reader recognized the criminal and tipped off police.

A policeman since 1950, except for 18 months' active duty with the Navy during the Korean conflict, Needles paints in oil on his own time.

Once, when called on to sketch two men involved in a $3,600 holdup, he recalls he worked with seven witnesses from 8 p.m. until 3 a.m. He has turned out a finished composite in only five minutes.

How does he do it? Needles explains:

"I start out with an egg shape and then gradually add details of the nose, eyes, ears and other appurtenances from descriptions given by witnesses."

The more witnesses of various ages he has to help him, the more accurate his drawing, Needles points out, adding:

"An older person will remember quite a bit about clothes and physical characteristics, but a young kid will remember a lot that adults don't notice."

KERR ON KISSING

Star Says Zizzling Movie Kisses Pain In The Neck

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD, July 20 (AP)—Movie kisses may look sizzling on the screen, but they're a pain in the neck to the active participants.

Deborah Kerr, who has maneuvered some of the hottest screen kisses since Garbo and John Gilbert, says:

"Movie kisses are so technical. They're like a problem in higher calculus."

For example. In her current movie, "An Affair to Remember," she and Cary Grant do two kissing scenes. The first is just a light, tender bussing while dancing. Sound simple?

"Let me give you the lowdown," Deborah says. "We had to diagram each move mentally. We danced a few turns, gave each other tender glances, alternated singing a line or two. We had to dance cheek-to-cheek, slowly, dreamily; separate while one or the other sang; remember to turn so that Cary's face would be in the camera when he sang or said something—or vice versa; remember that both our faces had to be in camera range for reaction shots.

"It's murderous. I'd much sooner learn 10 pages of dialogue—and I know Cary would to."

The beautiful redhead debunks the old-time silent movie theory that the hottest or tenderest smooching scenes come when the leading man and leading women feel "that way" about each other.

"They'd smell up the screen if they did," she laughs.

That reminded her of her first movie kissing scene in an English movie.

"It smelled literally as well as dramatically," she recalls. "I was playing a slum girl in a movie called 'Love on the Dole' and I was kissed among the garbage cans of my slum home.

Her first American movie kiss with Clark Gable in "The Hucksters" she compared to sewing.

"I didn't think of Clark as a kissing partner any more than one thinks of the material when you're sewing. You're concentrating on guiding the fabric under the needle to get the seams straight, you don't dwell on the fabric itself. The same with a movie kiss—even if it's Gable—you keep your mind on the mechanics of the job so it goes so smoothly, you hope, the illusion of love or passion or tenderness comes through."

Remember that famous beach love scene with Burt Lancaster with the waves washing over the lovers in "From Here to Eternity?"

"That was premeditated lovemaking to the nth degree," Deborah recalls. "We worked out the whole pattern over and over again. We not only had to work out our own moves as a choreographer does a dance routine but we had to time the waves carefully to make sure we'd be inundated just as we kissed most passionately. I thought I'd drown before we got the take."

Were You A July Baby?

by Alton Howard

If so then Ruby is your birthstone. However, people born in all months are proud to own this "THE LORD OF GEMS", so called because "AARON" the high priest was commanded to wear one.

Genuine Rubies are among the most precious of gems, commanding even higher prices than a comparable emerald or diamond. The Ruby is next to a diamond in hardness, and the diamond is the only other stone that can scratch it.

There are so many imitations on the market that it is doubtful if the average person has ever seen a genuine Ruby. Also there are many synthetics that a person can buy who possibly could never afford a genuine stone. These imitations and synthetics however will never take the place of the genuine.

There is an old BURMESE legend which tells of the "BLAZING RED" stones in the bottomless valley and how natives threw pieces of meat into the valley to lure vultures in the hole that some stones would cling to the meat to be recovered by killing the vulture.

You are invited to visit our store and see our selection of beautiful birthstones and whether it's a fine synthetic stone or the genuine you are assured of honest values. You'll enjoy seeing a beautiful genuine Ruby cluster of some 3½ carats of Rubies that we have in our stock at present. HOWARD BROS. JEWELERS, 116 DeSiard St., Monroe, La.

Early Patriots To Be Honored Across Nation

Churches of all denominations across America are noting this year the 300th anniversary of the Flushing (Long Island, N. Y.) "Remonstrance," an historic statement of religious freedom, and regarded as one of the "forerunners" of the "Bill of Rights" incorporated in the American Constitution 134 years later.

The "Remonstrance" was signed by 29 simple and otherwise unknown residents of Flushing (five of them could sign only by mark) protesting the decree of Dutch Governor Peter Stuyvesant forbidding Quakers to preach in the town, and forbidding the inhabitants from entertaining them in their homes. The signers reminded the governor that the town's "patent" granted religious freedom and freedom of conscience. They told the governor their intent to extend that freedom to Quaker and all "other sons of Adam . . . in whatsoever form, name, or title he appears in"; and that they would not "lay violent hands upon them . . . punish, banish or persecute them . . . but give them free egress and regress into our town and houses."

Now there is in Flushing a noted Quaker meetinghouse, and also a Dutch Reformed Church — the latter the denomination of Stuyvesant. On October 10, 1957, a tablet to the memory of these 29 signers will be erected at the "Bowne House" (built in 1661) now maintained as a shrine to religious liberty. The New York and Flushing Quaker meetings will present the tablet and it will be accepted — on behalf of the Bowne House Historical Society —by the minister of the Dutch Reformed Church. Judge Charles S. Colden, of Whitestone, L. I., is president of the society.

Review Of Financial, Oil, Gas News

INCOME-SALES PARADOX

Businessmen Confronted By Puzzling Situation

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Many of the nation's businessmen were confronted with a puzzling paradox this week—total personal income of Americans was at a record high, but sales in some key lines were slipping.

Among the more perplexing riddles was an abnormal, contraseasonal lag in sales of petroleum products—a slump that was particularly noticeable in the case of the oil industry's biggest money maker, gasoline.

For quite a few years, oil executives have been accustomed to a steady rise in gasoline consumption. With longer vacations, more cars on the road, and more well heeled vacationists to drive them demand for gasoline has been going up and up.

Not so in the summer of 1957. In June, the month when the vacation rush normally gets off to a flying start, total consumption of gasoline failed to show the usual year-to-year increase. As a matter of fact, it trailed June 1956 by one per cent.

Price Wars

This week saw the inevitable results: gasoline price wars all over the lot, and massive cutbacks in oil refinery operations.

Lagging sales constituted a problem, too, in such lines as home appliances, floor coverings, and men's suits. Men's wear retailers blamed curtailed overtime and resultant smaller paychecks in factories, mills and mines, and uncertainty about the business outlook.

This, of course, was only part of the picture. There were still plenty of places where the economy showed evidence of solid strength.

Statistically, the nation's total retail trade was enjoying lusty health: department store sales at latest count were a good five per cent ahead of a year ago with higher prices accounting for only part of the increase.

Perking Up

The long ailing TV industry showed signs of perking up. Ross Siragusa, president of Admiral Corp., predicted another round of price increases for television sets before next fall.

Auto dealers were selling plenty of new cars without resorting to give-away prices. Auto builders revved up their production lines and started adding again to their inventories of steel. Steel producers, long worried by the dearth of orders from Detroit, began telling themselves that the worst was over.

Farmers were enjoying slightly higher incomes than a year ago, thanks not only to better prices for their crops and livestock (live hogs at Chicago hit a two-year peak of $21.85 per hundred pounds) but also to benefit checks mailed out by the government under the sold bank program.

Businessmen with a stake in overseas markets were told by the National Foreign Trade Council to expect a 10 per cent increase in total U. S. merchandise exports this year.

For stockholders interested in earnings and dividends, there was good news and some not so good.

Glowing earnings reports for the first six months were issued by blue chip corporations with widely diversified product lines — du Pont, General Electric, ACF Industries, IBM.

But a massive drop was reported by the nation's largest railroad. Net income of the Pennsylvania Railroad for the six months June 30 was down 45 per cent from the first half of 1956, while profits for June were down considerably more. The railroad put the blame on "steadyily increasing wage and other costs with no comparable increase in charges for service."

The mixed nature of the nation's business was pointed up in a survey by the National Assn. of Purchasing Agents. The association said many of its member purchasing executives are "disappointed" at business trends in their own particular fields even though the economy as a whole is at a high level.

Ferocious Battle Rages Over Border Gas Market

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)—A ferocious battle is underway before the Federal Power Commission over who is going to sell natural gas in a rich untapped market in midwestern states along the Canadian border.

It is a wheels-within-wheels fight involving such personalities as Texas oil millionaire Clint Murchison, pipeline titan Gardiner Symonds, high finance, new Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker and his conservative government, coal interests, and gas transmission rivalry of the lustiest sort.

The commission — or perhaps the courts — will be the final arbiter. But months or even years may elapse before the dispute is ironed out.

Set In Motion

The tug-of-war was set in motion many months ago when Trans-Canada Pipelines, Ltd., Calgary, Alberta, was organized to build Canada's first transcontinental gas transmission system. The then liberal Canadian government agreed to help build it over the strong protest of Diefenbaker, the opposition leader in parliament.

Trans-Canada made a deal with Midwestern Gas Transmission Company owned by Tennessee Gas Transmission which, in turn, is headed by Symonds, to export Trans-Canada gas to the upper Midwest at a cheap price. This was on the assumption that midwestern could get an official go-ahead from the Federal Power Commission.

Source Of Profit

It also was intended as a source of profit for Trans-Canada in which Murchison held 497,000 shares and in which Diefenbaker portrayed Symonds as working both sides of the street to eventually reap a big financial gain.

Midwestern asked the FPC for the right to take the exports, while Tennessee Transmission, already serving Eastern Canada, also asked authority to pipe gas to Midwestern which, it was pointed out, took the initiative in trying to open up the new market.

These moves brought swift opposition from rival transmission companies which had ignored the field Midwestern proposes to invade. Among them were Michigan-Wisconsin Pipeline, Northern Natural Gas, and Natural Gas Pipeline, part of the Peoples Gas System of Chicago.

Soybeans Again Leading Grains

CHICAGO, July 20 (AP)—Soybeans again featured a bull market this week on the Board of Trade with gains of 5 to 8¼ cents. For the last month, gains in beans have totaled 21 to 22 cents.

Most other grains closed the week higher except oats, which are in the midst of the harvest season.

New style wheat closed the week 1 to 4 cents higher than last Friday. Corn was up 2½ to 3⅝, oats up 5 to 8¼, and lard 7 to 30 cents a hundred pounds higher.

DOWN FROM PEAK

Drop In Profits Noted In Market

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—The stock market this week failed to pierce the historic highs of 1956 and declined on profit taking.

The market moved upward at the start Monday into new high ground for the year. Then prices weakened. A more vigorous attempt was made Tuesday, on record earnings for such corporate giants as Du Pont and General Electric. These and some other issues touched highs but they couldn't hold their gains. The market as a whole ended on the down side.

Volume Fell

Volume fell off in the final three days. On two of the sessions, tradings at its quietest in more than two weeks. Prices were irregularly lower.

The Associated Press Average declined $2 during the week to $186.80.

Sunshine Mining headed the most-active list on three straight days. It has a promising new oil and gas test well. El Paso Natural Gas dropped 5⅜ on news of its 130 million dollars in new financing.

The five most active issues were: Sunshine Mining up 3⅞ at 12, General Motors off ½ at 46⅛, North American Aviation up ½ at 26⅜, Sperry-Rand, off ¼ at 25½, and Chrysler unchanged at 79⅜.

The downward trial of corporate and U. S. government bond prices was resumed this week after a two-week hiatus in the bond market.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

MARKSVILLE, La., — At a recent meeting of the executive board, R. J. Quartemont was elected general manager of the Gulf Coast Fidelity Corporation, replacing David Morris, who resigned. Quartemont, one of the founders of the company, is also it's executive vice president.

NEW YORK — This summer is being hailed by the nation's retailers as a bright selling opportunity according to a Summer Business survey conducted by the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, through its member newspapers. Delayed clearance sales and stronger advertising are methods planned to make the most of summer selling. Sales increases over last summer are predicted by 61 per cent of the retailers surveyed, while 27 per cent expect to meet last year's figures.

Cotton Future Prices Snap Losing Streak

NEW YORK, July 20 (AP)—Cotton futures prices snapped back this week after two successive weeks of decline.

After losing ground for a couple of days, the market surged ahead at midweek and was well on the upside at week's end although gains by then were pared by profit-taking. Active futures contracts on the New York Cotton Exchange finished out the week with net advances ranging from $1.45 to $2.90 a bale.

The hesitant start of the market stemmed from a special meeting of the House Agriculture Committee on new farm price legislation. There was a widespread belief among traders that some legislation might evolve in time to affect the new cotton crop.

Later, when it became apparent that there would be no change in present price support levels before 1959 the market bounded forward with vigor.

Contributing to strength in the nearer positions were reports that the U.S. Department of Agriculture is not expected to offer any 1956 loan cotton for sale until after the heavy marketing period of the new crop.

Considerable interest was attached to an estimate by the Service Bureau of the New York Cotton Exchange on the rate of cotton consumption in the United States during June.

According to the estimate, mills in the four-week period from June 2 to June 29 used 665,000 bales. This figures out to a daily rate of 33,300 bales, compared with 33,600 bales a day in May and 33,400 in June last year.

Significantly, the daily rate of domestic consumption showed an increase over the corresponding year-ago month for the first time since May, 1956.

Also, while there was an apparent decline of 0.9 per cent from mill use of the staple in May, this compared with an average May-to-June decline of 3.1 per cent over the past five years.

PINCH HITTER

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—William L. Gardner, 34, of Toledo, showed up too late to take his driver's license examination recently.

When his application was given to State Highway Patrolman Merl Bray a few days later the officer didn't think he looked like the same man.

He wasn't. Questioning disclosed he was Roy L. Bryson, 41, who had agreed to take the test for Gardner, who cannot read or write.

Ironically, Bryson previously had been convicted three times for driving without a license. He couldn't pass the test either.

Municipal Judge Frank W. Wiley sentenced Bryson to six months in the workhouse and fined him $200.

POLL OF PRODUCERS

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON, Tex., July 20 (AP) — Texas independent oil operators are voting by mail ballot on their reaction to the controversial Harris natural gas bill.

Two months ago the 5,000-member Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Assn. TIPRO endorsed the bill provided certain "minimum improvements" amendments were adopted.

In approving the bill July 9 by a 15-1 vote the House Commerce Committee accepted only one of nine amendments submitted by TIPRO.

The mail ballots will determine whether TIPRO will continue or withdraw its support of the bill, adopt a wait-and-see attitude, offer direct opposition, or switch to a "hands-off" policy.

The TIPRO executive committee will tabulate the ballots and state the association's position next Saturday.

The Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn., whose membership includes all segments of the industry, endorsed the bill this week "despite the failure . . . to restore the natural gas producer to his historic status as a free participant in a competitive industry."

"Our association policy committee is of the opinion the bill will bring worthwhile benefits to the producers, including relief from utility type regulation," said French M. Robertson, Mid-Continent president.

The Harris bill which President Eisenhower vetoed last year would have removed federal controls of wellhead prices of gas. This year's version would prohibit utility type regulation but authorize the Federal Power Commission to determine "reasonable market prices."

The ballots were accompanied by a three-page "pro and con" discussion of the bill.

"Each natural gas bill passed by the Congress has been worse than the one preceding it," said the section favoring the bill.

"Further delay in securing legislation would possibly result in either a worse bill than the one now being considered or no hope of any bill."

The argument against the bill emphasized the probability that no vote could be expected this year in the Senate.

"This being true, it would be far better to withdraw support of the bill now and start over again next year (an election year) in both houses simultaneously, the theory being that if we have the right climate, a better bill can be passed, and if not, even this bill will fail in the Senate," the summary said. "If we are to get a black eye, get it for supporting a real producer bill."

NATURAL GAS

Minority Group Warns Bill Would Be Windfall

WASHINGTON, July 20 ((UP)-A 13-man minority of the House Commerce committee warned the House today the committee's natural gas bill would boost consumers' gas bills by one billion dollars yearly and hand a 30 billion dollar windfall to an industry already booming.

But the committee majority, in a separate report, contended however that consumers would get "fair and just" treatment under the bill. It said passage of the legislation is necessary to free the industry from unworkable federal controls.

The bill, approved by the committee last week, would relax federal controls on gas producers. Under its provisions producers would be allowed the going field price or "reasonable" market price.

President Eisenhower has endorsed the bill. He vetoed a similar bill last year because of the tactics of lobbyists supporing the measure.

The fate of the new bill still is in doubt. House leaders have said they won't call it up unless advance counts indicate it has a good chance of passage.

The committee majority said passage of the bill was made necessary by a Supreme Court decision in the Phillips case in 1954, which held gas producers subject to controls by the Federal Power Commission.

"Since the decision...the commission has had a staggering and well-nigh impossible burden in trying to regulate natural gas sales by thousands of producers," the majority said.

Rebels Control Oil Domain In Arabian Area

LONDON, July 20 (UP)—Rebel forces were reported today to have won "temporary control" of part of the oil-rich domain of the British-backed Sultan of Muscat and Oman in southeast Arabia.

Officials reports reaching London said the uprising is centered in Nizwa, a fortress town about 200 miles inland from the Oman capital of Muscat near the Persian Gulf.

"The situation is very confused at the moment," a British Foreign Office spokesman said. "We have not heard from our consul general since last night."

Britain is bound by treaty to aid the Sultan of Muscat and Oman, and is under obligation to protect his territory against external intervention.

There are no British-controlled forces in the area, but reports reaching the big British oil center of Bahrein in the Persian Gulf said British-officered native troops of the Sultan's private army were fighting the rebels.

"There has been no movement into Muscat of British ground forces," the foreign office spokesman noted, declining to say whether air or naval forces might be used in carrying out Britain's treaty obligations.

Adminstration Leaders Rule Out Weapons Fight

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—Administration leaders have virtually ruled out any appeal to this session of Congress for authority to supply America's European Allies with atomic weapons.

This was reported on excellent authority today as State and Defense Departments, the Atomic Energy Commission and other agencies studied the problem of Allied atomic capability which arose in connection with East-West disarmament negotiations in London.

One reason given for not planning any quick action is that the problem is too complex and the congressional schedule too crowded for the remaining weeks of this session. Another is that such a move now might have a bad impact on world opinion.

Came To Fore

The issue came to the fore publicly last Wednesday when Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference in response to questions that the government was studying ways of providing the North Atlantic Treaty Allies with atomic weapons if the London negotiations result in a disarmament treaty calling for a cut-off in weapons manufacture. One way he suggested, in fact the only one which he mentioned, was that the United States might create a NATO stockpile of weapons which would be available to allied forces if war came.

Dulles said he was not sure whether this could be done or in what way it could be done without changing the U. S. Atomic Energy Act which forbids giving weapons to any other nation. He said he thought it might be possible to stockpile nuclear bombs and warheads in Western Europe under American control with the understanding that the President could release them for Allied use once a war started.

Wanted Secrecy

Dulles, it is understood, would have preferred to keep the whole matter secret, especially since it raises the prospect of the United States possibly making atomic explosives available to other nations when one avowed object of American policy has been to limit the spread of such weapons to the smallest possible number of countries.

However, Dulles is said to have felt that his hand was forced by reports here and abroad that the United States had promised Britain and France that if they would agree to a weapons cut-off this country would make sure that they had atomic weapons. The first stage disarmament agreement now under negotiation would not provide for scrapping atomic weapons already in existence but would simply prohibit additions to the stockpiles.

Mine Workers Say Next Move Up To Ethyl

BATON ROUGE, July 20 (AP)—A United Mine Workers spokesman said today the next move is up to Ethyl Corp. in the 11-day walkout over manpower assignments.

Some 2,250 members of UMW District 50, Local 12,900, went on strike July 9, claiming new manpower assignments in the tetraethyl lead division would mean speeded up production with fewer men and "sweatshop" conditions.

UMW president Willie Dipaola said today two recent strike meetings attended by some 1,700 to 1,800 workers resulted in votes of confidence in UMW leadership.

TESTIMONY SET

Eisenhower Cabinet Fights Secrecy Bill

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)—All 10 cabinet departments in the Eisenhower administration lined up today against a bill which sponsors say would end some of the secrecy in government.

The House Government Information subcommittee, headed by Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.), will hear testimony from lawyers for three of the departments Monday. Statements by all of the departments were made public today.

Armed Law

The bill would amend a law passed by the first session of Congress back in 1789, which the Moss subcommittee claims cabinet departments are misusing as as excuse to withhold information.

The 168-year-old law authorizes the head of each department to make rules for the "custody, sue and preservation" of records. In a report last year the Moss subcommittee charged this has been "misapplied to mean 'dominance, retention and seclusion'" of information.

The bill sponsored by Moss and others would add a proviso that the law doesn't authorize the withholding of information from the public, or limiting its availability.

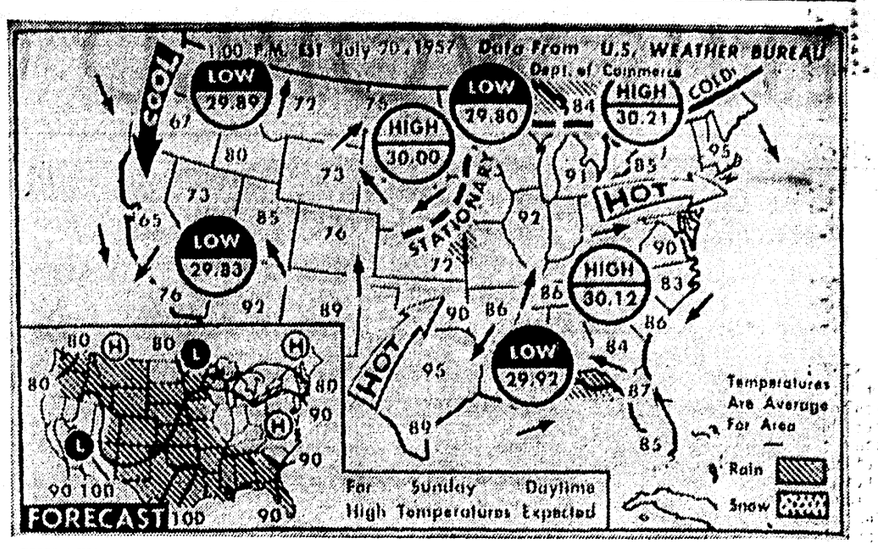
Not A Birrier

"This would clearly spell out the fact that the statute is one for housekeeping purposes and not a barrier to the availability of information," Moss told a reporter.

Moss said the proposed change would not affect national security, or other information which Congress and the President have protected from disclosure through other laws or orders.

Moss has the backing of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. All of the cabinet departments, as well as the Bureau of the Budget, have filed statements opposing the bill.

Ohio's Capitol Building in Columbus is regarded as a perfect example of Doric architecture.



WEATHER FORECAST—Sunny skies will continue today over most of Northeast quarter of the nation as well as along the Pacific coast and the central and southern Plateau region. Rain is expected over the rest of U. S. It will be somewhat cooler in New England, with little change in temperature elsewhere. It will continue very warm in Midwest, Ohio Valley and the Virginias. OBJECTIONS HEARD

MPSC Expected To Make Many Citizens 'Unhappy'

JACKSON, Miss., July 20 (AP) — Whichever way it turns, the Mississippi Public Service Commission soon will make a lot of people unhappy.

The three-member commission has been hearing testimony on objections to its proposed 22 pages of rules of procedure under the 1956 public utility law.

Most of the rules have been approved, but the commission still must decide whether to favor private utilities or co-operatives in a dispute over who has the right to serve certain areas.

The disputed areas are mainly between the old limits and the new limits when a municipality expands to include within its boundaries some of the surrounding suburban areas.

No Limit

The private electric power companies — mainly Mississippi Power and Light Co. and Mississippi Power Co. — say their municipal franchises authorize them to serve customers anywhere within the municipal limits without concern over when the limits were established.

But when the extended city limits take in areas already served by rural co-ops, the co-ops say they were there first and have what the 1956 law called "grandfather" rights.

These grandfather rights mean that a utility may continue to serve the area it served at the time the law went into effect.

The commissioner must decide whether to give private utilities complete rights in extended city limits, ousting the co-ops; to curb additional private utility expansion by granting co-ops complete rights in the new municipal areas; or to let both sides operate with the new municipal area.

Another difficult decision is whether to permit private utilities or co-ops to serve industries outside municipalities.

The co-ops say what's outside municipalities belongs to them.

The private utilities say industries should not be considered "rural" simply because of where they happen to be. Under this definition, the co-ops would be confined to serving farms and other rustic aspects of country life.

The answer to this question will solve several problems confronting the commission.

The most important problem is the contention between Mississippi Power Co. of Gulfport and East Mississippi Electric Power Assn. of Meridian over which should serve the 45 million-dollar Navy Jet Airplane Base under construction north of Meridian.

Another major decision involves whether to permit industries their choice of service between a private utility or a co-op.

The private utilities claim they can deliver continuous service and they generate their own power, which, they say, co-ops usually do not do.

In fact, the private utilities said, they sell their power to the co-ops.

ACTING SENATE WHIP

Democrat Defends Ike On Zhukov Invitation

Eisenhower said at his press conference Wednesday that he could see no harm in such a conference but he did not propose one. Nevertheless, his statement drew criticism in some congressional quarters.

Privilege

Mansfield, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said in an interview that "the President is charged with the conduct of foreign policy under the Constitution" and "if he wants to invite anyone over here, that's his right and privilege."

"The President seems to think a visit between his old wartime colleague and Secretary Wilson would be a good thing and may be of value in easing the present difficult relationships with the Soviet Union."

Willing To Support

In that case, the Montanan added, "I'd be willing to support him wholeheartedly."

Mansfield said he was aware of the criticism in Congress and elsewhere.

"It will be recalled that since the war the President has carried on correspondence with Zhukov," he said. "I assume that no man in American public life knows Zhukov better" than Eisenhower because of their World War II roles as Allied generals in defeat of the Axis forces.

And, Mansfield pointed out, "if an invitation is extended to Zhukov to visit Wilson, it would be safe to assume that once he came here, a visit might well be arranged between Zhukov and the President, based on their old wartime relationships and the rise to power by both since."

A Message From Your Local Utilities Commission

WHY ARE IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED IN OUR LIGHT AND WATER SYSTEM

Our present system simply cannot continue to carry the ever increasing load. The use of electricity in the home has more than doubled in recent years . . . and, of course, the number of homes is increasing all the time. This past week we reached an all-time high in the consumption of electricity in Monroe, and the August peak is still ahead of us. With improvements which have been made, we expect to meet this summer's needs . . . unless unforseen difficulties develop. However, to keep pace with our City's normal growth, definite improvements must be completed and in operation not later than June, 1958.

Will The Bond Issue Raise Your Rates?
NO!
The rates for electricity and water were adjusted early this year to bring Monroe's rates up in line, generally, with those in West Monroe, Shreveport, Alexandria and other cities in Louisiana.

Will The Bond Issue Raise Your Taxes?
NO!
Revenue Bonds are paid from the earnings of your light & water system . . . and will not involve any additional taxes to the property owners.

PHOTOGRAPHY CAN BE FUN

CAMERA NOTES

Photography Is Pleasant Hobby

By JOHN OLDENBURG
Camera Editor

A camera can often provide a source of fun and definite answer to the teenager's question, "Well, what is there to do?"

Scotty Maxwell, young staff photographer for the News-Star – World, fines this statement true for he and his girl friend spend many enjoyable hours shooting pictures with his new Rollie.

The above is an exceptionally good example of the sharpness which can be obtained with a fine lens. Under a rather bright overhead sun which usually throws deep shadows, Scotty was able to reach into the shadows areas without any supporting flash. His exposure of course, was based on the tone of the shadows under the eyebrows and chin which helps to put the girl's hair into a nice highlighted effect. A close lok also reveals sharpness even in the skin texture, which gives both pictures a portrait quality. Very nice work, Scotty.

A hint to you teenagers looking for some real clean, wholesome fun, get dad to let you use his camera or maybe you have one—get a couple of rolls of film and start walking, you'll really be surprised how much fun it is to hunt up cute places to shoot a picture of that special girl friend.

By the way, you camera club fans, I'll be calling you soon to when and where we'll meet for the "first time." Watch this column for announcement.

ON THE BEACH

Preview Of Atomic War That May Come One Day

ON THE BEACH. By Nevil Shute. Morrow.

In a quiet village near Melbourne, Australia, lives the Holmes family: Peter, navy officer, wife Mary, infant Jennifer. Idle for some time, Peter is about to get an assignment on an American submarine as liaison officer under Dwight Towers, once of Mystic, Conn. He brings Dwight home for a visit before the cruise, and to brighten up the party, invites Moira Davidson, too.

Bit by bit as this story develops Shute hints at calamity — there is no gas, no radio link with the northern hemisphere, and Towers' sub may be half of all that's left of the whole United States navy. There has been, you at last realize, an atomic war. Bombs became so cheap even two - bit nations could afford them; after the irresponsibles sparked it, China and Russia went at each other's throats. Fallout has slaughtered half the earth's population, or so it seems, and the invisible fatal pall spreads south inexorably. Melbourne will get it in September, they predict. The year is 1963, and the world is doomed to end with T. S. Eliot's "whimper."

There has been no such terrifying picture as this, showing entire continents peopled only by the dead. Shute makes it shockingly plausible, he persuades you this is how it might happen, and what it might be like. The year 1963 is more dreadful than "1984" and a lot nearer. Don't be so scared of all this turning into fact that you miss the thrills of the gripping fiction, but still be scared, be awfully scared.

THE SHADOWS

Behind The Flower-Decked Streets The Pitiful Slums

CHILDREN OF THE SHADOWS: By Morris L. West. Doubleday.

The luxury liners sail up the beautiful bay, the streets and squares are decked out and spruced up for the dollar - laden tourist, but behind the irresistible attractions of the old city of Naples are the festering, repulsive slums; and their most helpless and pitiful inhabitants are the children.

This author went visiting them, unshaven, ragged and dressed for the part. He saw families of 10 and more living in one room, sleeping in one bed; he saw gangs of boys spending their nights in the gutter, pimping for the girls or misbehaving for the men, or stealing.

In his venture into their unsavory, poverty - stricken, smelly, shadowy alleys, he followed in the footsteps of Father Mario Borelli who got the church's permission to alleviate the lot of the youngsters if he could, and who also lived among them and really as one of them in order to learn what the little savages were like.

They need love, says West, and so said the priest; they are outcasts not only from the homes but also from the hearts of their people.

It Is A Made Life, With Bullets, Bombs To Dodge

COUP DE GRACE. By Marguerite Yourcenar. Translated from French by Grace Frick in collaboration with the author. Farrar, Straus & Cudahy.

Way over on the shores of the Baltic when, with World War I ended with new passions aroused, Red Russians were fighting White, handsome young Erick von Lhomond commanded a village outpost that the Reds kept attacking.

According to this novel, he was there with his dear friend, Conrad, and Conrad's pretty sister, Sophie. She has had one of those brutal experiences inflicted on some girls in fact and fiction by occupying soldiery, but she has recovered her natural youthful spirit and falls deeply in love with Erick.

The jaded Erick, citizen of a decadent world, has that world's jaded and decadent tastes, and can love only one member of the family — Conrad. His constant rebuffs drive the unhappy girl into the arms of other men. It is a mad life, with bullets and bombs to dodge; and a harrowing one, for in the background are stories of the torture as well as death of prisoners; and an unnatural one, with one girl among so many men.

GUIDE TO READING

Parish Library Has Supply Of New Books

By FRANCES FLANDERS
(Librarian)

The new titles added to the Ouachita Parish Public Library during the past week offer a variety of subject matter. In the field of fiction the outstanding book is "Letter from Peking" by Pearl Buck. This is an unusual book and may offend some readers. However, those who love and understand Pearl Buck will find in it many of the things that she feels most strongly about; the continuity of family and the grip of one's roots in nation and locality; the good and the bad that life holds for persons of mixed blood, the beauty of China and its civilization, and what has happened to the country and the people under communism and above all the transcending power of love when it is deep and mutual.

A very significant addition to our collection is a large volume by John Dos Passos called "U. S.A." This is a compilation of three of his novels, "The 42nd Parallel," "Nineteen Nineteen" and "The Big Money." Mr. Dos Passos is one of our most serious and important modern novelists and we are glad that we can add this volume to our collection.

Frank Swinnerton is a most literate and significant British novelist. He has been writing for many years and his work still holds the same high standard that it did years ago. His latest novel is called "The Woman from Sicily." This is a story of suspense and intrigue set in an English country town. It shows a loyal wife who does her best to prove her husband's innocence of a murder charge, but is almost defeated by the return from Sicily of her husband's Mother, who is a malevolent and wicked old woman. Another interesting new novel is "The Golden Quill" by Bernard Grun, a story based on the life of Mozart.

Retirement

A subject which is receiving more and more attention from writers is that of retirement. Clifford R. Hart has a very fine new book concerned with the psychology of retirement, which he calls simply "Retirement." This book will be of great inspirational value to many people. Edgar Johnson Goodspeed is the author of a new book dealing with the lives of the apostles. It is called "The Twelve" and will be interesting to students of New Testament times.

A book which is a wonderful discussion of man's natural and technological resources is called "The Next Hundred Years" and was written by Harrison Scott Brown. It opens up fields of opportunity never dreamed of before. A beautiful new book is "Japanese Flower Arrangement" written by Ellen Gordon Allen. A new book of architecture which was a gift to our collection is called "Doctor's Offices and Clinics," and was written by Paul Hayden Kirk. If you are planning a new office building, you can get help from this book.

Analysis

A very penetrating analysis of conditions in India today is called "India; the Awakening Giant" and was written by W. S. Woytinsky. This book gives a very graphic picture of the changes in modern India and how this old country is taking advantage of new advances in technology. This is a book for the historian, the political scientist and the business man. It is a fine contribution to our understanding of the world in which we live.

Each week new borrowers register at one of the branches of the Ouachita Parish Public Library; if you have not yet done so we give you a hearty invitation to make use of our resources.

THE REVOLUTION

White Book On Bloody Hungarian Outbreak

THE HUNGARIAN REVOLUTION. Edited by Melvin J. Lasky. Congress for Cultural Freedom—Praeger.

With a prologue on background by Hugh Seton—Watson, and an epilogue telling of the aftermath in the past winter, this is the documentation or "white book" of the Hungarian revolution of October and November.

Those thrilling, triumphant and tragic days have been described before by participants and eyewitnesses singly and collectively. So if this book is different, it owes the difference to method; and method here is a superb organization of the vast contradictory records, all records, theirs and ours, the true testimony and the false — with the false strangely corroborating the true.

The rebels, to the Russians and their sympathizers, were reactionaries, Fascists, landlords, enemies of democracy and of the working classes. And unfortunately, as Seton - Watson points out, there was in the postwar years an anti-Semitic Fascist ruling class. But the revolution was in fact led by the intellectuals, sparked by the students, and fought by them at the side of the workers.

The story of the epochal revolt, which is ranked with the uprisings of 1848 and the Paris Commune, comes from innumerable sources: New York newspapers and magazines; press associations here and abroad; broadcasts; states men; newsmen from London, Paris, Belgrade, Warsaw, Moscow, Milan. And it is all pointed up with startling effectiveness by quotes from Tocqueville, Marx, Trotzky, Lincoln, Aristotle, and by photos and maps.

Interesting summer visitors from New York are Miss Marguerite Lamkin and Miss Sara Terzia who are pictured in the Lamkin home on Park Ave. Miss Lamkin is spending the summer months here. Miss Terzia returned last week after two weeks here with her mother Mrs. Theo Terzia on South Grand Street.

Summer Guests

Summer always brings attractive visitors and gay informal parties for them. Miss Sharon Thompson, left, gave a swimming party for her cousin, Miss Susan Morris, of Mobile, Ala., during her visit.

Popular summer guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bridger Thornhill are their daughter, Mrs. Hugh G. Glasgow, Jr., of Birmingham, Ala., and her two children, Martha Katherine and Hugh Gordon III. They arrived last weekend for their annual summer visit.

Recent visitors here were Dr. and Mrs. Millard K. Bushong and three daughters of Berryville, Virginia. They were guests of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. B. M. McKoin. Pictured in the gardens of the McKoin home are Ann, Mrs. Bushong — the former Dean McKoin—little Lee, Betty, and Dr. Bushong.

Jeweled Windows Of St. Matthew's Lend Air Of Enchantment To Wedding Of Miss Jo Ann Miller And Jack Neal

At four o'clock on the evening of July 19, the sinking sun shining through the multi-colored windows of St. Matthews Catholic Church turned the interior into a place of enchantment as Miss Jo Ann Miller plighted her troth to Jackie Donald Neal.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Miller, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Neal.

The chancel was decorated with tall cathedral baskets of gladioli combined with stock and greenery, and floor candelabra held a myriad of glowing tapers. Mrs. Della Williams gave the organ recital and played the traditional wedding music.

The groom stood with the Rev. M. Hannon and his best man, Lt. Tommy Leas, to receive the bride. The groomsmen were the Messrs James McKay, Frank Scalia, Stein Baughman, Jr. and Joe Henry Baughman.

The bride entered on the arm of her father, who presented her to the groom. She was attired in a gown of tullen and chantilly lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice, portrait neckline — outlined with tulle tucks. The long fitted torso came to a point on the skirt, which was paneled in lace. The back inset swept down to a train. She wore a fingertip veil of illusion attached to a small seedpearl diadem, and carried a bouquet of stephanotis centered with white orchids.

The maid of honor, Miss Lillian Roddy, was frocked in Wedgewood blue chiffon. Fashioned with a slightly elongated waist, with a shirred bodice, the neck was outlined in copen blue ending in flowing panels which extended to the hemline of the full, waltz length skirt. She wore a blue satin headband, trimmed in pearls. Blue shoes and a cascade bouquet of pink carnations completed her costume.

The bridesmaids — the Misses Pat Miller, Carole Tonore Judy Neal and Joan Dillon were frocked in dresses duplicating that of the maid of honor. The flower girl, little Kala Sue Redding, was similarly attired in blue organdy, and carried a small cascade of pink split carnations.

Mrs. Miller chose a gown of mauve linen and lace, with blue accessories, and wore a lavender orchid corsage. The mother of the groom, Mrs. Neal, chose a light blue silk organza, worn with white accessories and a pink orchid.

Recepti-on

A reception, in the Mirror Room of the Frances Hotel, followed the ceremony. Baskets of gladioli were in evidence and the bride's table was centered with an arrangement of pink and white carnations with flanking candelabra filled with tall tapers. The pink cake was served by Mrs. Grace McCarthy. The low buffet bore a punch bowl at either end and was centered with an elongated design of flowers and candles.

Miss Sue Turner presided at the guest register, wearing a pink tulle dress with white carnations.

For her wedding trip, the bride wore a blue silk sheath with matching box jacket and white accessories and wore the orchids from her bouquet.

The young couple chose New Orleans as their destination for the wedding trip, and returning will reside in Monroe.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Grace Day and Mrs. Neola Hagen of Alexandria. Dr. and Mrs. R. D. Woodward and children of Dallas, Tex., Miss Lael White, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Scalia of New Orleans, Lt. Thomas Leas of Ft. Sill, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Stein Boughman of Farmerville, Mr. and Mrs. Jonal Neal of Farmerville and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harrington of Oakdale. Also, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Liner of Homer.

Engagement Ring Should Flatter Hand

For the engagement ring that will look best on you, consider the size and type of your hand.

A diamond that can be worn on any hand is the popular round diamond, often called a brilliant.

If your hand is large, don't wear what is known as "a delicate, old-fashioned ring." Even if the diamond is to be small, there are devices — such as a faceted white gold mounting or a wishbone setting — to make the ring and gem look larger.

The capable type hand is flattered by an emerald-cut diamond with straight sides in oblong shape which has a slenderizing effect.

A too-slender hand will be broadened by a ring in which the center stone is good sized and has tapered baguettes or small brilliants grouped on either side to carry the design across the finger.

Durham, N. C., Wedding Of Interest Where Irene Callen Sugg And Dr. S. K. Heninger, Jr., Were Wed

The marriage of Irene Callen Sugg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Callen of Jerome, Idaho, and Dr. S. K. Heninger, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Heninger of Monroe was solemnized in a chapel ceremony, performed by Dr. James T. Cleland at eleven o'clock in the morning, on July 16. The scene of the ceremony was the chapel at the Duke University, Durham, N. C., which was attractively decorated with candles and greenery.

The bride entered on the arm of her father in a beige silk organza model with beige alencon lace re-embroidered with matching braid and pearls. The bodice featured a boat neck. The waistline dipped in the back with a tailored sash falling to the hem of the patio length bouffant skirt. Her hat was made of lace in design to match that of the dress. She wore a spray of green orchids and carried the wedding handkerchief that the groom's mother carried at her wedding.

The groom's father served as best man.

Mrs. Callen chose for her daughter's wedding a navy model with pink accessories. The groom's mother wore a grey linen and taffeta model. They both wore white orchid corsages.

For traveling the bride chose a grey silk tweed ensemble with a burnt orange hat.

The couple will be at home in Durham, N. C.

The bride is a graduate of Barnard College and Columbia University. The groom is a graduate from Neville High School, Tulane University, Oxford University, and Johns Hopkins University.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. S. D. Shlosman, Monroe and Mrs. Norman Mendelsohn of Baton Rouge.

Helpful Hints Offered For The Family Vacation

With so many of us planning our vacations down to the last detail, it seems like a good idea to make our photographic plans with the same care.

You might want to use them yourself, and pass them along to your husband and the rest of the family who are camera fans:

Be sure all your photographic equipment is in good working order. Nothing can be more frustrating, just as you're about to shoot that beautiful sunset over the lake, than to find something is wrong with your camera.

Plan in advance what you want to photograph based on where you are going and the scenic spots you plan to visit.

Plan on the time of day you want to take each for the best results.

Take enough film along because you will certainly shoot more than you've planned. Leave room in your photographic plans for the spur of the moment pictures that crop up.

Keep all your film and photographic equipment together, either in a small carrying bag or a small carton. Certain events just won't wait while you rummage through the luggage to find your camera and a roll of film.

Have your equipment all together and the camera loaded at all times. It will make life a good deal easier.

Basic Rules On Motion Picture And TV Viewing

A few basic rules apply both to motion picture and TV viewing. Eye specialists tell you not to try to see the whole screen equally well, and do not try to hold any detail. Keep the eyes and attention constantly on the move. Here is a suggestion that shouldn't be hard to follow: Take the opportunities offered by boring scenes to rest the eyes by closing them for a few seconds and relaxing. You'll get a lot of rest that way.

You can buy a small kitchen saw and keep it on hand for cutting frozen blocks of vegetables in half.

New Fibers Give Floors New Look

What's new in floor coverings? Color is one of the big accents at the floor. New capabilities of fibers and new ways of handling old familiar fibers have resulted in a new look at the floor, particularly in soft coverings.

Wool has a lighter look in tones of pastels with white touches because of new vat dyes that make for easier cleanability.

New fibers are being improved all the time. Nylon is a fuller fiber these days. So is rayon. Solution-dyed rayons build color in when the fiber is born, and more of these fibers are being used in combinations to produce unusual effects

The homespun look is the most dramatic one in this season's floor coverings New fullness of fatter yarns give a handicrafted look to rugs resulting in colonial or homespun effects This homespun look and the new colors are the chief trends in carpets.

A simple epitaph appears on a tomb in Florence, Italy: "Here lies Salvino d'Armatti of Florence, the inventor of spectacles God forgive him his sins Died in the Year of our Lord 1317." The inscription may be misleading Marco Polo is recorded to have seen eyeglasses used in 1275 in China.

Ugly Superfluous Hair Destroyed Forever . .

by ANN CORNELISON
HAIR REMOVAL CONSULTANT

The beauty and glamour of a woman's hair is celebrated in many a song and story, but you never hear the anguish and emotional upsets caused by hair that grows where it never should grow naturally.

Women have hopefully turned everywhere for help and advice on the problem of superfluous hair, but until recent years any aid at all was merely temporary and at the cost of such slavish repetition, such as . . . shaving, tweezing, waxing and such.

Then the THERMIQUETRON Method was invented, after years of scientific research. Permanent removal of "unwanted hair" can only be accomplished electronically and THERMIQUETRON is the most modern scientific method available.

Today the THERMIQUETRON Hair Removal Clinic at 2000 North Third Street has become a Monroe institution, where many women have found new personalities through the professional skill and care of Miss Ann Cornelison, trained technician. The Authorized THERMIQUETRON Method leaves no scars, no pits, just a new, satiny-smooth skin, free of hair.

Permanent aid of your problem is as near as your telephone, Just CALL FA 2-7471 for a FREE demonstration and consultation with Miss Ann Cornelison. Complete privacy . . . air-conditioned offices and evening appointments. (adv.)

Candle-Light Ceremony Unites In Marriage Miss Arlona Stanton And Clarence Sanderson Of West Monroe

Miss Arlona Stanton, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Stanton of West Monroe, and Clarence Sanderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Sanderson, also of West Monroe, exchanged marriage vows, Monday evening, July 15th, in the First United Pentecostal Church of West Monroe.

Rev. L. C. Treadway of Jonesboro, La. performed the candlelight ceremony before an arch entwined with greenery, with baskets of pink gladiolas and tall burning tapers, and mass greenery decked each side of the alter.

Candles were lighted by Misses Barbara Porter and Gail Brady of West Monroe. Mrs. Marvin Treece was pianist and Rev. Marvin Treece, soloist, sang, "Whither Thou Goest" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional ballerina length gown of white lace over cotton satin, the princess-style bodice was complimented by a short fitted three-quarter length sleeve jacket and a pointed back waist draping with double pleats. Elbow length gloves of white lace tapered to a point over the hands. Her finger-tip veil of illusion of white net was gathered on a satin braided head band and she carried a white Bible mounted with a white cymbidium orchid, surrounded by feathered white carnations and streamers.

Serving as bridesmaids were Mrs. J. C. Ainsworth and Miss Martha Thompson, both of West Monroe. They wore light blue printed taffeta ballerina length dresses with three quarter length sleeves. Their ensemble was completed with white accessories and a blue head piece. They carried baskets of pink asters with blue for-get-me-nots.

Lloyd Chilton and J. C. Ainsworth served as groomsmen and ushers.

For travel the bride wore a Navy blue silk shantung dress with white accessories and the orchid from her bouquet. After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home at 310 May St., West Monroe.

MRS. CLARENCE SANDERSON

Smith - Waggoner

NATCHEZ — Mr. and Mrs. Albert Price Waggoner of Natchez announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Arial Patricia Waggoner, to Raymond Allen Smith, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glen Smith of McComb, Miss.

The wedding will be solemnized on Sunday, the twenty-fifth of August, in the Seventh Day Adventist Church in Nachez.

The millions of fathers who consider themselves somewhat less than matinee idols will be relieved to know there is no truth to the superstition that a prospective mother can "mark" her unborn child by gazing at an unpleasant sight.

July Thirteenth Ceremony Unites In Marriage, Miss Myra Lois Barton And John Mack Calhoun In Gilbert

WINNSBORO — The Calvary Baptist Church in Gilbert was the scene on July 13, a. 6 o'clock in the evening for the wedding ceremony uniting in marriage, Miss Myra Lois Barton and John Mack Calhoun. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Barton and Mr. Calhoun's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Buford Calhoun. Both families reside in Gilbert.

The church was decorated with four standards of summer flowers. Four candelabra held the pink tapers. The arch before which the wedding party stood, was entwined with greenery.

Miss Joyce Halley and Miss Melba Chatman presented prenuptial music. Miss Patsy Holder was soloist. She sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The candle lighters were Misses Betty Ann Ezell and Kay Hewett. Bobby Emfinger was best man.

Mrs. Barton, mother of the bride, wore a navy blue dress with white accessories. Her corsage was pink roses.

A reception was held in the educational building of the church following the ceremony.

The bride's table was overlaid with a handsome crochet table cloth. The four tiered wedding cake centered the table. Two double crystal candelabra held the burning white tapers used on either side of the cake. The wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. The crystal punch service was placed on the end of the table. Mrs. Bernice Lachney poured the punch and Miss Gay Ezell served the wedding cake.

After the reception the newly married couple left on their honeymoon. For her wedding trip, the bride changed to a black sheath cotton model which was designed sun back. She wore white accessories and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Calhoun will reside in Baton Rouge where the bride is employed by a telephone company as operator, and the bridegroom is employed by an engineering company.

The bride and groom graduated from the Gilbert High School.

Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mrs. W. C. Aymond, and Cheryl of Wisner, Mr. and Mrs. Grady Stephens of Natchez, Miss., Jessie Louise Liggen of Monroe, Mrs. Janie Goforth, Mrs. Josie Hathorne and Miss Kathlyn Goforth of Baskin.

What Mother Should Wear

But what about Mom?

1. Since she must receive with the bride and her attendants, the dress length should be the same.
2. The dress, color and fabric should harmonize with the bridal party gowns for an attractive reception line. Soft colors usually blend better than brilliant ones. The choice of fabrics is great, but almost any selection made from popular seasonal materials will be appropriate.
3. Slippers are usually dyed to match the gowns.
4. Gloves are always worn, even in the receiving line.
5. In church weddings, shoulders should be covered and a hat or headdress worn. This is especially necessary to remember at formal evening weddings.

Washing Duties Now Hubby's?

More men are doing the family wash than ever before and, what's more, they are volunteering for the chore.

A survey by an appliance firm also indicates the men are even "boasting about their prowess."

Behind the trend, the firm said, was the attraction gadgets have for men.

Wives aren't forcing husbands to make like a "washerwoman," the survey indicated. The menfolk are merely intrigued by automatic washers, dryers and combinations.

Men love push button control and the dial panels appeal to them because they're so much like the controls and dashboard of their car.

There's also gloom on the horizon for men who regard themselves as rugged individualists.

Decorating Tip When Barbecuing

The outdoor barbecue or patio party season is in full swing across the nation. The emphasis is in food, of course, and enjoying summer's fresh air. For the hostess who'd like to add a few decorative dividends to her festivity, colorful crepe paper is a mighty useful — and sometimes overlooked — all-purpose material.

Any outdoor party can be brightened up with streamers of crepe paper overhead. The support rods for an overhead awning can be used for an interwoven pattern of crepe streamers if the party's to be under the awning. Or if the lawn area has four smallish trees forming a parallelogram, criss-cross the streamers in an "X" pattern between them. Cellophane tape is a good material for cementing the streamer loops around the trees or poles. The main serving table could be stationed on the grass right under the middle of the "X" to get maximum decorative effect from the streamers.

If the hostess wants to bring a light and humorous touch to the "starchy" centerpiece. A starchy is an animal-like character, created by the Dennison Idea Workshop, made by winding strips of crepe paper which have been immersed in liquid laundry starch around an inflated balloon. After drying, the resulting firm papier-mache-like body can be given humorous character by using gummed paper, buttons, gummed reinforcements and similar items to give it a face, limbs or other features.

By using some of the bright new colors of crepe paper recently placed on the market, you have the advantage of built-in color for your starchy. Popular starchies include owls, mice, and bees. A grinning octopus with long construction - paper tentacles is another chuckle - provoking favorite.

CURE SWOLLEN EYE

The "juice" from a prime porterhouse steak may be a culinary delight but, contrary to popular belief, beefsteak doesn't do a thing to reduce the swelling from a black eye. The best cure for that swollen eye: Try cold compresses at once; after 24 hours, hot compresses. Early evasive battle action, may eliminate the need for curative measures.

COLOR IN YOUR FENCE

Want a bit of variety in a solid estate type fence? Then build small frames of 2x6 Douglas fir or western red cedar and nail them firmly to solid fence wall at odd heights and distances along the fence. Paint the frames in bright oranges, reds and yellows and use them for shelves for potted flowers and plants. The solid estate type fence of either fir or cedar may be left to weather or it may be painted some neutral color. The contrasting color of the square frames will make your fence distinctive and beautiful.

Dutch Hoedown Is Time For Wonderful Delicacies

KUTZTOWN, Pa. (AP)—The big hoedown in the Pennsylvania Dutch Country this year definitely "makes for big," as the quaint talking natives put it.

There'll be all sorts of out-standing and non-Olmypic events, like soap boiling, old time meat butchering, hex sign painting, threshing by flail and a demonstration of the ancient art of making "schpatza," the Dutch version of maple syrup candy.

When the dinner bell rings out across the neatly tilled fields, scores of farm women from church and grange groups will preside at the wooden tables in the big field tents, serving such typical Dutch delicacies as hubba beer, streissler, shoofly pie, snavel sticks and balsam beer.

The big hoedown, which this year is expected to draw upwards of 50,000 visitors, is the eighth annual Pennsylvania Dutch Folk Festival, to be held July 3 through 7 at the Kutztown Fairgrounds, between Allentown and Reading.

Highlights include evening jigging and hoedown contests, exhibitions of traditional Amish, Mennonite and Plain Dutch costumes, a two-day seminar on Dutch folklore and a demonstration of craft skills by glass blowers, wheelwrights, basketmakers and blacksmiths.

How To Wash Baby's Clothes

The careful mother observes special rules for laundering baby clothes. If mastered in the beginning they save time and trouble, and also insure protection for the baby. Here are the needs as worked out by experts:

1. Nothing belonging to baby should be put in the family wash.

2. Diapers should be washed separately from baby's other things. As soon as removed, diapers should be held by one corner and flushed in the toilet bowl, then placed immediately in a covered enamel pail of warm water and chlorine - type bleach.

3. Wash diapers thoroughly, using hot water, detergent and bleach beads in automatic washer or tub. Rinse thoroughly. Fold dry without ironing.

4. Baby's outer clothes are easiest to care for if they are made of one of the miracle fabrics such as dacron, orlon or nylon. these usually can be sudsed out in the washbowl at night, worn next day without ironing.

5. Food stains on bibs and dresses should be treated with bleach before washing. Soak garments in chlorine - type bleach about 15 minutes, then launder a usual.

6. Wash small articles such as booties, socks and bonnets by hand. If made of wool, use lukewarm water to prevent shrinkage.

7. Garments of knitted nylon require warm water, detergent, water softener and bleach.

8. White and color - fast cotton crib blankets may be machine washed, with detergent and bleach to keep them white and bright.

9. Washable stuffed animals and other crib toys can be tossed in the washing machine.

10. Rinse all baby clothes thoroughly several times, regardless of laundering product used, to reder baby skin.

Double - Ring Ceremony Unites Miss Helen LaRavia And R. D. Johnson At First Baptist Church, Jonesville

Miss Helen Joyce LaRavia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene LaRavia of Jonesville, was united in marriage with Ronald Douglas Johnson of Chicot, La. at 5:30 on June 15.

The wedding vows were heard in the First Baptist Church of Jonesville by Rev. James O. McNair. A double ring ceremony was held.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in Chantilly lace over satin fashioned with a wide scoop neckline embroidered with seed pearls and sequins, and a closely fitted bodice with long tightly buttoned sleeves which tapered in petal points over her hands. Insertions of Chantilly lace and tulle etched a shadowy pattern on the bouffant floor length skirt, a court sweep completed the gown. Her two tier finger - tip veil of French illusion was attached to a lace cap studded with seed pearls and iridescent sequins.

The bride carried a bouquet of pure white roses centered with a white orchid.

Matrons of honor were Mrs. Bobbie Fairbanks of Jonesville and Mrs. Clark Melter of Miami, Florida, both sisters of the bride.

Attendants were Misses Mignonne Yancey, Baton Rouge, Gladys Barbee, Point-a-la-Hachie, Kay Johnson, Chicot, Gwen Stout, Eunice and Pat Smith, Eunice.

The matrons of honor and the attendants were identically dressed in full length white crystallene - over - taffeta gowns decorated with lace. They wore open-crowned matching hats, banded with white roses. They carried a large white glamellia attached to long stems of ivy.

Serving the groom as best man was Bobby Glover of Lafayette.

Martha Gayle McNair preceded the bride as flower girl. She wore a white gown of tulle - over - taffeta. Tiny white roses and lilies of the valley scattered amid ruffles of her skirt. She wore an open crown hat to match her dress and carried white roses in her frilly basket of tulle and satin.

Ring bearer was Mark Fairbanks, nephew of the bride. He preceded the bride with the flower girl, and carried a white heart satin pillow mounted with tulle for double rings.

A program of wedding music was given by Miss Mary Barrett, soloist of Lafayette and Frank Hanley, pianist of Church Point. Stately emerald palms interspersed with tall, seven branched candelabra holding white cathedra tapers entwined with plumosus fern, furnished a picturesque background for the exchange of vows. Tall white baskets of white stock, asters and roses stood on either side of the pulpit which held an open Bible against a background of white satin entwined with ivy. The railings on either side of the altar was made lovely by a profusion of white roses and evergreens. Tall floor standard candleholders decorated in fern, emerald leaves, and tied with white satin bows held burning white tapers, and white roses adorned the aisle of the church for the bridal procession.

A reception was held in the garden at the home of the bride's parents. Baskets of roses adorned the lawn. The wedding cake, a beautiful white - pillared four - tier confection decorated with orchids, lilies of the valley, roses and morning glories, was placed in the center of the table which was covered with a madiera cloth, edged with fern and tiny white roses. A crystal punch bowl centered another table covered with a lace cloth.

Serving the cake were Mesdames Edd Fairbanks and Oscar Oden, both of Jonesville. Presiding at the punch bowl were Mrs. Fred Fairbanks and Mrs. Clayton Caskey, also of Jonesville. At the guest book was Mrs. Carl Shamburger of Tyler, Texas.

Floating hostesses were Misses Betty Fairbanks and Myrtle Ann Fairbanks, both of Jonesville. They presented the guests at the reception with bags of rice to toss at the bride and groom when leaving the reception. The bags were made of lace and tied with satin ribbons.

The receiving line consisted of the bride and groom, the parents of both and bridal attendants.

The groom's mother wore a mauve silk dress with white accessories. She also had a corsage of white roses.

For the wedding trip, the bride's traveling ensemble was a light blue, two - piece silk with white accessories and a white orchid from her bridal bouquet as a corsage.

The young couple made their home in Opelousas for three weeks, prior to the groom's reporting to San Antonio for service duty.

Bride's Kitchen Usually Whole New World

By CECILY BROWNSTONE

Unless a bride has put in plenty of time in her mother's kitchen, she has a whole new world to explore. Here are suggestions to follow while you investigate the culinary horizon. They may help you keep your groom blissful at those daily meals.

Read a recipe through carefully before you start to prepare it noting the steps it directs you to take. Then get out the various ingredients and utensils needed. Although this may take 10 to 14 minutes, the practicality of this procedure cannot be overemphasized.

Allow yourself ample time to prepare a dish or a meal; sleight-of-hand comes with experience. Bugaboo of most brides is the matter of getting all the hot dishes that are to make up a meal on the table at the proper time. When you reach the stage where you can have hot bacon or ham and eggs, hot toast or a hot bread and hot coffee all ready to be served at the same moment, you can congratulate yourself.

Sounds simple, but unless timing comes naturally to you, you are going to have to work at learning how to pull this feat out of your apron pocket.

Practice company dishes and menus when you have a couple of your best girl friends or your mother and sisters to lunch. Then you'll prepare these special recipes with ease and confidence when you and your husband want to entertain at that perfect evening supper. Fine cooks the world over have rehearsals of dishes not in their usual repertoire — you don't have to feel shy or apologize about doing the same. Besides, it's fun.

Serving a dish is as important as its preparation. No matter how many times your groom says he doesn't care how food looks so long as it tastes good, pay no attention. Even the most confirmed meat-and-potatoes man has been known to widen his gastronomic outlook. So wipe off the rim of that platter after you arrange meat or fish on it, cut fruit and vegetables into even shapes, always offer a cup of tea or coffee on a dry saucer.

Plan to serve a meal without bobbing up and down endlessly throughout it. After all, your groom married you to have you around! You can't be an enjoyable dinner companion if you spend the meal hour running in and out of the kitchen. Nowadays there are all sorts of aids to keeping a bride in her place. Serving tables on wheels with or without heated tops, separate electric hot trays, electric skillets and saucepans are only a few of the pieces of equipment you can plan for and budget toward.

The retina of each eye — the "screen" on which is reflected the images we see — has about 130,000 cells or dots. To print this number of dots would require a piece of paper 10 feet long and 9 feet wide.

SPEED OF LIGHT

When the hero of a blood-and-thunder Western story draws his six-shooter with the "speed of light," that cowboy really is moving. The fastest action in the process of seeing, is the speed of the light that travels to your eyes. A flash of light, which travels at the rate of 186,000 miles per second, could move around the world more than 12 times between eye blinks.

Cathedral Candles And Fujii 'Mums Grace Caskey-Roberson Wedding In Arcadia First Baptist Church

One of the loveliest weddings of the summer season was that which united in marriage Miss Peggy Ruth Roberson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Roberson, and Joe Caskey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Caskey. The impressive nuptial rites took place Saturday evening at 8:00 at the First Baptist Church in Arcadia. Rev. A. D. Foster, pastor of the Bienville Baptist Church, performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives.

Myriad cathedral candles in wrought iron standards entwined with dainty fern and tied with large white satin bows illuminated fan shaped arrangements of fujii mums in floor standards, the garlands of baby smilax and the prie dieu in front of which the vows were spoken. The Baptistry was impressive with a large fan shaped arrangement of fujii mums. The all white decorations created a cool and serene effect amid the grey-green surroundings. Pew candelabra with white tapers decorated with white mums and tied with white satin ribbon lighted the double aisles.

Forming a musical setting for the pledging of the vows were the selections rendered by Tommy Harper of Shreveport. He also played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Miss Peggy Holstead of Ruston who sang "How Do I Love Thee?", "Through the Years" and "Amen" as a benediction. "Claire de Lune" was played as the vows were spoken.

Miss Galye Oakley and Miss Gloria Watkins of Bienville, dressed in frosty white nylon chiffon gowns, lighted the candles. Ushers were L. G. Caskey, Jr. of Shreveport, Thomas Shell, Carroll Rich, Don Quinn and Joe Storey. Mr. Lamar Caskey served his son as best man.

Mrs. C. L. McCrary, Jr. was matron of honor, who wore a gown of white chiffon featuring a sleeveless draped bodice with plunging neckline both front and back. The misty billowy skirt was waltz length. She carried a fan shaped bouquet of white roses and wore a small quaint hat of illusion trimmed with seed pearls.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Leon McConathy, of New Orleans, Miss Mary Jane Melton, Miss Hilda Faye Manchester of Jena. Miss Nancy Ussery was junoir bridesmaid. They all wore white chiffon styled identically to the gown worn by the matron of honor. They carried fan shaped bouquets of white roses and wore picturesque hats of white illusion.

Phillip Hood, wearing a white linen suit bore the rings on a white satin pillow.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of Chantilly lace and tulle. The lace bodice with long fitted sleeves, tapered to points over her hands, had a flattering neckline lightly touched with sequins. The empire waist fell into a chapel train. Broad bands of lace extended to the hem of the skirt. Her circular veil of imported illusion fell from a tiara of irdescents and tiny seed pearls. She carried a white orchid surrounded by stephanotis attached to a white lace fan, which the bridegroom sent to her while serving in Korea. For something old she carried a Battenburg hand - made handkerchief which was carried by her cousin, Mrs. Mary Pettigrew, at her own wedding 49 years ago.

Mrs. Roberson selected for her daughter's wedding a blue lace dress with which she wore a blue hat and shoes. Her corsage was of white feathered carnations. Mrs. Caskey was lovely in mauve. She wore pink accessories and a corsage of white feathered carnations adorned her shoulder.

Following the ceremony a reception has held in the church's recreation building, whcih was decorated throughout with white mums and greenery. Mrs. Ed Yarbrough greeted the guests and they were received by Mrs. Roberson, Mrs. Caskey, the bride and groom and feminine members of the wedding party. Mrs. Don Quinn asked guests to register in the bride's book.

Later in the evening when Mr. and Mrs. Caskey left on their wedding trip she was wearing a navy blue sheath dress with hand appliqued bolero. She wore navy and white accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Caskey will be at home in Monroe, where he will be director of music in the new North Monroe Junior High School.

MILY POST

lot Obliged To Pay Extra Cost; t Is Strictly Her Responsibility

Question: Your comments on e following situation would be eatly appreciated. A sixty-year-d widower has invited a fifty-ve-year-old widow to accompany m on a three-day trip across e country in a car. They are d friends, having known each her since their school days. His rpose in making the trip would to attend to some business atters. She would visit in a garby city with her only child d grandchild. There would be question of the propriety of eir conduct. She would be un-ble to visit her relatives except this way. Would such a trip e proper, or would she be criti-zed?

Mrs. Post: I am certain that no ne could criticize the trip you escribe.

Question: My last name is Van-leve. When having linens mark-d, do I use the initial V. or the itial C.? Will you please tell me what is correct in this situation?

Mrs. Post: Correctly, your linen should be marked Van C., but if you think this too long and wish to use only V. or C., it would be better to choose the V. because this is the letter under which you would be listed in, for instance, the telephone book.

Question: Several weeks ago I gave my sister-in-law a dinette set for a wedding present. When the set was delivered the table had a defect in it. The store owner told her she could go to the factory and select another one. She chose a different set from the one had given her. She told me it cost twenty-five dollars more. I would like to know if I am obliged to pay the extra cost. I think she rather expected me to pay the difference but I don't feel I should. Will you please give me your opinion?

Mrs. Post: No, you are in no way obliged to pay the extra cost. It is strictly her responsibility.

Question: After saving for three years my husband and I finally have enough money to rent a cottage for the summer at the shore. We have many friends and relatives who will be expecting to come and spend weekends with us and we would love to have them. Would it be proper to ask them to provide their own food as we are unable to do it? If so, how can we factually tell them?

Mrs. Post: Tell them frankly that much as you would love to have them stay with you, you simply cannot afford the extra expense unless they help you with the food bills.

Question: Will you please tell me whether it is proper to slice a banana on cereal with a spoon? My husband always does this and our two sons are beginning to follow his example.

Mrs. Post: It is permissible to use a spoon, although a knife would be correct.

Question: All the girls in my class at school write to the movie stars, and when my mother found that I do too, she didn't like it. Is there anything wrong in writing to your favorite movie star?

Mrs. Post: That depends. A short note of intelligent appreciation of a part well played is a delight to every actor and actress. Unhappily, the usual letters sent by girls to men movie stars are very silly, and I can no more approve of this habit than your mother does.

Question: Is it proper for a left-handed person to switch her coffee cup from the right side to the left side? I don't mean at home but when dining out.

Question: I am filing an application for a job with a rather big company and must give character references. I would like to know if it is necessary to ask permission of the people to use their names as references.

Mrs. Post: Ordinarily, yes. But if it is a member of your own family or a really intimate friend, you can quite properly give their names and then tell them that you have done so.

Question: When an invitation or announcement is to be enclosed in two envelopes, should the flaps on both be turned the same way? If not, how should the inner envelope be inserted into the mailing one?

Mrs. Post: The inner envelope should be inserted so that when it is taken from the mailing one, its face is toward the person opening it.

Question: Is it proper for an engaged couple to share the expenses of furnishing their future house, or is it the responsibility of the bridegroom alone to do this?

Mrs. Post: It is entirely proper for them both to share in this expense according to the ability of each.

Question: Will you please tell me what to do in the following situation? I received an engraved invitation to a wedding reception and sent a third person note of acceptance to the bride's parents as I had full intentions of going. However, something unexpected has turned up which makes it impossible for me to go. Is it necessary to send a second note of regret? Please let me hear from you as soon as possible as the wedding is not too far off.

Mrs. Post: It will be very polite but not necessary for you to write as follows: "Miss Mary Jones regrets that although she has accepted Mr. and Mrs. John Smith's kind invitation for Monday, the first of June, she now finds that it will be impossible for her to be present."

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her booklet No. 504, "Etiquette of Table Setting," describes the type of table linen, decorations, and how to place silver. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c-o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Extensive planning must be made for a beautiful wedding, and to help you, Mrs. Post has written a booklet No. 501, "Etiquette of Weddings," which includes details. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. To obtain a copy, send 25 cents in coin to Dept. EP, c-o this paper, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

NO SCHOOL SALE

VALPARAISO, Ind. — (UP) — Red-faced school officials at nearby Washington Township assured townspeople the local school is not for sale. They said a "for sale" sign nailed to the front door of the school by some prankster was intended to advertise the sale of a number of old school furniture sets.

CAT STORY

BOSTON —(UP)— Shortly after World War I, the now defunct Boston Post offered its readers pictures of its mascot, an alley cat named Hindy. Approximately 112,000 requests for pictures were filled. Some 20 years later the Post recieved a letter from a former reader in Shanghai, China. She had lost her picture of Hindy. Could she have another? The Post obliged.

PAYS CUSTOMERS' FINES

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. —(UP) — James Woosley, operator of an auction sales company at nearby Hudson, was high bidder on the traffic tickets of 14 of his customers in justice court here. The 14 customers were tagged for illegal parking on the highway adjacent to his sale barn, and each was fined $9. Woosley "bid in" the fines himself, forked over $126 to pay for them.

ROMANTIC TEAM—Young love blossoms between small-town boy, Elvis Presley, and teen-aged dance band singer, Delores Hart, in the Hal Wallis' Vista-Vision - Technicolor production of "Loving You", music-packed drama now at the Paramount Theatre. The film introduces Miss Hart, co-stars Lizabeth Scott, Wendell Corey, and is Elvis' first big-scale modern musical. Hal Kanter directed.

'The Delicate Delinquent' Riotous Jerry Lewis Film

"The Delicate Delinquent," opening July 28 at the Paramount Theatre, is expected to be something entirely new for Jerry Lewis. Based on the idea that Jerry has long cherished, the Paramount VistaVision production reaches the screen in what is said to be his funniest picture to date, yet one that tells a story that's sincere with real heart appeal.

As the wistful eager but mumbling assistant janitor of a run-down tenement in New York's Lower East Side, Jerry has the perfect vehicle for his zany antics. On the serious side, however, he yearns to be someone—to be respected like the cop on the beat.

Juvenile delinquents swarm the neighborhood where Jerry performs — and mispertorms his daily chores. Not only does Jerry have his irate tenants to contend with, but the poor soul is constantly badgered by the leather-jacket set who hold no brief for a guy who respects a cop.

In the role of the cop is likable Darren McGavin who, with pretty Martha Hyer, is co-starred with Jerry. Martha is a lady investigator on delinquency conditions. Martha falls in love with McGavin and in his own timid way, Jerry is crazy about a pert little miss played by Mary Webster.

Jazz, Like Love Is Here To Stay

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UP) — Dixieland jazz, like love, apparently is here to stay.

For many years it appeared that jazz had been buried in the Wall Street crash and when it enjoyed a great revival shortly after the end of World War II there were those who said it wouldn't last.

Now a dozen years after the revival started, jazz is still popular and almost every large city has a Dixie band of its own.

Good Time Jazz Records, a West Coast label, is one of the forces responsible for the resurgence of Dixie and traditional jazz. Kid Ory, George Lewis and many other jazz greats have cut dises for this company.

One of GTJ's latest contributions is a two - volume LP collection called "Recorded in New Orleans." This is good jazz, featuring such New Orleans notables as Sharkey Bonano, Armand Hug, the late George Girard, Johnny Wiggs, Eddie Pierson, Paul Barbarin and Bill Matthews.

These sessions were set up by Dr. Edmond Souchon, a famed surgeon who strums a real jazz banjo. Tunes are mostly standards. Especially noteworthy is the Pierson band's version of "Gettysburg March," alone worth the price of the whole LP.

Kansas City Jazz — "A Mellow Bit of Rhythm" (RCA - Victor). Andy Kirk and his clouds of Joy were pacesetters in selling the Kansas City rhythm. Here are 12 samples.

Best in Cool Jazz — "Jazz Kaleidoscope," an excellent LP featuring Pete Brown's alto sax and Jonah Jones trumpet (Bethlehem) and "Trombone Panorama" featuring the Kai Winding septet (Columbia.)

Selected singles — "Lovesick Blues," a hillbilly classic uttered by Sonny James (Capitol) and "Cool Shake," which is anything but cool, by the Del Vikings (Mercury.)

Another fine concert is "Unexpurgated Jazz," recorded by Audiophile. Eddie Burleson on the clarinet leads a combo that will make you wish there were more than only 12 tunes on the LP. Some of the numbers are standards, but the combo's work on "Blue Danube" is downright classy.

Best jazz vocal (male) — "Bing and the Dixieland Bands" (Decca). Crosby, a pioneer of popular jazz, sings a number of oldies with a variety of hot sidemen.

Best jazz vocal (female) — "Ella and her Fellas" (Decca) Ella Fitzgerald is cast as vocalist with such names as Louis Armstrong, the Delta Rhythm Boys, the Mills Brothers, Ink Spots, Eddie Heywood, Sy Oliver, Louis Jordan and Chick Webb.

NIGHT PASSAGE—Dianne Foster tries to warn James Stewart that he has no chance as he loads his pistol for a battle with a gang of badmen in this scene from "Night Passage," Universal-International action thriller in Technirama and Technicolor. Also starring in the film are Dan Duryea, Elaine Stewart, Brandon de Wilde and Audie Murphy. The picture starts Thursday at the Jim Theatre.

Gardeners Need To Know What To Water During Mid-Summer Drouth

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

During mid - summer droughts, gardeners often wonder what to water to get the most for their efforts and the cost of city water. If your columnist had to choose, he would probably choose a crape myrtle tree as the one thing in a yard that would give the greatest result for the least watering effort. Crape myrtles bloom on the new wood an will actualy keep flowering for 100 days from the time they start if they can get enough food and water.

It is easy to water a tree with a canvas soak hose, with a sprinkler going slowly enough to be left on for several hours or just with an old sack or a board and the hose running slowly on it without the nozzle.

Altheas will bloom, too, for a long time if you keep them watered. If you have a big cerodendron bush — the hardy shrub called Harlequin Glory - bower, of all amazing names (Cerodendron trichotomum), this handsome shrub will need water in a drought and will reward you with its myriads of long, honeysuckle like flowers that are followed by clusters of morroco-red bracts and peacock blue berries.

One of our native srubs that one seldom sees because people have not had too much success with it is the native Gordonia of the bogs and streamsides. The flowers look like small white camellias, and the shrub is an evergreen. As a matter of fact, Gordonia is in the tea family right with the camellias. If it is given azalea or camellia soil and plenty of moisture, this shrub will grow under ordinary conditions. It will put up with heat and even drought once it is established in soil with an acid reaction and plenty of humus in it.

It is quite a trick to keep a flower garden looking good through our summer droughts. If you have large voids where things have died plant petunias, zinnias, tourenia, Madagascar periwinckle, marigolds, portulacca, flowering tobacco (Nicotiana) and nasturtiums right now. Be sure to keep your flower beds mulched. The minute your seeds are in the ground, cover them over with an inch of pine needles. They will grow right through it. At this time of the year annuals will grow into blooming sized plants so fast that you may as well sow the seeds right in the vacant places where they are to bloom and thin out some if there are too many. They will be in bloom in five or six weeks at the most!

Gardners are often puzzled over the pronunciation of the word Nicotiana. It is really a beautiful word when you soften the t to an sh - sound. It is correctly pronounced: ni-koh-shi-ay-nah. The word comes from the name of a Frenchman who first took tobacco to France in the time of Catherine de Medici. He had seen it in Spain where Catherine's daughter was on the throne as Isabella. At this time, it was considered the "wonder drug" of its day. Our flowering tobacco is very closely akin to smoking tobacco as it is in the same genus with it.

Time Now To Store Winter Food Supply

By Euna Spielman

Housewives of Ouachita Parish are as busy as ants storing the winter's supply of canned, frozen, preserved and pickled foods. Let me remind producers to let us know what you have to spare before 8:30 a.m. Simply call F.A. 3-2251 if you have figs, peas, beans, etc. Every morning people who need products can call our office to learn where to get them. The Extension office feels this is a service we can render the consumer and the producer. We do not quote prices, etc. We only give them names of producer.

Vacation for the Family Requires Planning

While Dad is getting the family car in shape — checking the tires, engine and brakes, Mom should be doing some planning also. Wise planning can double the enjoyment of the group taking vacation.

If there's a poor traveler (one that gets sick) in the family, ask the druggist for a motion-sickness preventive to take with you. Be sure to take a few toys to keep youngsters happy. A light wrap will be needed if you plan to drive after sundown.

Don't let the vacation spirit tempt you into careless eating habits. For nibblers, have fruit or carrot sticks on hand, instead of sweets. With the excitement and strain of travel, children and adults need three balanced meals a day and not knick-knacks—and remember one rebellious stomach can ruin the trip for the whole family.

A thermos jug with plenty of ice water will add pleasure to the travel. Take clothing you need, but make needs as light as possible. It will save much time on stops. Never travel until driver is exhausted — make safety your first thought.

How To Remove Perspiration Stains

This hot weather we're likely to need this information given to us by Miss Fay Roark, associate clothing specialist of L. S. U. Many warm weather dress styles are not cut to be worn with dress shields, so perspiration stains and discoloration of dark colored clothing sometimes result. Care must be taken in dealing with perspiration stains.

The fresher the stain, the better your chances for removing it. Pressing a dress that is even slightly stained may set the stain and cause more discoloration. First try washing the stain thoroughly in warm water, rubbing soap or synthetic detergent well into it. If the fabric has discolored, try sponging a fresh stain with a little vinegar and water solution. For an older stain try a little ammonia and water. This may help to restore the color. Rinse thoroughly.

Note Damage of Carbon Tetrachloride

An Under-Rated Hazard is how three doctors sum up the cleaning fluid, carbon tetrachloride, after a seven year study. Writing in the Canadian Medical Association Journal, the doctors call it one of the commonest medical causes of serious and even fatal kidney damage. The doctors warn that carbon tetrachloride can have dangerous effects, whether it is breathed, swallowed or even absorbed through intact skin. If you use carbon tetrachloride, use it carefully. Store it safely out of the reach of children. Keep it in the original container, if possible. Never put it in a beverage container. Label it clearly. Another finding of the seven-year study: Drinking beer and other alcohol before, during or soon after exposure to the fluid "Greatly increases" the likelihood of kidney damage.

Farm Safety Week

This week, July 21-28, has been designated Farm Safety Week by President Eisenhower to help avoid your being one of 15,000 fatalities. It's really intended to help you catch up on your consciousness about accidents and the safe acts that help you prevent them. About 15,000 farm people lose their lives by means of accidents of all kinds each year. The number would probably be a great deal larger were it not for such observances as Farm Safety Week. More than a million farm people suffer accidental injuries each year. Just a simple act such as stopping at a road intersection stop signs, or driving your tractor at a controllable speed may prevent accidents.

SAFETY RULES FOR POWER TOOLS— Taking certain precautions makes operating power tools in the home workshop a safer, more profitable avocation. Ten basic rules can help you be more efficient if they are carefully observed.

Follow Ten Simple Rules For Safer Home Workshop

Power tools — tools driven by an electric motor — make the home handyman's chores easier. They provide the muscles for jobs like planning, drilling and sawing, but they don't have brains. You are the guiding genius behind your tools and it's up to you to make sure they do their job safely.

Here, based on the Power Tool section of McGraw-Hill's Complete Home Improvement Handbook, is a check list of do's and don'ts for you home craftsmen:

1. Do read the instruction booklet that comes with your new power tool. Learn all you can about the tool before you use it.
2. Do wear safe clothes when you operate a motor driven tool. This means shirts or shop coats with tightly buttoned cuffs or rolled-up sleeves, never loose clothing that can get snagged in a moving part — a dangling necktie, for instance.
3. Do be sure all locks and clamps are tight before turning on tool.
4. Do use all of the safety guards (saw guard, jointer guard, etc.) when using any power tool. Guards may slow you up a bit, but they'll help you keep all five fingers on each hand.
5. Do keep the floor of your shop clean — always. Keep a barrel or a bin close by for scraps. Always sweep up sawdust when you're through working.
6. Do check the tool before you turn on the power. Make sure the machine is clear before flicking the powerswitch. To be safe, always pull the plug when you are through using a shop tool. This is particularly important if there are children in the house.
7. Do remember that working with power tools requires two things — confidence in your tool and respect for your tool.
8. Don't, under any circumstances, reach across a power tool when it is running.
9. Don't ever try to pick up a piece of scrap wood on a circular saw table while the saw is still running. Push it off with a stick (the piece of stock you've just cut).
10. Don't try to force a piece of wood through any power tool.

Lay Own Flagstone, Adobe Walk On Garden Path, Terrace

The trend to indoor-outdoor living is reflected in the increasing use of flagstones and adobe blocks on walks, garden paths and terraces.

There has been a fairly-recent realization that these materials can be put down, for most purposes, without a concrete base or the use of cement mortar between the joints.

Set 'em in Soil

Where the ground is firm and there is no drainage problem, the flagstones or adobe blocks can be set right into the soil. You take a flagstone and place it on the ground where it is to lie. Mark off the outline with the point of a trowel, the end of the old screwdriver or any tool which will leave a scribed line in the dirt. Put aside the flagstone, the dig out the area within the outline to a depth equal to the thickness of the stone. Tamp down the excavation (with your feet, if necessary) until it is fairly level. Place the flagstone into the space and stand on it, rocking back and forth a few times. This will enable you to determine if the stone is set properly. If it is not, smooth out the ground under the stone until you get it right. After doing this a few times, you'll get the hang of it and be able to do it right the first time.

You keep repeating this process until the walk is completed, repacking the dirt around each stone to hold it firmly in place.

THE HOME SHIFT

Review On How To Help St. Augustine

By Mildred Swift

With all the St. Augustine trouble guess we'd better review the ailments and their treatment: Sod webworms and white grubs. You can find these worms by digging under the sod. Dust the lawn with 10 per cent DDT and water down. The chinch bug kills the grass in circular areas. Dust with 6 per cent chlordane. For brown patch and fungus growths, use Tersan. This fungus usually attacks the sod under trees and other shady places during long periods of rain such as we had in the first five months of the year. Use Terson as recommended on the container.

Jes! Gardening

Believe me the gardens are dry. Some places in our gardens are just plain dusty. So drag out the hose. Some got rain. Others didn't.

Have you ever seen anything so beautiful as the pale pink bush crepe myrtle? Mrs. Bagwell says the name is Near East. If you're in doubt as to the variety I'm speaking of, notice those growing on each side of the approach to Louisville bridge on the Monroe side. Have you ever seen such a luscious shade of pink? They are a perfect example of the hardiness of crepe myrtle, those planted at the bridge. They didn't get any water through our three years of drought. So far as I know they've never been fertilized or pruned. Still they're gorgeous. Planted in full sun as they should be, they've never had mildew.

However, your crepe myrtle blooms will be a deeper color if you fertilize in January and June, and if you water during dry spells. They'll bloom right on until frost if you'll keep the old blooms stripped or pruned. This Near East grows like a shrub rather than a tree. However, if you start when your plant is small keep all lower limbs pruned, you can force it to a tree.

Cannas are at their best this month. The flower arrangers love the blossoms. Remember to dust weekly with DDT if you've ever had canna leaf roller. Once a stem has bloomed out, remove it from the clump. This induces the growth of new blooms. A stem of canna is exotic and beautiful in a tall arrangement.

If you have a bed of maiden hair fern a wonderful shade plant that looks scorched, cut it back. Then give a light feeding and it will put out again. Keep the tip pinched out of parsley to keep it from going to seed.

You can transplant and divide daylilies this month. Water well and mulch.

It's time to cut the tops off your violet plants and fertilize with cotton seed meal or well decomposed barnyard fertilizer. Remember Annie Mae Hawthorn's trick? She raised the lawn mower and mowed the tops off? Lot's faster. By cutting the tops now you get rid of some red spider. You'll have long stems on your blooms next December. If the foliage has turned yellow you probably have red spider. Use dusting sulphur when the foliage is dry. Remember, too, that violets like lots of moisture.

The red spider is also an enemy of summer phlox, as is mildew. If you have some of these plants in your garden, don't spare the sulphur. These phlox also require plenty of water. Sometimes the leaves of phlox dry up and this is not caused by mildew. The disease resembles rust. several years ago Mr. Lanie Hunt recommended cutting phlox to the ground in the fall so the new growth will come out below the ground level. Make a note to do that next fall.

The flower arrangers say this is the time to start gathering grasses, seed pods, leaves, etc. for fall and winter arrangements. The drying method most commonly used is to hang your flowers or leaves upside down in a dark place or tie a paper bag over them. If your hydrangeas turn green, instead of drying up, these can be dried by the upside down method.

Leaves of magnolia and asperdis tra are prettier if cured with glycerine. Use a deep container, put one - half water, one-hale glycerine. Hammer the ends of the stems so they are soft and will absorb the glycerine. Keep in a cool place. The leaves turn a gorgeous bronze and can be used year after year.

If you can find cattails, gather these and let dry for a couple of weeks. Then dip them in a mixture of half clear varnish and half thinner. Hang upside down to drip and dry. If you want the cattails colored, dip them in thin paint. You'll have to dip them several times, letting each layer dry. I painted some pink ones five years ago and they're still in excellent shade. If they're not painted or varnished they shed in a few months, and believe me that's a job to clean up.

GARDEN CENTER NOTES

Focal Points For Nice Arrangements

By Mary M. Jardine

Arrangements in pitchers were featured by Mr. John A. Wright in his Open House television show on Wednesday and placed on exhibit at the Garden Center.

All of us have pitchers around the house both useful and ornamental and Mr. Wright showed how to use all types to best advantage when using them for flower containers.

The first design featured a grey pottery pitcher, actually a chocolate pot. The plant material was arranged in a vertical pattern with equisedum horsetail rush) forming the primary placements. Next were placements of Snow-on-the-Mountain followed by pale yellow and deeper yellow zinnias for the center of interest. A spray of small - leafed English ivy was wired down the front of the container in a graceful curve to break the severity of the vertical line. In this instance both the spout of the pitcher and the handle were allowed to show, which added interest to this cool and lovely design.

A yellow pottery pitcher with a grape design embossed on it was selected for the next design. The lines of the container semed to demand a diagonal line which Mr. Wright created with leaves of the grape vine. These were so placed that the reverse side of the leaf showed, the color being an interesting grey green. Rose - pink zinnias were placed in the center following the established lines. The combination of materials and color was most pleasing.

The inspiration for the next design was a tall, slender pitcher of Mexican glass in a beautiful shade of blue. The arrangment was vertical in pattern using a single branch of variegated elaeagnus. Rosettes of pittosporum framed the single, large yellow zinnia used as a focal point. We staged this in a picture window. The light shining through the blue glass added to the charm of this simple but distinctive arrangement.

One of the questions frequently asked is "what kind of mechanics do you use in a pitcher?" The best found so far is to stuff the container with clippings of pine or arborvitae. Both of these have an antiseptic effect in the water and do not decay as rapidly as would our broadleaf evergreens. Of course in a clear glass pitcher chicken wire or hardware cloth should be affixed at the mouth of the pitcher since in clear glass the stems showing in the water become part of the design. The mechanics can be concealed by folliage.

A silver pitcher of good size seemed to indicate a diagonal design. Mr. Wright effectively achieved this effect using all flowers. The diagonal pattern was of summer phlox grouped together and wired as one placement.) Zinnias in shades of pink to deep rose followed the established pattern. This was staged against a pink background.

A favorite with visitors to the Garden Center was the horizontal design in a black pitcher of modern design. Graceful branches of the pedilanthus red - bird cactus) were placed in a horizontal position. Snow - on - the - Mountain was clustered in the mouth of the pitcher as a most effective focal point.

As previously mentioned Flower Show School No. II will be held in Monroe on September 25 26, and 27, 957. During these hot, sultry days it would be a good plan to read the required books for this school. They are: Corsage Craft, Design in Flower Arrangement, Wild Flowers for Your Garden, Care and Feeding of Garden Plants and Woman's Home Companion Garden Book. All of these are available at the Garden Center library and your parish library.

DECKING CONTRASTS

Beamed ceilings take on new dimension when the supporting beams are finished with either a dark stain or black lacquer to contrast with natural finished decking. Douglas fir is the ideal wood to use for beamed ceilings because of its unusual structural strength, and its natural golden-beige coloring makes it the perfect material to get a contrast between decking and darker stained beams.

IF LENDERS BE

It's a good idea to paint the handles of your work tools the same color so that you may get them back when your neighbor borrows them.

REV. WILHITE

'Pack Them In' Reverend Wilhite In Pulpit Today

A dynamic, fiery tent preaching "Pack 'em in" West Monroe Baptist youth evangelist of ten years ago is back in town to preach again Sunday.

Rev. Louis Wilhite in 1947 was a 14 year old youth preacher sponsored by the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church and was attracting tent filled crowds out on the highways around the Twin Cities. Most of the time the tents would not take care of the crowds and people would listen from their cars and standing room.

Now 24 years old, a graduate of Mississippi College and a third year student in the Southern Baptist Seminary at Louisville, Ky., the former West Monroe evangelist is back in West Monroe for the week end to preach three sermons Sunday.

He will preach at 8:45 a.m. at Young Wilhite is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Wilhite, 2610 N. 11th St., West Monroe.

the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church of West Monroe and at 11:00 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. at the Emmanuel Baptist Church of West Monroe meeting in the Highland School on the Wellerman road.

Methodists In Malaya Ready For Next Step

To make ready for changes that will come to Malaya next August when independence — "Merdeka" —is granted by the British Colonial Office, Methodists have commissioned sixteen persons as heads of their schools. Not one of them is a missionary. The Board of Selections has named two nationals to succeed missionaries now serving as school heads. True to the pattern of Malaya, some of these new principals are Chinese others are Indian or Ceylonese. One is a Eurasian.

The trend toward independence in administrative offices is accompanied by a growing self-support in finances. Facing up to the government's stress on "Malayanization" was part of the action of the recent Malaya Annual Conference of the Methodist Church. But it also set up a committee on church program and policy and referred to it sweeping proposals presented by study groups on social action and the state of the church.

In a land where Islam will become the official religion, the role of Asian Christians and American missionaries will be altered but nonetheless important. The Malaya Conference Board of Evangelism called for full-time workers in evangelism, for recruiting of more men and women for life service, and said "Every church should have a missionary outpost."

The call for larger production of Christian literature not only in English, but also in Malay and Tamil, (Indian) was pointed up to meet the several needs that will still exist in a land which has not yet fully decided what languages it requires to do the work of governing. There is still a separate Chinese - speaking Annual Conference which has planned larger ways to bring Malayan Chinese a surer knowledge of the Christian faith in the face of continued communist pressures.

START REVIVAL—Rev. G. G. Lanter, left, evangelistic of Atlanta, Ga., and Charles Hogan, song director of West Monroe, will conduct one-week revival services at Start Baptist Church starting Sunday. Services will be held at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m.

REST AND PEACE

Replica Tomb Of Christ Taking Shape In Midwest

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The "Garden of Hope," the dream of a young minister of a place where visitors may find rest and peace in surroundings duplicating those of the Holy Land in the days of Christ, is nearing completion on a hilltop near here.

An exact replica of the tomb of Christ in Jerusalem is taking shape. Stones from the Holy Land, shrubs, trees and other plants from Jerusalem will beautify the grounds. One hundred white doves from Switzerland will become permanent residents in the garden.

In addition to the tomb, the 2½ - acre site will include a garden and a chapel. The chapel of dreams will be an exact replica of a tiny Spanish mission in San Francisco. A carpenter's shop, like one where Christ once plied his trade, also will be constructed.

It will contain : gift shop. The money taken in there will serve two purposes. It will provide work for a group of orphans in Jerusalem, who will make the articles to be sold, and it will help maintain the shrine.

Behind the project is the Rev. Morris Coers, minister of the Immanuel Baptist Church in this city.

"This will be something for all the people, in the church and out," he says. "Protestants, Catholics, Negroes, white people are all making it possible. My first large contribution came from a Jewish gentleman."

The minister, who once served as a member of the Indiana legislature, and for several years conducted a radio program called "The Chapel of Dreams," said more than half of the $100,000 needed has been donated.

He got his idea after visiting the Holy Land.

"Millions have visited the Holy Land and the tomb there," he said. "But many millions more have never had the opportunity. Now in the heart of the Midwest, there will be an exact copy of the tomb — free to all who want to come and experience it. The Garden of Hope will be for all faiths and will be governed by an inter-religious council."

The Rev. Coers hopes that the work will be completed by Easter of 1958.

MY ANSWER

By Billy Graham

QUESTION: I keep trying to live the Christian life, but I am more often discouraged than not. My roubts are many, and I sometimes am tempted to give up. Can you tell me what is the matter and what I can do to discover a more satisfactory way of life? W. L.

ANSWER: If your doubts and discouragement are due to physical problems, then it would be easy to say that your problems are not spiritual and will not yield to the same treatment. However, if you are spiritually defeated, then it is mostly likely that either you have failed to trust God or to obey Him. The most simple formula for a satisfying way of life is to trust and obey. To resort to the way of reason and rebellion is to court spiritual disaster. This can only end in a more aggravated misery. Having known something of spiritual joy, you cannot be content without the fullness of joy. I would give a simple answer to your question. Take the step of faith. That means to take God at His word, act upon it and you will discover the beginning of a new kind of spiritual life. Spiritual victory comes from surrender and power comes from a recognition of our weakness. Stop trying and end the struggle with a committment to Christ.

1-Week Revival Opens Tonight At Watson Church

A one-week revival, starting at 7:45 p.m. tonight, will be conducted at Watson Methodist Church, south of West Monroe, Rev. C. F. Gerald, pastor, announced today.

The Evangelist Quartet, of Mississippi, will be guest singers. The quartet, including Reverends F. E. Sellers, H. O. Carmichael, B. F. Gerald and J. W. Gerald, will conduct services various nights of the week.

Services will begin at 7:45 p.m. each night. Last meeting of the revival will be July 27.

FAMILY ROOM ORDER

Simple built-in storage space for toys, games and hobby equipment should be provided in the family room. A long, low cupboard against one wall, with sliding door and waterproof ceramic tile countertop, combines storage space with the ideal snack bar. Such a compact arrangement makes it easier to conduct dancing, ping-pong and other activities that require sizeable clear areas.

BATHROOM DANGERS

More people are injured in the bathroom than any room of the house. Virtually all these accidents, advise safety experts, result from falling or slipping in bathtub or shower. Chances of accident can be considerably reduced by installing bathing facilities designed of slip-proof ceramic tile and by installing vertical grab bars within the reach of any member of the family taking a bath or shower. Proper location of electrical equipment and recessed radiators all contribute to the safety of a bathroom.

Old Time Revival Planned To Start

The Hill View Free Will Baptist Church, on the Cooper Leake Road will today open a revival. Two services today will be held at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. The evangelist is Elder R. C. Webb of Atkins, Ark.

Gospel singing will be directed by Lloyd Kendrex. The pastor is Elder H. Sharpton. The public is cordially welcome.

REVIVAL IS SET

Rev. J. D. (Buck) Carroll of Walker, La., will conduct a revival at the Choudrant Baptist Church starting July 21 and ending July 28.

He will be assisted by Rev. J. O. Dumas, pastor of the church. The public is cordially invited to all services.

KITCHEN COUNTERTOPS

One of the simplest and most dramatic changes you can make in an old kitchen is to modernize or add to the countertops. Burn-proof, crack-proof and stain-proof ceramic tile makes the ideal countertop, since it will last a lifetime. Now available in more than 200 shades of color, ceramic tile also lends itself to any color scheme or style of kitchen.

Bible Words for Today

EPHESIANS 6:3—"Thou mayest live long on the earth." (King James Version)

You can live 2,000 years—or more! The secret of being ageless is known. HOPE, LOVE, and FAITH never perish. Christ's spirit is as alive today as in the days of His Galilean ministry. If your life is given to building these permanent spiritual truths; your message, your life will shine as a star on the brow of the morning. Truth believers and truth livers are immortal. It is not a question whether our spirit can live on; it is only a question whether we deserve to live 2,000—or more! So live today that your spirit, your message, your faith through Christ shall never die.

Many Find Relief From Heat In Variety Of Water Sports

By MARY ANNE CORPIN
Staff Writer

Blistering hot days and warm nights in the Twin Cities have recently promoted one thought in the minds of a majority of area residents — water . . . not just in an ice-cold form from the refrigerator, but also in swimming boating, water-skiing and fishing.

The summer sun glints on the white, snow-like spray kicked up by cruisers as they knife a path through the dark Ouachita river. Lengthening ribbons of waves roll out to the left and right behind the boats, arching as they meet and merge with the natural currents of the river.

Every day, from dawn until 8 p.m., and sometimes later, boats are "revved up" at the docks, and roar out into the Ouachita to glide up and down the river at different speeds from a fast clip which sets up a strong, cooling breeze for the boaters to a leisurely crawl.

Boating has developed into a fast-growing, popular water sport in the Twin Cities. Cabin cruisers, inboards, outboards, speedboats, runabouts, and hydroplanes all churn through the river and bayou. Entire families participate in the sport — doing everything from fishing to diving off the boat, water skiing behind it, or just relaxing.

Wood, aluminum and fiberglass crafts are all in use, with the fiberglass owners claiming the least work in keeping the boat in good shape. They say that a fiberglass coating makes the boat perfectly waterfree, tough, and saves the upkeep of drydocking and calking necessary on wooden boats.

Many Skiers

Although no instructors on water skiing are found in the area, plenty of water skiing can be seen on the river each day of the week.

Skiers often start off from shallow water next to the bank, and as the boat roars out ahead of them they rise to the top of the water and skim along to the right or left of the craft, to the side of the wake of the boat. Let a skier swing into the waves set off by the boat, and he's swimming within the next five seconds.

Most of the ordinary swimming is done in the Swayze Natatorium or Bayou DeSiard.

The pool opens at 7 a.m. and closes at 9 p.m., Tuesday through Sunday, and most of the time it has plenty of occupants, many of them from swimming classes conducted throughout the day.

The Twin Cities Y.M.C.A.-Y.W.C.A. Day camp holds hour-long swimming classes for the boys and girls attending the camp each day at 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. Actually, the youngsters are in the water for only about half of each session, since Y officials state that approximately 95 per cent of the muscles of the body are used in swimming, and advise against becoming overtired.

Aquatic Program

The Day Camp program is based on the National Y.M.C.A. aquatic program, a forerunner of the Red Cross swimming instruction. It is set up on four levels, and youngsters enter at whatever skill they have.

Starting with the "Minnow Club," where youngsters learn the fundamentals of swimming, the levels progress through the Fish Club, in which they receive instruction in sculling and treading water, plain diving, and swimming 100 yards using two strokes.

To receive a membership in the "Flying Fish Club," the boys and girls must be able to complete an underwater push and glide on front, tread water, do surface dives and recover objects, side strokes, frog kick, running jump and running front dives from the springboard, corkscrew swimming, swim 100 yards using the crawl stroke, and swim 220 yards, any style.

Those who qualify for the Shark Club perform underwater swimming, running springboard plunge, back dive, back jacknife, swimming 440 yards, any style, other dives and strokes, including the life-saving stroke.

Junior Courses

Junior life saving water courses for those under 15, and senior life saving courses for youths over 15 years of age are also given.

In addition, swimming classes conducted at the pool are held from dawn to dusk each day. Safety is assured at the pool — two lifeguards are on duty before noon, eight after.

Bayou DeSiard also is the destination of many swimmers. Cool and quiet, the waters in the college area are surrounded by green banks and trees, and in the bayou off the Loop road, youngsters can be seen diving from makeshift platforms. They also swing from the bank to the water with a rope, and let go as they soar over the water.

Here again the bayou becomes a popular spot, particularly in the soft, semi-cool hours of the early morning or during the late afternoon and evening. Daily, fishermen with cane poles line the banks, or climb into a small boat and move through the waters past the moss-covered cypress trees which reach up from an underwater world.

On the Ouachita River, scale-covered "meals" are also the target. In both the Bayou and River, bream, white perch and bass nibble at lures and hooks, and are hauled into the boats.

FISHING IN BAYOU DESIARD—Bark Harrison, 11, waits for a nibble at his line at 8 a.m. A cane-pole fisher, he is one of scores who use this method to hook tasty meals, or just for the enjoyment of sitting on a shady bank and taking a chance that the fish will be in a "biting mood." TROUBLED BY TIPPING?

Here's A Set Of Ground Rules On How To Tip

By FRED WALTERS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Put the average American in the situation where he has to make a decision on how much to tip and chances are he will botch it.

Max Winkler, president of a well-known chain of restaurants in New York City, Washington and Philadelphia, has made a list of suggestions covering the most common tipping situations.

Here are Winkler's ideas:

Flying High

In an expensive restaurant or nightclub — $1 to $5 to the headwaiter if he performs some specific service, such as taking your order or securing a choice table, otherwise tipping optional. Fifteen to 20 per cent of the bill, or a minimum of 25 to 50 cents a person, to the waiter who serves you. Twenty-five cents to the hat-check girl; 10-15 cents to the cigarette girl; 10-15 cents to lounge attendants (50 cents if some special favor is performed.)

At a quick-lunch counter—10-15 cents for a light meal; five cents for a cup of coffee.

At a cocktail lounge—15 per cent of the bill, or a minimum of 10 cents a person.

In a hotel—10-25 cents to the doorman if he summons a cab for you; nothing if he merely helps you out of one. The bellboy should receive a quarter for each bag he carries and 10-25 cents for delivering packages afterwards. Half a dollar to the porter or bell captain if he makes theater or dinner reservations for you. One dollar a week to the chambermaid if you stay a minimum of two weeks. Fifteen per cent of the bill to the waiter if you order from room service.

Rewards at Sea

On board ship — The room steward and table steward receive three per cent of your fare; the room stewardess and the bath steward one per cent; the deck steward two per cent, and the bar steward 15-20 per cent of the bar bill.

For porters at railroad stations and airport terminals — A quarter per bag.

On trains — the dining car waiter and the club car steward should get 15 per cent of the bill. The pullman porter should receive 50 cents to $2 a night.

Cab drivers — 10-15 cent tip on a 50 cent fare; 20 cents on a 50-70 cents fare; a quarter up to $1; 30 cents up to $1.50.

The barber — 25 cents (haircut and shave).

The beauty parlor — 50 cents to the stylist, 25 cents to the girl who washes your hair, 50 cents for the setting, 25-50 cents for the manicurist, 50 cents to the masseur.

For the shoeshine boy — A quarter shoud pay for the shine and the tip.

Summer Rates

At a summer resort — $5 a week for a famiy of four to the waiter, $2-$4 a week for the busboy.

At the ball park — 15-25 cents to the usher who shows you to your reserved seat.

At the race track — Nothing to the usher, but if you eat at the track restaurant you shoud tip slightly more than the same services at an expensive restaurant.

BY RED CROSS

Ancient Method Of Live-Saving Is Modernized

The 1957 version of a centuries-old method of artificial respiration has been adopted by the American Red Cross for reviving infants and small children whose breathing has stopped.

This technique, known as mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, has been described in information sent to the Ouachita Parish Red Cross Chapter, by A. W. Cantwell of Washington, D. C., the organization's national director of Safety Services.

Modern refinements for application to children, according to Cantwell, were developed through studies, financed by a Red Cross grant, at Presbyterian Hospital in Chicago, under the direction of Dr. Archer S. Gordon.

The studies led to a recommendation to the Red Cross by the National Academy of Science-National Research Council that the method be adopted. The mouth-to-mouth technique was used in Biblical times to revive apparently suffocated persons.

When the Red Cross six years ago adopted the back pressure-arm lift method of artificial respiration, Cantwell recalled, a modification of this method was described for use on small children to lesses chance of injuries to the chest wall.

Search Pursued

Since 1951, a search has been pursued by the Red Cross for an even safer method, resulting in adoption of the mouth-to-mouth process. One of its great advantages, Cantwell said, is that the rescuer can tell at any stage of the operation whether it is effective.

Cantwell described the mouth-to-mouth technique as follows:

1. Clear the mouth of any foreign matter with the middle finger of one hand. With the same finger hold the tongue forward.

2. Now place the child in a face-down, head-down position and pat him firmly on the back with the free hand. This should help dislodge any foreign object in the air passage.

3. Place the child on his back and use the middle fingers of both hands to lift the lower jaw from beneath and behind so that it "juts out."

4. Hole the jaw in the position described in Step 3, using one hand only.

5. Place your mouth over the child's mouth and nose, making a relatively leakproof seal and breathe into the child with a smooth steady action until you observe the chest rise. As you start this action, move the free hand to the child's abdomen, between the naval and the ribs, and apply continuous moderate pressure to prevent the stomach from becoming filled with air.

Sixth Step

6. When the lungs have been inflated, remove your lips from the child's mouth and nose and allow the lungs to empty. Repeat this cycle, keeping one hand beneath the jaw and the other hand pressing on the stomach at all times. Continue at a rate of about 20 cycles per minute. After every 20 cycles the operator should rest long enough to take one deep breath. If at any time you feel resistance to your breathing into the child and the chest does not rise, repeat Step 2 then quickly resume mouth-to-mouth breathing.

"The question often arises" explained Cantwell, "concerning a technique to use on adults when the chest cage is injured and compression of the chest would co further damage or when fractured upper extremities would eliminate the expansion phase of "push-pull" techniques.

"The mouth-to-mouth or mouth-to-nose technique may be used in these cases; however, the cycle should be slower than that used for children.

Metropolitan Museum Treasures Luring Vacationers By Thousands

By W. G. ROGERS
Associated Press Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — The sailor in whites, the boy and girl hand-in-hand, the woman with the shoulder bag, the fellow in a loud-hued sport shirt, the unshaven, turbaned Bohemian, the lady with shoes that hurt her feet, the near-sighted visitor with his eyes almost rubbing the canvas, the proud papa and his two young pretty daughters looking at the nudes and not looking at the nudes.

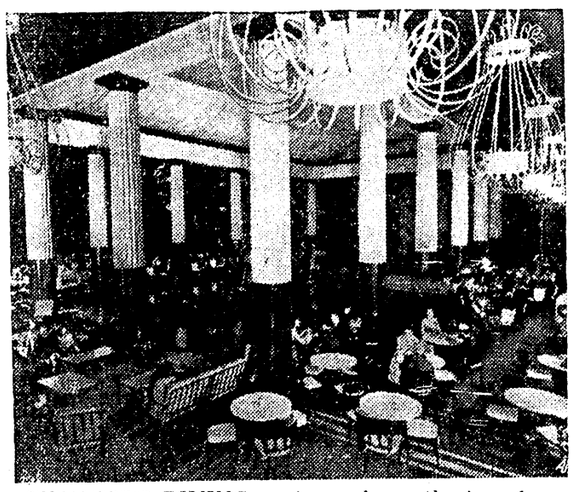
At the Cloisters — the Metropolitan's Middle Ages showplace which has not only lovely gardens and walks of particular lure to warm - weather art lovers but also parking space — about one car out of every three bears an out-of-state registration.

The Metropolitan figures its nonnative visitors this season may be in the same proportion. If July and August attendance at the institution runs to the usual 350,000, that indicates that more than 100,000 people traveling to New York for a vacation take in the Metropolitan during their sightseeing here.

Staples Preferred

"We put on special summer shows for the guests," says the Metropolitan, "but as far as we can discover they really prefer the staples."

Perhaps the most frequent question at the entrance is: Where is the American Wing? People have old furniture of their own, or are redecorating, and want to examine the best there is for comparison.



CULTURED DINING — A popular gathering place for summer visitors to the Metropolitan Museum of Art is the museum restaurant where tables and lounges rim the "Fountain of the Muses" by the Swedish-American sculptor Carl Milles.

Egyptian antiquities draw an especially large attendance, and still another popular section contains the French 19th Century painters. Many visitors ask for Rembrandts. The single picture that brings the greatest number of inquiries appears to be El Greco's "View of Toledo."

"Every week we get letters from across the country asking what's on display," the museum says.

Aside from the year - round fare, the Cloisters up at Fort Tryon Park is now exhibiting Spanish lusterware of the 15th and 16th centuries. The 60 rare pieces are from the Hearst collections, bought through the museum director, James J. Rorimer, with John D. Rockefeller, Jr. funds.

Special Feature

Special feature at the Met itself is a selection from private collections of more than 75 Impressionist and modern paintings. The lenders are mostly from this area; the artists include Braque, Cezanne, Corot, Degas, Derain, Gauguin, van Gogh, Leger, Manet Matisse, Modigliani, Monet, Picasso, Renoir, Seurat and Toulouse-Lautrec.

Another summer item also very much worth the out-of-towner's time is "Faces in American Art," more than 100 photos of American artists, critics and collectors in an exhibit arranged by A. Hyatt Mayor, curator of prints. Among the photographers are Steichen, Stieglitz, Berenice Abbott, Andreas Feininger, Florence Homolka, George Platt Lynes, Emily Winthrop Miles, Hans Namuth, Arnold Newman, Dorothy Norman and John D. Schiff.

Other temporary shows are Rodin sculpture, Greek vases and "A Century of Fashions" both European and American at the Metropolitan itself. The Cloisters is closed Monday, the Metropolitan is open seven days a week.

'IRRESPONSIBLE'

Sen. Symington Blasts Ike On Defense Budget

WASHINGTON, July 20 (UP)—Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) charged President Eisenhower today with "incredible irresponsibility" and with conducting "vacillating policies" toward his defense budget.

The White House reported that Symington—not the President—was guilty of "incredible irresponsibility" for not getting his facts straight.

Symington said in a Senate speech that Eisenhower sent two letters to a joint House-Senate committee working on the defense money bill saying the group would drop "most" of the funds restored by the Senate.

Tell Reporter

Symington told a reporter later he did not mean that Eisenhower had written the letters personally. He said he was referring to letters written by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Budget Director Percival F. Brundate.

Hagerty voluntarily broached the question at his regular afternoon meeting with reporters. He said the "truth of the matter" was that the President did not write the letters. He said Symington "ought to get his facts straight."

"To paraphrase the Senator," Hagerty said, "I think that amounts to incredible irresponsibility." He said Symington apparently conceded that Eisenhower didn't write the letters "when he was told about it."

Asked whether the President approved the letters, Hagerty said "no." But he remarked that "of course" Eisenhower knew about them.

NOMINATED BY IKE

TVA Public Power Assn. Against Jones On Board

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 20 (AP)—The Tennessee Valley Public Power Assn. today announced its opposition to the nomination of Arnold R. Jones to be a member of the board of directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA).

The association is composed of a group of municipal and cooperative electric systems which distribute TVA-generated electricity to some six million persons in the Tennessee Valley area.

Jones, now deputy director of the Budget Bureau, was nominated for the TVA post by President Eisenhower on July 1. The position, which pays $20,000 a year, has been vacant since May 18, when Dr. Harry A. Curtis retired. The nomination is subject to Senate confirmation. Jones would serve until May 18, 1966.

Writes To Gore

J. Wiley Bowers, executive secretary of the association, said he has writen to Sen. Gore (D.Tenn) expressing the association's opposition to Jones. Gore is a member of the Senate Public Works Committee, which will consider the nomination.

Bowers said the association's executive board voted unanimously at a meeting in Nashville, Tenn., on July 12 "to be in opposition to the confirmation of Mr. Jones." The board's action, he said, was based on these reasons:

1. The Board does not feel that Jones meets the qualifications set out by the association in a letter to Eisenhower on Apirl 22.

Knows Little

"The board also does not believe that Mr. Jones is of the stature a TVA board member should be; he is not well known . . . and knows litle or nothing about the TVA itself," the letter to Gore said.

2. The Budget Bureau's policy "during this present administration has been one of hostility" to TVA, the letter said, and the association's board fears that Jones, as deputy director of the Budget Bureau, "would have built up some antagonism toward TVA."

3. The association said that Jones, in a letter to Sen. Chavez (D.NM) on April 29, proposed "more stringent legislation" to restrict TVA's operations under the proposed TVA self-financing plan than the previous Budget Bureau recommendations.

4. "The board is fearful that the selection of Mr. Jones by Sherman Adams, the presidential assistant, was made with the purpose in mind of accomplishing, through administrative procedure, those things that the Bureau of the Budget and Mr. Adams had not been able to do through legislative procedure," the letter said.

Oil Worker Slain After Drink Party

CITRONELLE, Ala., July 20 (AP)—An oil field worker was stabbed to death during an argument that followed a drinking party today. A companion was arrested in Waynesboro, Miss., and charged with murder, Sheriff Ray Bridges said.

The victim was Charles Ray Wilks, 30, Columbia, Miss., father of two children. Dr. H. S. J. Walker, Mobile County coroner, said Wilks bled to death from a severed artery in the upper left thigh.

Bridges said Tommy L. Cochran, 25, Waynesboro, was arrested several hours later by Wayne County Sheriff James R. Cochran (no relation to Tommy Cochran) and highway patrolman R. C. Austin near Waynesboro, about 45 miles northwest of Citronelle.

Wilks was stabbed outside a Citronelle restaurant about 5:15 a.m. He staggered into the cafe and snatched up a table knife, then collapsed without speaking.

Bridges gave this account:

Wilks, Cochran, and A. R. Pitts, 25, Waynesboro, got off from work at a drilling rig about midnight. They began drinking and Wilks and Cochran engaged in an argument. The knifing followed.

DRIVER ESCAPES INJURY—This car was hit by a train early today and smashed against two railroad signals before catching fire, but the driver, Robert Peacock, 39, of Delafield, Wis., escaped injury when he either jumped or was thrown out. Police said Peacock, later charged with drunken driving, was driving the car along the tracks. (AP Wirephoto)

William S. Files, Family To Sail For Lima, Peru

OAK RIDGE (Special) —Maj. William S. Files and family will sail July 26 for Lima, Peru, where he will be stationed with the U.S. Army mission for three years.

Six Firemen Hurt In Fighting Houston Blaze

HOUSTON, July 20 (UP)— Six firemen were injured today while fighting a three-alarm, $200,000 fire in a shopping center near the Rice Institute campus.

Two of the injured firemen narrowly missed death when they were pulled from inside a burning shoe store just as the roof collapsed. Firemen E. J. Kopeski, most seriously hurt, fell from a ladder.

The fire, which raged uncontrolled for more than an hour, sent black clouds of smoke flowing across the Rice campus.

Deputy Fire Chief E. F. Thomas said the fire started in a shoe store storeroom and raced through the store and an adjoining jewelry store before it was halted.

WANT VOTING RIGHTS

Senators Ready For Civil Rights Changes

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, July 20 (AP)—Forty of 64 senators willing to state their position said today they favor reducing the scope of the administration's civil rights bill to the point of providing only for enforcement of voting rights.

An Associated Press canvass of 92 of the 95 present members disclosed 24 want to retain the measure provision for enforcing a variety of civil rights. If all senators participated—which rarely occurs—48 affirmative votes would be required for adoption of any amendment.

Enforce Integration

As it passed the House, the bill would authorize the attorney general to act on his own initiative in seeking injunctions to enforce school integration, desegregation in transportation and public places and other rights. These powers are contained in Section 3 of the bill.

Sens. Anderson (D-NM) and Aiken (R-Vt) have proposed striking this section from the bill. That would confine the measure largely to voting rights. The attorney general coul dask injunctions to prevent violations or threatened violations of such rights, and anybody disregarding the injunctions could be punished by a federal judge without jury trial.

Efforts of Republican and Northern Democratic supporters thus far has produced no agreement on a substitute for Section 3 which would retair even a portion of the enforcement powers in that part of the bill.

Senate Vote

Thus the Anderson - Aiken amendment may go to a Senate vote early next week without any leadership effort to change its over-all terms. If the amendment were adopted, leaders then could try to put back in the bill some of the powers thus wiped out.

In advance of this major test, nearly one third of the Senate's members said they are yet undecided on the issue of cutting the House measure down to a voting-protection bill.

Southern Democratic opponents of the measure have made it clear they will vote for all amendments that will soften its terms and then vote against the bill.

Privately, some of them have been saying that they could live with a "voting rights" bill and they have made strenuous efforts to pare the measure down in that direction.

For varying reasons 10 Republicans and 30 Democrats—including nine Democrats from states outside the South—indicated they are willing at this time to redcce the scope of the House measure.

Yazoo Resources Study Proposed

JACKSON, Miss., July 20 (AP) — Plans for a land and water resources study of the Yazoo-Mississippi river basin section of the state were announced today.

The Delta and Hill Country study, covering six million acres, was expected to be the first in a series of attempts to inventory the state's land and water resources.

Fish and Wildlife Service, Farmers Home Administration, Mississippi Forestry Commission, Game and Fish Commission, Agricultural and Industrial Board, Yazoo-Mississippi Delta Levee Commission, State Board of Health, State Geological Survey, Vocational Agricultural Education Department, Farm Bureau, Delta Council, Mississippi Assn. of Soil Conservation Districts, and Mississippi Board of Levee Commissioners.

Librarian's Story Of Rape Turns Up Hoax

SAN ANTONIO, July 20 (UP)— Police Inspector E. P. Bogash said today a 19-year-old librarian's story that three youths had tried to rape her and cut her up with a knife when she resisted turned out to be a hoax.

He said the girl cut herself with a razor blade on the chest and legs and tore her clothes in the rest room of a movie theater before staggering to a nearby police station with the made-up story.

The girl broke under questioning, Bogash said, and admitted she only did it to gain her mother's sympathy. She said a young brother suffering from leukemia had been getting all the attention.

Youngster, 13, Slays Father

HOUSTON, July 20 (UP) — Michael Anthony Manley, 13, told police today he shot and killed his father last night after getting the idea while watching a television western.

The boy fired one bullet from a .22-caliber rifle into his father's head. The father, James Jefferson Manley, 38, was killed instantly.

Houston Woman, Two Sons Die In Auto Crash

By UNITED PRESS

A Houston mother and two of her three sons died in the twisted wreckage when their automobile crashed into a bridge abutment shortly before midnight Friday near Seguin as they headed west on a vacation.

Their deaths brought to six the number of persons killed in traffic and boating accidents in Texas, a United Press survey showed, as Texans by the thousands were drawn onto the highways by what promised to be one of the hottest weekends of the year.

The accident that claimed the lives of Mrs. Winnie Morgan, her sons, Gary, 12, and Allen, 13, happened 10 miles west of Seguin on highway U. S. 90.

Husband At Wheel

The car, with Mrs. Morgan's husband, William, 39, at the wheel, crashed the abutment and then flipped end over end, coming to rest 100 feet from where Morgan lost control.

Morgan was in Brooke General Hospital in San Antonio which listed his condition as critical. Another son, Mike, seven, was hospitalized in Seguin.

In other accidents:

Pablo Garcia, 20, of Knippa, Tex., was run over and killed when he stepped from his parked car 13 miles west of La Pryor on State Highway 76. Santos Ortega Villearreal of San Antonio was driving the second car.

Glenn Thomas Benson, six-year old son of a La Marque dentist, was injured fatally when he fell from his father's new boat and became entangled in the propellor.

Francis Leo Cox, Jr., 29, was injured fatally when his automobile sideswiped another car stalled on the road and turned over several times in Houston, bringing the city's traffic toll for the year to 51 dead.

WHY GROW OLD

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Lack of imagination and a lowered state of energy limit us and can make life dull and boring. It is our approach to life, our mental outlook, which paints daily existence in vivid colors or reduces it to sameness.

One person will be acutely aware of the mood of each season, will find humor and inspiration in little happenings which occur daily and lift life out of humdrumness, while another in the same spot will fret, completely immune to the drama and humor, the poignancy and whimsy with which we are all surrounded.

We can dream about castles in Spain and still find living dull unless we bring awareness and perception to the picture.

You Can Dream

Perhaps you don't have a castle in Spain. Maybe you cannot even afford to take a vacation trip of any sort this summer. You still can dream. The scope of the mind and spirit is limitless. Why not learn all about that city or country you long to visit while you wait to accumulate the essential cash? This is entirely possible and lots of fun. There are books and reference libraries and courses in art and music and history to explore.

Why not put your dreams into action? Write that story even though you may not sell it. Learn to play a musical instrument even though you never cut a record. Take that course in dancing even though you will never be behind the footlights. There is something revitalizing about expressing oneself in a new medium.

Invest in That Interest

Develop talents which have been put aside because of the pressure of responsibilities. Even if you do not have talent, invest in that flair or interest you always have held. Don't let life settle into the rut of sameness because of inertia, or thinking you are too old, or because of self-consciousness. Tap those hidden springs before they dry up.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Individual Happiness," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 65 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

MARCH OF SCIENCE

The Man Was Restless; He Just Wouldn't Be Still

By STANLEY MEISLER

NEW ORLEANS, July 20 (AP)—The man was restless. He wouldn't sit still. He would sit down, jump up again and pace around. He moved too much and too fast.

The doctors, charged with his care, noted the similarities between his behavior and the restlessness of a Rhesus monkey named Alex. Alex paced back and forth in his cage at a rapid rate. Often he would stop, leap at the bars and then return to his pacing.

Both the man and the ape, seemingly caught on a mental treadmill, were the victims of brain damage. What can be done for them is the subject of some unique experiments at the Louisiana State University Medical School, where doctors are probing the mysteries of the brain.

Dr. George D. Davis, piercing the brains of monkeys with surgical needles, is finding clues to one of the great unknowns of the human body — the three-pound, grapefruit-sized, 10-billion-celled brain.

Dr. Davis' first task was to discover exactly what part of the brain controls restlessness or too much body activity.

Scientists have believed that the cortex or outer layer of the brain took care of most of our conscious work. The back of the cortex controlled vision; the left side made us talk; the top helped us feel things. The front was the center of body motion.

The scientist opened the skulls of Rhesus monkeys. Instead of damaging the cortexes, he pierced them without harm and destroyed deep areas inside the front of the brain.

Then he put the monkeys in special cages. The cages were equipped with electric eyes that signal an automatic recorder whenever the monkeys pace the cage or leap upon the bars.

A normal monkey might pace a cage 10 times during an hour and leap upon the bars 30 times within that time. But a monkey with a damaged inner brain paces some 800 times an hour and leaps 100 times.

The damaged monkey keeps it up. Except for sleeping time, Alex, for example, has paced and leaped far to much every day since his operation — over 18 months ago.

These results prove that restlessness can be caused by damaging the inside of the brain without hurting the frontal cortex.

What is the signifiance? The answer is simple. Until man learns what every part of the brain does, he cannot use surgery to cure mental illness.

Relief from restlessness today is limited to chemical tools. Part of Dr. Davis' experiment utilizes one of the current popular aids, the tranquilizing drugs.

His monkey cages are ideal to measure one effect of the drugs. Psychiatrists in mental hospitals discover that their patients, in a general way, feel easier after taking drugs. But, with monkeys, Dr. Davis has found exactly how much pacing and leaping an hour the drug can cut.
